Double Wages, Double Values.
Stables and Theaters.
Lead to Cure Cancer?

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

(Copyright, 1925, by the Star Co.)

It was said on Tuesday that "tracks of the big bear" were visible in Wall street, and the little lambs went home with some of the wool clinging to their backs, after a 2,700,000 share day, one that would have startled finance in ordinary times. In these days big figures surprise no one.

Big men and little men ask themselves whether prosperity and boom times will contiue, and big men know, if possible, less than little men. The little men guess, so they have an even chance of being right.

Those that write financial and commercial history 50 years hence, will be amazed in observing the failure of Americans in 1925, to realize that when the average income of citizens doubles, values also double.

A laborer's cottage in China—if worth only what a Chinese laborer can afford to pay for rent out— his wages.

The same cottage, transported to the United States, may be worth 10 times as much.

The value of all things depends upon the value of human labor. While labor goes up, other values go up.

That is new and doesn't the Constitution, which al to own and use property if injure others.

If Messrs. Zukor and Lasky cannot show their own pictures in their own theaters, what right has the express company to stable its own business in its own stables? Why not compel the express company to sell its stables or sell its horses?

Stables are so more closely related to horses than moving pictures to theaters.

If Zukor and Lasky cannot show pictures they manufacture in theaters they build and own, how can Standard Oil exhibit and sell the gasoline it manufactures in the thousands of gasoline stations that it builds and owns?

How can a manufacturer of shoes sell his shoes in his own stores?

If the trade commission will prevent as far as possible swindling and misrepresentation, and allow legitimate business men to do their business in a business way, it will be attending to its work.

Prof. Bell, a surgeon of authority, director of the Liverpool cancer research, announces to the Toronto Academy of Medicine a new and successful treatment of cancer. Fifty cases, including many considered absolutely hopeless, have been cured by injections of a lead solution.

One woman, with only a few weeks to live, was cured, so this responsible surgeon says, of a rapidly growing "spindle-cell sarcoma.'

If it is true that a poisonous lead solution can attack and destroy cancer tissues without destroying normal tissues, it means the saving of millions of lives, and, most important, it

LOCATE BRITISH M-1 IN DEEP WATER; FEAR ALL ABOARD ARE DEAD

Radio Message Reports Sunken Vessel's Position Three Miles From Point Where it Made Fatal Dive.

MINE SWEEPERS AND DIVERS BUSY

Naval Officers Say Imprisoned Seamen May Live in Steel Tomb Three Days if Craft is Undamaged.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—The fate of the British submersible Monitor, M-1, lost in the English channel yesterday, probably will never be known.

The submarine was located by rescue ships today, but in such deep water that divers can not go down to her and salvage. Officers state that it will be practically impossible to raise the vessel to the surface.

A radio message received at Portsmouth states that the M-1 has been located 12 miles southwest of Start Point on the Devon coast. This position is some three miles distant from where the submarine was last seen yesterday.

Mine Theory Advanced.

Sixty-nine officers and men aboard the submersible probably met a tragic death by drowning, according to naval men here. It is believed that when the M-1 made a dive yesterday that she struck a submerged mine, which exploded and tore a hole in her side, instantly flooding her and drowning the men within. Another theory which has been advanced is that the M-1 dove into a submerged wreck and sprung her plates, causing the ship to flood.

A sunken German submarine may have caused the tragic loss of the M-1, others said, for they pointed out that several German submarines were sunk off the Devonshire coast during the war and the M-1 may have run afoul one of these wrecks.

Salvage ships are reported still standing by, but with deep water and unfavorable weather there is only the barest hope that the M-1 will ever be raised to the surface.

May Not Raise Craft.

Further details have not yet been received and it is not known whether the submarine's position is such that she can be readily raised to the surface.

A later message received from the rescue ships stated that it is feared that it will be practically impossible to raise the M-1.

Sixty-six members of the class were selected to read one book each in their respective homes. Many of the class members who are employed during the day, read their assignments last night.

The class is composed of women.

PENNSY BLAMES ENGINEER FOR FLYERS' WRECK

Ten Killed, Six Seriously Injured at Monmouth, N. J.

21 OTHERS HURT

St. Louis Train Pilot Admits he Missed Signal.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., Nov. 13.—"Failure of the engineer to observe the signals," was the explanation of the Pennsylvania railroad today of the cause of the disastrous wreck near here yesterday of two crack Pennsylvania trains in which 10 persons were killed, six others so seriously injured that they may die, and 21 more received minor injuries.

The Mercantile express, from St. Louis to New York, sped past two block signals and crashed into the rear of the Washington-New York limited which was creeping through a fog at 10 miles an hour.

Engineer Timothy J. Carroll, of the St. Louis train, was suspended by Edwin T. Mander, an official of the road, after an examination.

"Carroll admitted he missed the signal," Mander said. "He will never again run a passenger train."

Engineer for 25 Years.

Carroll had been an engineer on the road for 25 years and never had a mishap. At the throttle of the St. Louis flyer, he ran by the first signal in the fog and was running past another when his fireman shouted. Carroll applied the breaks, but too late.

"It was carelessness,' said General Superintendent F. D. Davis of the New Jersey division of the Pennsylvania.

The Pennsylvania road issued a

MAJOR DARGUE SAYS AVIATORS IN MANEUVERS WERE 'MUZZLED'

One of Mitchell's Charges Substantiated by Witness.

ORDER IS CITED

Testimony Given By Mrs. Lansdowne Stays in Record.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—In recent war maneuvers between the army air service and anti-aircraft forces, the war department "muzzled" the aviators while giving their opponents unlimited publicity, Major Herbert J. Dargue, of the army war plans section, testified today at the court-martial of Colonel William Mitchell.

Dargue declared an order was issued by the war department forbidding all publicity on the war tests held at Camp Dix, N. J., on July 27, last. The "publicity lid," he said, later was taken off for the coast artillery, but never revoked for the air service. This testimony substantiated Mitchell's charges that the war department frequently "muzzled" the army air service.

Another Technical Victory.

The story of Mrs. Margaret Lansdowne—that Capt. Paul Foley, navy judge advocate, attempted to persuade her to give "false testimony' in the investigation into the Shenandoah disaster—will stand in the records of the court martial.

A motion to strike the sensational testimony of the Shenandoah widow from the record was denied today, marking another technical victory rung up by Col. Mitchell in his efforts to prove the war and navy department's badly administered

Mitchell Defense Plans.

Testimony showing high military officers used the "lives of aviators as pawns" will be presented by Colonel Mitchell, it was learned today.

The Mitchell defense will link to this evidence some earlier testimony charging the army with diregarding a foreign air base in Central America, which menaces the Panama Canal, and the navy with ignoring recommendations for the improvement of America's defenses in the Pacific. Upon these points, the Mitchell defense will depend for an acquittal on charges of "unsoldierly conduct."

CHOIR DIRECTOR IN AUTO CRASH

John Colville Dickson, Sewickley, former choir director of the First Presbyterian church of this city, is recovering today from minor injuries which he received in an automobile accident last Sunday night while returning home from Youngstown.

While rounding a sharp curve on the road south of Youngstown the automobile overturned, pinning Dickson beneath it, where he was held for nearly a half hour before he could be extricated. Passengers from a Leetonia-Youngstown car, which passed by shortly after the accident occurred, turned the machine over and liberated Mr. Dickson.

Prof. and Mrs. Dickson were taken to a Youngstown hospital, where an examination was made of their injuries. Both suffered from the shock but were neither seriously injured.

Prof. Dickson was recently selected as director of the choir of the Epworth Methodist Episcopal church at Youngstown.

County Legion Will Select Place For German War Trophy

Government's Allotment of Howitzer Will be Topic at Meeting to be Held Here Monday Night.

Location of the 150 millimeter German howitzer, which has been awarded Columbiana county as a World war memorial, probably will be determined at a meeting of the Columbiana county council of the American Legion, which will be held in East Liverpool next Monday evening.

Acceptance of the trophy, a part of the captured equipment which has been awarded to Ohio, must be filed with the adjutant general's office at Columbus not later than November 24, or it shall be declared forfeited.

Indications today were that there would be at least three contenders for the big gun—East Liverpool, Salem and Lisbon. Should the county council, which is made up of three representatives from each Legion post, in the county, be unable to agree as to the location of the trophy the question will be submitted to the state committee for final decision.

GIRL RUN DOWN BY AUTOMOBILE

Anna Peczek, 9, Sustains Scalp Laceration.

Anna, nine-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Peczek, 808 St. Clair avenue, sustained a scalp laceration when struck by an automobile, driven by H. H. Elliott, 1048 St. Clair avenue, at 11:45 o'clock this morning as she was on her way home from school.

The child, who is a pupil in the third grade at the Grant street building, was crossing St. Clair avenue, Elliott claims he was coming down the hill in second gear and that the child stepped from behind another car directly in front of him before he could stop. She was knocked down and rendered unconscious.

Elliott stopped the machine and took the child to the City hospital, where she was attended by Dr. R. J. Marshall.

Elliott went to the city hall after taking the child to the hospital and made a report of the accident to Desk Sergeant George Toland.

COLORADO TOWN IS HAPPY AS COURT FREES DR. H. E. BLAZER

One Juror, However, Votes Against Acquittal.

PROSECUTOR ACTS

Former Salineville Physician Will go to New Mexico.

LITTLETON, Col., Nov. 13.—The town of Littleton was gradually recovering today from the throes of heart throbs and warm sympathy in which it has tossed during the trial of Dr. Harold Elmer Blazer, 61-year-old country doctor, formerly of Salineville, O., who was charged with the chloroform slaying of his idiot daughter, Hazel Ingrit Blazer.

Compassion for the old doctor still remained, mingled with expressions of resentment at the lone juror who stood against his 11 fellows and demanded Dr. Blazer be found guilty of willful, deliberate murder, and who declared he would continue to so stand "if a thousand ballots were taken."

District Judge Samuel W. Johnson, who presided over the "murder for love" trial, summed up the outspoken opinion of the townsfolk when he declared from the bench his belief that Dr. Blazer was insane on February 24, last, the day of the tragedy.

Will Be Sawmill Foreman.

The jurist, however, expressed satisfaction with the outcome of the trial—the freeing of the defendant without establishing a precedent that would, in effect, legalize the putting out of existence imbeciles and other defectives without lawful authority.

Prosecutor Joel Stone's prompt action in the nolle prosse proceedings and Judge Johnson's immediate discharge from custody of Dr. Blazer was being applauded today by all who had followed the trial.

Dr. Blazer plans to leave this week for Tierra Amarilla, N. M., just across the Colorado boundary line, where he will act as foreman in a sawmill during the winter months. He was cheerful today, "glad it's all over," and reiterated his earlier statements that if he killed his daughter he "certainly had no recollection of it."

Daughter Rushes to Father

Mrs. Frances Bishop, daughter of the physician, was not in the court room when the jury was dismissed. "Oh, they should have acquitted him—they should have acquitted him," she told a newspaperman who carried the news to her in the corridor outside. She then rushed in to talk to her father who was talking with his brother, Philip Homer Blazer of Magnolia, O., a host of relatives and friends.

ITALIAN WAR DEBT AGREEMENT WILL FACE BOMBARDMENT IN CONGRESS WHEN PRESENTED FOR RATIFICATION

Belief is Pact, Which Provides More Liberal Terms Than Accorded Other Debtors, Will be Approved.

BY GEORGE R. HOLMES

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—The Italian debt agreement, in which Italy is to repay money borrowed during the war on terms far more liberal than have been accorded any other debtor nation, is due for some congressional bombardment when presented for ratification, but the preponderant opinion in and out of congress today was that it will be overwhelmingly approved.

There will be some speeches made on American generosity, and some sympathy extended the American taxpayer by those who will point out the Italian settlement represents a net loss of around $75,000,000 a year, but in the end there will be plenty of votes for ratification. The net loss to the tax-payer is incurred through the difference in interest rates on the money involved in the debt. Italy will pay an average of ⅝ to 1 per cent. The treasury is paying an average of 4¼ per cent to holders of Liberty bonds.

In arriving at the settlement, both sides made substantial concessions. While it is true that the terms are considerably lower than the American negotiators had expected to grant, it is also true that the terms are considerably higher than the Italian negotiators thought at first they could meet.

Puts Cards on Table.

The accord was reached by Count Volpi laying his economic cards frankly on the table and inviting a most thorough inspection of them by the American conferees. Ten days of inspection convinced even Senator Smoot (R.) of Utah, that Italy's capacity to pay is considerably less than that of other European debtors.

Both sides were highly pleased today over the successful termination of the negotiations.

"America has been generous, very generous," said Count Volpi. "We are grateful. And we, on our side, feel we have been honest and frank."

The chief concern of the American commissioners today was the probable effect of the Italian settlement on the French debt of $4,000,000,000 which remains unfunded after two abortive conferences.

The Italian terms are considerably more lenient than anything offered France, and administration officials expressed no doubt today but that the French will lay claims to similar liberality when the negotiations are

Ulster Chieftain Seeks Peace, But Is Ready to Fight

BELFAST, Nov. 13.—"I pray for peace but we are ready to fight in the open against our enemies who would take our loved soil from Ulster," declared Premier Craig in a speech to Orangemen. The premier was referring to the forthcoming boundary report, which it is stated will cede to the Irish Free State a portion of Ulster soil, but will also give Ulster some of the territory now held by the Free State.

SURRENDER
The Story Of A Girl Who Dared

CHAPTER 94.

"I'm a friend of Miss Vaine's from out of town, and I have misplaced her address. Would you be so kind as to give it to me?"

The assistant treasurer of the Jolly Theatre, looking through the brass bars of the boxoffice, was so impressed by Amoura Ainsley's chic appearance that he forgot to scowl, and obligingly obtained the information by calling the stage manager on the house-telephone.

Thus it was that Amoura was able to locate Miss Vera Vaine's apartment in a house in the fifties. A negroid voice, belonging to the actress' maid, answered the telephone call from the lobby.

"Mis' Vaine iz jes' havin' her brackfus.'"

"Ask her, please, if she will see Miss Amoura Ainsley."

A pause, and awkward steps on a polished floor.

"Mis' Vaine, they's a lady name Mis' 'Mora Ainsley callin'."

"Ainsley? Ainsley? I've heard that name somewhere. Somebody wanting help, I suppose. Well, ask her to come up." Vera Vaine was not above helping a girl who needed it.

The two women looked each other over colly when they met. There was something magnetic in their glance, like the clash of symbals.

The actress, scantily clothed, her hair awry, was propped up in a low bed upon which everything, sheets, pillow cases, silken comforters, was pink. She tried to place the face of the visitor, but quickly gave it up.

"Just sit down anywhere you can find a place," she said. "Josie, you may take away the tray," she directed. Vera Vaine always handled her servants impressively in the presence of others.

"I am Miss Amoura Ainsley—from Westland.'

The actress' mouth wrinkled as she heard the last words.

"I am the fiancee of Phillip Weinrich.'

"Pardon me, but I BELIEVE I AM the FIANCEE of Philip Weinrich."

Amoura kept herself in hand. "That is why I came,' she said, with a show of hesitancy. "Philip has just told me about you."

"Well?" The actress picked a nail file from a stand at her side and began mannipulating it. The whirrring sound grated on Amoura's ears.

"Of course, I want Philip to do the right thing."

"Well, the right thing for Philip Weinrich to do is to marry me,' the actress said.

"You mean?"

"Exactly what I say. He told me he loved me, and I gave him my heart. God, how I loved him!" She bowed her head.

"LOVED him? Then you don't love him now?"

Vera Vaine raised her head, her eyes flashing.

"So he sent you spying around, did he! Get the hell out of here!"

Amoura held her ground resolutely.

"No, he told me not to come. Please listen to me, Miss Vaine. I love him. I have loved him almost since childhood. I only want him to be happy. If—if you are capable of making him a better wife than—than I am, then you should have him.'

The actress regarded her narrowly. The evident sincerity of this womanly appeal touched her. There is no way to combat such sentiment. "I only want him to do the right thing,' she murmured at length.

"He has obligated himself to you?"

Vera Vaine preferred to misunderstand the question. "I love him, too, and I want him to be happy, too. He told me that I was the only women he had ever loved."

Amoura winced, but struck back. "Are you sure he said that, Miss Vaine?" Her glance bored into the eyes of the actress.

"Yes," the other lied.

"I don't believe it. I don't believe you love him, or that you ever have loved him," Amoura said in a sudden burst of passion. "You're a scheming woman after his money. And YOU'RE NOT GOING TO GET IT!"

The actress threw the covers off the bed and jumped out. "I'll kill you, you—you," she screamed, turning wildly around until her hands rested on a vase.

A door was jerked open, and the maid entered.

Amoura, almost frightened out of her wits by this sudden turn of affairs, made a dash for the portal.

"Catch her, Josie; hold her. I'm going to kill her," the actress screamed again.

The negro, stiff with astonishment, just stared an Amoura gained the hallway, slamming the door behind her. Breathless, she ran past the elevator and down the stairs.

EAST LIVERPOOL — AMERICA'S POTTERY CENTER

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 13, 1925.

Neighboring Cities Football Champions

The East Liverpool district today boasts of two potential scholastic championship football teams in the squads of the Ceramic City and Chester high schools.

The Potters, although they have not played Leetonia, virtually clinched the Columbiana county title last Saturday, when they defeated the East Palestine gridiron representatives by a 6-to-0 score.

And Chester, which has rounded out a team that has made a name for itself on the football field this season, expects to take the scalp of the New Cumberland eleven on Thanksgiving Day at Rock Springs park, thus removing the remaining obstacle in the march to the Hancock county championship.

East Liverpool's holiday tilt will be against the John Marshall high school, of Cleveland, which was booked when it was apparent there was no likelihood of restoration during the 1925 season of athletic relations with Wellsville.

However, both East Liverpool and Chester face hard battles tomorrow, and while the results will have no bearing upon their championship claims they realize a defeat means a black mark upon their records.

The Ceramic City eleven faces Toronto, one of Jefferson county's speedy teams, at Patterson Field, while Chester will oppose the strong Follansbee school squad on the Rock Springs lot.

Both East Liverpool and Chester are thirsty for another victory, for defeat of Toronto should add lustre to the locals' achievements this season, while a victory for Coach Wild's proteges in the Chester game means another feather in the cap of the Hancock countians inasmuch as Follansbee is recognized as Brooke county's title holder and a contender for the West Virginia high school championship.

Football fans, with the principals in the games tomorrow and on Thanksgiving Day having so much at stake, these battles should be worth seeing.

A Land Yacht

For years yachtsmen have wondered why, with all the motor touring that goes on, comfortable and efficient "land yachts" have not been designed. Here and there one sees a little house on wheels designed by some foresighted person, but usually they are clumsy, and never have they been turned out standardized and in quantities.

One built a couple of years ago by a mid-western man embodies some interesting ideas. It is 25 feet long, with a beam of 7 feet. It weighs 7,200 pounds and is carried on a Ford chassis. A newspaper furnishes details as follows:

"In this space of 7 by 25 feet there is a 7 by 10 kitchen, a living room 7 by 10 and a Pullman sleeping compartment 4 by 7 with two Pullman berths. The kitchen contains a three-burner cook stove, a sink, running water, cupboards and a built-in table. The living room is furnished with a phonograph, chairs and a wardrobe, and may be used as a sleeping room at night. On the rear is the observation platform, furnished in the fashion of one Pullman company's observation trains."

This begins to approach the average small yacht in getting conveniences into small space. It is probably larger than necessary. There will undoubtedly be a great development in this kind of thing in the next few years.

Motor Cars Help Railroads

If motor cars are taking business from the railroads, they are also giving business to the railroads. This is a fact generally ignored.

J. S. Marvin, of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, gives some surprising figures. Last year, he says, there were 735,000 carloads of automobiles and parts shipped on the railroads. But that is only a small part of it. Total automotive freight, including fuel, highway materials, etc., amounted to about 2,630,000 carloads. Thus the motor car business furnished more than one-fourth of all the manufacturers' traffic handled by the rail lines.

This is certainly a great deal more business than automobiles and trucks have taken away from the railroads. So we are driven to the unexpected conclusion that the motor industry, instead of hurting the railroad industry, is one of the big factors in promoting railroad prosperity.

Southern Prosperity

There is no longer any question about southern prosperity. The south has come back. To ordinary business statistics which tell their story of cold facts, regarding crops and industries, a survey by Harvard university adds this clinching bit of human evidence:

The south today is buying more jewelry than any other section of the country. The average southern jeweler has sold twice as much stock during the past year as the average jeweler elsewhere, and about three times as much as northern jewelers. The southern market for diamonds is especially good.

People do not buy jewelry when they are hard up. Diamonds are a touchstone of prosperity.

The north and west are prosperous, too, but apparently not so conscious of it as the south. And while the south buys diamonds, the north buys southern real estate—thereby enabling the south to buy more diamonds.

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Thoughts and scenes while strolling around New York: The big black cat in a florist's window near the Hippodrome. A marcelled lad with kohled eyes. New York women are always well shod. Why is that?

Tommy Meighan and his derby. Maud S., the race horse, used to graze on the present site of the Biltmore. And 44th street was the big meat market. What ever became of the kaiser's Christmas dinner in Paris? And patched trousers. The sidewalk magazine stand near the Casino.

An auto with a warning bass drum boom. What bright idiot thought of that? Pomp of a prouder day—a house with shutters. A newsboy whose constant cry is "Fire, Murder, Death!" Opera choristers sunning fur-colored coats.

The row of second-hand clothing shops near the Pennsylvania station. Last stand of the sidewalk clothes dummy. Ceylon cafes with strange smells. Old coin shops with skull-capped proprietors. Itinerant Turkish rug vendors. Those strange station loafers with pig eyes and bulging necks.

The Flatiron building like a plowshare ready to furrow Broadway. The white-whiskered old man who walks up lower Fifth avenue at dusk. Blazing charcoal pans heating potatoes and chestnuts for 14th street pedestrians. They eat as they walk.

A flashing peep of a pallid face in an ambulance. Sign: "As near beer as we can make it." Old women in capes. Young girls in imitation sable. And young men who try to appear tough. Save when they see a policeman. Glittering cafes with alphabetical names.

Barber shops with sporty loungers. Immigrants from Ellis Island at Job agencies. A luncheon called The Cutie. Bizarre movies featuring vamps. How I'd like to own Rin-tin-tin! Sailors making sidewalk love. Chummy little world.

I made an annual excursion to the movies the other night. A trick soprano did one of those racy trill things. You guessed it! The song was "Comin' Thro the Rye." There was a launching of a battleship and the close-up of the governor's daughter. The kettle drummer was excellent and the ushers polite. There was a film.

That paragraph creaks with sophistication. Everybody enjoyed themselves. I can be entertained by curb fakirs and pavement Charleston dancers and yet somehow movies do not click. They seem to drag. Perhaps it is the director or the star. Or maybe I don't "get" them.

One of the movie houses serves a light collation in its foyer—tasty sandwiches and cool lemonade. The mural decorations are by an old-world master. The symphony orchestra is better than you hear sometimes at Carnegie Hall. And 20 years ago they were playing to 5-cent admissions in abandoned storerooms and tiny tunes of cigaret-smoking piano players.

Frisco is becoming one of the most celebrated of the Broadway cafe clowns. Born Louis Joseph in—of all places—Dubuque, Iowa, the rather gloomy-visaged jazz dancer has stuttered his way to Broadway fame. Surrounded by smoke from his ever present "heater" and clinging to the Fall of '90 derby, he wanders from cafe to supper club spilling his stuttering wheezes. From Dubuque he went to Colisimo's in Chicago, thence to New Orleans and on to New York—his first appearance being on the old Midnight Frolic Roof. He has not appeared on the stage for some time. He would rather wander about with his cap and bells, choosing his own audiences. He does not drink.

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Teaching the Deaf.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 13.—The argument of one of the wisest philosophers of ancient Greece that persons born deaf have no souls and are incapable of instruction has been refuted many times over. In the United States most of the credit for disproving this theory belongs to Thomas Hopkins Gallaudet, who established at Hartford, Connecticut, the first permanent school for deaf children.

At first the course of study was very limited, but gradually the duration of the school course was lengthened and the number of studies increased. While it is thought that Gallaudet probably believed that deaf people of good mental capacity should have an opportunity to pursue a higher education, he did not live to see his hopes realized. It remained for his youngest son, Edward Miner Gallaudet, to bring them to fulfillment.

The younger Gallaudet saw his opportunity of carrying out his father's idea of a course of higher instruction for the deaf in a call he received in 1857 to take charge of the newly established institution for the deaf and blind in the District of Columbia.

Amos Kendall, a philanthropist of Washington, became interested in several deaf children whom he found in the poorer districts and brought them to his country estate, hiring an instructor for them. In 1846 he gave a house and three acres of land to establish a school for the deaf. Afterwards he made it possible for the school to purchase additional land and it now covers an area of approximately 104 acres.

In 1857 an Act of Incorporation was obtained from congress establishing the Columbia Institution for the Instruction of the Deaf and Dumb and the Blind. The instruction of the blind was soon turned over to an institution in Maryland.

This act also provided that the federal government should give financial assistance to this institution. The present institution still receives financial aid through appropriations from congress. The general management and the disbursement of all funds are under the supervision of a board of directors composed of eleven members, three of whom represent congress. Two are appointed by the speaker of the house of representatives and the other is a member of the senate and is appointed by the vice president.

In 1864 Abraham Lincoln signed an act which granted the Columbia institution power to confer college degrees upon its graduates, and a collegiate department was opened that year. Until 1887 the school was only open to men, but in that year it was decided to allow women to matriculate. The advanced department was first known as the National Deaf Mute college, but in 1894 it was changed to Gallaudet college in honor of Thomas Hopkins Gallaudet, at the request of the graduates.

Free Scholarships.

Congress has provided 125 free scholarships to Gallaudet college for those deaf young men and women who can not afford to pay tuition. Also most of the states of the union provide scholarships for graduates of the state schools. In addition to those students who enter under scholarships are pay pupils. There have been a number of these from Canada, England, Wales and the Philippine Islands.

The course is five years, one year being devoted to preparatory work. During the preparatory year pupils are required to take plane geometry, advanced algebra, Latin, English composition, early European history and drawing. The college curriculum is similar to that of colleges teaching hearing students, although the study of mathematics through elementary mechanics is insisted upon whereas in many colleges students are not required to continue mathematics.

More time is also devoted to manual training than is usually the case in hearing schools. Students are given an opportunity to learn the art of printing, to take special work in chemistry and in agriculture. Some pupils are allowed to take up bacteriology, higher mathematics, electricity and advanced chemistry.

The president of the college says that about 98 per cent of the graduates are self-supporting. Many have attained marked success. The senior member of a well known firm of architects is a graduate of Gallaudet. Many have achieved success as ministers and teachers of the deaf. Others have entered law, dentistry, real estate, printing and publishing. This, of course, applies principally to men graduates.

When asked along what lines the women graduates achieved the greatest success, the president laughed and said, "Well, their largest opportunities appear to be in library work and matrimony. Most of them don't remain in business very long. Generally they marry shortly after leaving the college."

Varied College Activities.

The college activities are very similar to those of hearing colleges. The students have their athletics, and have often very good football teams. This is considered remarkable because they are only about 75 boys from whom a team may be picked, while in other colleges there are usually several hundred.

The girls have tennis matches and basketball games and appear much interested in swimming. There are also dramatic clubs, literary clubs, fraternities and sororities. There are usually about four dances a year, and these are exceedingly popular. Altogether the students lead a happy normal life and do not appear to view themselves as in any way unlike their hearing brothers and sisters.

Of course there are a few cases where the pupil has not lost his hearing until he is 15 or 16 years of age. It is much more difficult for such a one to adjust himself, since he realizes what he misses through not being able to hear, and also he is not accustomed to using the alphabet or sign language, and can not read the lips. Fortunately these cases are rare.

The chapel of the college is unusually interesting for two reasons. First it is in a way a hall of fame for those persons who have been active in the work of educating the deaf. There are portraits of Amos Kendall, and two Gallaudets, has reliefs of several well known professors, and a bust of President Garfield. Garfield is said to have been the president who was the most active in his interest along this line of work.

The other interesting thing about the chapel is that when the chairs are turned one way they face a platform from which the lesson is read at morning chapel. When they are turned the other way they face the stage where plays are held and other entertainments. Then the room is called Chapel Hall.

The Bride: "Did I look very anxious in church?"

The Cat: "Not after he said: 'I will, my darling.'"—Fostoria, Times.

"THE FAST MAIL" ANOTHER FUNNY EPISODE IN THE PACE MAKERS

ONE SOLID WEEK COM. MON. MATINEE ---" THE IRON HORSE"

RELICS OF GODS FOUND IN ITALY

Discovered on Site of Sanctuary of Demeter.

Rome.—Interesting excavations have been undertaken by Prof. Ettore Gabrici, director of the Palermo museum, on the site of the ancient sanctuary of Demeter Malophoros at Selinunte, near Palermo.

An enormous number of objects of historical and artistic value have been excavated. Of these stone, bronze and terra cotta votive offerings and decorations there are several thousand. All have been taken to the Palermo museum to be examined, docketed, studied and placed in order on the shelves.

The work of removing these treasures from the deposit where they had been imbedded on account of the filtering of the rains of many centuries was slow and difficult. One very interesting lot consists of lanterns, with solidified oil inside, which had been lighted during ceremonials. Here, just as at Eleusis, the rite was proscribed, for the goddess Demeter was worshiped at night. That she was a popular deity is shown by myriads of votive offerings placed on her shrine. She later became the goddess Ceres of the Romans and undoubtedly was considered very powerful. Though there is no definite date in which this rite was introduced into Selinunte, from the decorations found in the courtyard of the sanctuary it dates back to the Seventh century B. C.

City Founded by Greeks.

Evidently when the city was founded by the Greek colonists from Megara Hatblea they built the sanctuary when they built the fortress. As was the custom in ancient Greek communities when, for one reason or another a group which was dissatisfied with the home town decided to found a colony, the matter was discussed and the Oracle was consulted in regard to the choice of a leader.

Thus it was that in Megara, capital of Megaris, one mile from the sea, opposite the island of Salamis, a number of colonists wished to go to the island of Sicily and found a colony, which they named Megara Hyblaea. From this first colony, others were founded throughout Sicily, including Selinunte, in 628 B. C. It began brilliantly, and from its ruined buildings one can see that it was of great importance and grandeur.

But this state of predominance lasted only until 408 B. C., a short two hundred years, when it was destroyed by the Carthaginians, as they feared its competition. It was partly rebuilt, but never regained its importance, and was for a second time destroyed after the Punic war in 250 B. C., when it was left as the modern excavators found it.

The present excavations are all the more important, as they throw light on a city of which only the mere outlines of history are known.

Feminine Figures Crumble.

There are innumerable tanagra heads, but the feminine figures have crumbled. One very interesting slab of yellow tufo, equal in artistic value to any bas-relief of the Acropolis, represents Proserpine when carried to the lower regions by Adoneus.

It is the oldest, possibly the earliest, representation of the fable of Proserpine and at first it was thought to be a tablet commemorating symbolic dances. Further inspection proved that it told in a series of designs the story of Proserpine. Though neither in the Iliad nor the Odyssey is this tradition related, in the whole of ancient Sicily the story was linked with the worship of Demeter, Proserpine's mother.

Among the statuettes are hundreds placed in the sanctuary to Zeus Milichios, the Greek counterpart of the god Jupiter. He was the accepted god of the sky by all Greeks long before the Homeric age. He was allied to Demeter, the earth goddess, and hence his effigies were placed in her temple. He was the god of boundaries, and the Greek commandment "Thou shalt not remove thy neighbor's landmark," was attributed to an order issued by Zeus Milichios, the dread deity of the ghost world whom the sinner had to placate. And evidently in Selinunte there were many who sought to please him.

In many cases there are also votive offerings of the people of the countryside.

Heads Only Reveal Beauty.

What is more important in these objects are the designs in terra cotta, figures of great variety and perfect in design. Unfortunately none of them is intact; only the heads remain as evidence of their great beauty.

Without doubt these are the most important excavations in recent years in Sicily, as they throw new light on the civilization of the early Greek colonies throughout the island. Professor Gabrici is busily compiling a book of his studies on what he has excavated.

Professor Gabrici's success in excavating has induced the government to reconstruct the Temple of the Fortress, in a similar manner as was accomplished at Girgenti, when the columns of the Temple of Jove were raised from the ground.

Find Milk Snake

Vermillion, S. D.—A small snake, red striped, uncovered in a Vermillion street when excavation was being done for the laying of water pipes, was pronounced a western milk snake, a species exceedingly rare in this section. It is only the fifth in the state, according to Mr. Over, who says it is non-poisonous.

2 MAN EATERS FIND HOME IN FIELD MUSEUM

Giant Cats Display Teeth That Devoured 135 Humans.

SLAIN IN AFRICA

First Killed by Engineer; Second Falls Days Later.

CHICAGO — Two man eating lions —the most famous in the world, credited with devouring 135 human beings, are making their last stand in Chicago.

The carniverous creatures, described in the record of British parliaments as the "Man-eaters of Tsave," glare menacingly each day at thousands of visitors at the Field Museum, where they have just been placed.

The giant cats, displaying teeth that have torn more than a hundred people to bits have been resurrected in taxidermy and represent a picture that dates back to the time when white men were invading the dark continent.

Led Reign of Terror.

The lions instilled horror into the hearts of workmen on the Uganda railway in British East Africa during its construction in 1898, conducted a nine-months' reign of horror during which time the coolie laborers were in a constant state of panic, the British foreign office in an uproar and British parliament confronted with the problem of killing the man-eaters before progress on the railway could continue.

Col. J. H. Patterson, British engineer and sportsman, was in charge of the construction of the Uganda railway. Soon after he arrived at Tsavo with several hundred coolie laborers, the lions appeared and started carrying off men during the night.

Traps were set, wire entanglements were strung out, guards placed within call of each other, beacon fires were built, rewards were offered for the pelts of the creatures, poisoned food was planted and every possible measure was taken to rid the camp of the man-eaters. But the efforts were in vain and during a nine-months period the animals carried off more than 135 coolies by stealthily appearing at least expected places. Indian and native workmen, seeing the contempt of the animals for the men, became convinced they were possessed of spirits of the devil.

The camp finally became so paralyzed with fear that hundreds of the workmen deserted and fled to safety or destruction. Something had to be done. Efforts of Col. Patterson to stalk the lions had proved in vain. For days he and several companions had waited their appearance at likely spots. Always the lions appeared at other places.

Pair Finally Killed.

Finally late one night, one of the creatures passed under a platform where Col. Patterson waited. A bullet was sent into a vital spot, followed immediately by several volleys more from the platform. The lion fell dead and the colonel breathed a sigh of relief. The life of the second man-eater was taken a few days later, only after a hair-breadth escape by hunters and after six shots had been pumped into the great body.

When the news of the death of the lions reached London, Lord Salisbury, then prime minister, made a speech in the house of lords praising Col. Patterson. Construction on the railway was resumed and finally completed.

Today the story of a great sporting romance and an equally great tragedy lies in the motionless and menacing faces of the two great cats, as they stand in glass cases in the museum. Visitors who know the story of the brutes, marvel silently as they look upon the scene.

43 States Accept German War Trophies, Five Fail to Reply

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—The economy wave apparently has reached many state governments, judging today from a compilation by the war department of the states which have accepted and rejected German war trophies.

The report revealed that 43 states had accepted their allotment of the trophies and five had so far refused to even acknowledge the department's communication advising them that the trophies were available for shipment.

DRAIN KEEPS UP ON BRITISH MONEY DRAWER

Outlay for Half Year $180,000,000 Above Revenue.

BUDGET IS HIT

Odds are Against Plan of Winston Churchill.

LONDON—Despite urgent appeals from all quarters for national economy and curtailment of expenditures, the drain upon the British Exchequer, watched over—none too successfully his opponents charge—by Winston Churchill, continues to be heavier and heavier.

Official records of state revenue and expenditure for the half year ended on September 30 shows that expenditure exceeded revenue by $180,000,000. The deficit last year at this time was $60,000,000 but Philip Snowden, the labor Chancellor of the Exchecquer, managed to balance the account by the end of the financial year and show a small surplus.

The odds are all against Mr. Churchill being able to keep expenditures for the full year down to the approximately $4,000,000,000 for which he budgeted, or to collect that amount in revenue.

Usually drains upon the treasury during the second half of the year are lighter than during the first half, while revenue at the same time increases.

This year many unlooked for outlays are going to force expenditures up during the second half of the year. Most of the cost of subsidizing the coal industry—which cost the government $7,500,000 during August, the first month—has still to be borne. Furthermore, the cost of the Admiralty's cruiser program, which was not budgeted for, has still to be met, with little likelihood that the increased expenditure will be balanced by economies in other Admiralty departments.

In the revenue side experts figure there is bound to be a drop after January first, when the six-pence reduction on income tax goes into effect.

Although Mr. Churchill budgeted for expenditures $29,000,000 in excess of last year's, at the present rate of receipts and expenditures, it is estimated the excess will be approximately $190,000,000.

Next Years' prospects don't look any too bright for Mr. Churchill. Although his announced policy is to reduce national expenditures by $50,000,000 annually, beginning next year, all government departments with the exception of the Pensions' Ministry have asked for increased funds next year over those of this year.

Low-Flying Planes Scare Hens From Laying Eggs

Santa Rosa, Cal.—Low-flying airplanes are playing such havoc with the chicken business in Sonoma county that the county board of supervisors is to be appealed to in an effort to force an increase of the altitude of the machines. The roaring air motors and their great hawk-like shadows demoralize the chicken flocks, poultry men say. The chickens scurry for cover and suspend all egg-laying activities until they have regained their composure, which usually takes some time.

Half the world is half asleep

It is terrible to feel all dragged out—to live from one day to the next in a constant state of weariness. Yet thousands do, because constipation is destroying their energy—even their interest in life. Only Kellogg's ALL-BRAN brings sure and safe relief from this disease.

"Poor Betty! She always looks tired"

BETTY was the office mystery. Once pretty, her beauty now lay masked behind an unwholesome complexion. Once vivacious, she now seemed eternally tired—a drooping figure of disappointment and dismay. Too bad she didn't realize that it was constipation which was stealing her strength.

But many men and women rid themselves forever of this devastating disease, by the simple, pleasant means of eating two tablespoonfuls of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN every day—or in chronic cases, with every meal.

As Kellogg's ALL-BRAN journeys through the system, its fiber remains unchanged. It is what doctors call a bulk food—a bulk food which sweeps the intestine clean—a bulk food which absorbs and carries moisture through the intestinal tract, stimulating natural, healthy action. Something habit-forming pills and drugs can never do.

Serve Kellogg's ALL-BRAN with milk or cream, sprinkled over cereals; cooked with hot cereals; in soups, or made into the many recipes given on the package. Delicious with fruit, baked apple, etc.

Caution: Only ALL-BRAN brings sure results. A part-bran product can only be partially effective. Kellogg's is the one, only and original ALL-BRAN. All grocers sell it. Buy a package today. If eaten regularly, it is guaranteed to bring permanent relief or the grocer returns the purchase price. Served in leading restaurants and hotels.

MARSHAL FACES CRIMINAL'S GUN

Toronto police are in possession of a complete set of safe cracker's tools, three black masks and a quantity of nitro-glycerin and A. H. Moffett, marshal-elect, is still alive, following a harrowing experience with a criminal recently.

Authorities are still seeking the unknown man who was picked up following a crash below Toronto. Police were called to the scene of the automobile collision and Mr. Moffett and his wife got in their car and started toward it.

The unknown man agreed to accompany Moffett back to the police station to settle the question of who was responsible for the accident. He got in the rear of the Moffett car. Near the mill, Moffett felt cold steel pressed against the back of his head. The stranger told Moffett that he wanted to get out, that he would shoot if Moffett didn't stop, and if Moffett would attempt to draw his own gun he would shoot them both.

Covering them with his revolver, the stranger withdrew from the car and disappeared up the hollow, search of the car which he had been driving, revealed the safe cracker's outfit. An exhaustive search has failed to uncover him.

RIVAL GRIDDERS MAY PLAY SERIES

A series of games between the Wellsville C. & P. eleven and the Greys, of East Liverpool, is in prospect as a result of the 6-6 tie staged at Central park last Wednesday afternoon by the railroaders and the All Stars, an aggregation comprising players from both the Greys and the Collegians of the Ceramic City.

The Greys reorganized last week and expect to line up a home and home series with the locals.

Wednesday's engagement produced one touchdown apiece, a forward pass enabling the visitors to count while Halfback Brooks' 50-yard run after picking up a fumbled ball in midfield gave the locals their six points. Both touchdowns were made in the first half. Finley's attempt to drop kick the extra point failed and Wellsville's forward pass try met a similar fate.

THWART SATAN, PASTOR'S ADVICE

Despite inclement weather, a large audience last night heard Dr. J. H. Lawther, Niles evangelist, speak on "The Price of the Soul," at revival services in the First Presbyterian church.

The large chorus choir was heard at its best in song services in connection with the sermon.

Dr. Lawther preached to show how Satan conducts markets along the highway of life in which he pays various prices for the souls of men and how men are selling their souls to Satan in various ways. He showed how, for drink, gambling, dishonesty, impurity and other things, Satan is buying men's souls.

Tonight Dr. Lawther's sermon subject will be "The Lost Christ." With interest increasing, a large congregational attendance is anticipated.

Army's Biggest Gun to Test Railroads

Washington. — Movement of the army's newest and biggest coast defense gun, a 14-inch rifle on railway mount, which weighs 730,000 pounds, from the proving grounds at Aberdeen, Md., to Fort McArthur near San Diego, Cal., will start soon, the trip to require about two months.

The decision to send the gun west was made to test trans-continental railway lines for the movement of heavy railway artillery which will be used in supplementing the fixed coast defenses in time of war.

The gun will go from Aberdeen to Chicago over the Pennsylvania road, to Council Bluffs over the Chicago & Northwestern, to Ogden over the Union Pacific and complete the journey from Ogden westward on the Southern Pacific.

Mar del Plata Argentina, is to have a new winter resort where a hotel of 450 rooms will be built at a cost of $1,322,000 at once.

CERAMIC BOOKS WILL ROGERS

Great Humorist Will Appear Here on Nov. 23.

Will Rogers, who is considered the greatest humorist since Mark Twain, will speak at the Ceramic theatre, Monday, Nov. 23.

Like all great humorists Rogers has his serious side. Last year he was amongst the home folks in Oklahoma, where he spent the earliest years of his life before he became a national figure and wealth poured into his lap. He was back there among his people for the solemn purpose of attending the funeral of a loved sister, who had tenderly throughout the years ministered to the community.

His sad visit to his old home had brought Will Rogers face to face with the real things of life. "After all," Mr. Rogers wrote, "there is nothing in the world like home. You can roam all over the world but after all, its what the people at home think of you that counts. I have just today witnessed a funeral that for real sorrow and real affection I don't think will ever be surpassed anywhere. They came in every mode of conveyance, on foot, in buggies, horseback, wagons cars and trains, and there wasn't a soul that came that she hadn't helped or favored at one time or another."

". . . . . Death knows no denomination. Death draws no color line. Some uninformed newspapers printed 'Mrs. C. L. Lane, sister of the famous comedian Will Rogers.' Its the other way around. I am the brother of Mrs. C. L. Lane, 'The Friend of Humanity.' And I want to tell you that as I saw all those people who were there to pay tribute to her memory it was the proudest moment of my life that I was her brother. And all the honors that I could ever in my wildest dreams hope to reach, would never equal the honor paid on a little western hilltop among her people to Maud Lane. If they love me like that at the finish, my life will not have been in vain."

Lightweight Baby

Burlington, N. C.—C. L. Warren, Jr., is claimant of the title of the smallest infant at birth in the South, having weighed one and one-quarter pounds when born. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Warren, who live near Burlington. When twelve days old, the infant weighed but two pounds, but is perfect physically and cries as lustily as any other baby of the same age.

A book for children just introduced in England is entitled "The Big Surprise," and the slightest touch of the cover produces a sound like the bark of a puppy.

By a new freezing process ice cream may now be shipped by air mail.

Health Authorities Agree on Goiter Prevention

Many of America's greatest medical men are interested in the fight against Goiter, and they agree upon Iodine, administered in table salt, for effective prevention. MULKEY'S IODINE SALT supplies an enormous demand, for this is the original Iodine Salt and carries an official certificate of approval.

SANDUSKY GIRL SLAIN BY HER MOTHER BURIED

Self-confessed Poisoner Attends Funeral of Her Victim.

SHOWS INTEREST

Grand Jury Will Vote Indictment Next Month.

SANDUSKY, O., Nov. 13. — Under dark and rain dripping clouds, symbolic of her drab life and the outlook of years of poverty and quarreling ahead, little Mary Keller, 7, dead by her mother's hand was buried here this afternoon.

Mrs. Keller, who entered a plea of guilty to a charge of first degree murder when arraigned yesterday afternoon, was present at the funeral in the custody of the sheriff and his wife.

It was not until last night that she displayed the slightest interest in the fate of her child's remains. Then she asked when the funeral was to be and asked permission to attend, which was granted.

Meanwhile the section of the city where the Kellers lived has divided along sex lines in placing blame for the poisoning—the culmination of 18 years of marital infelicity. Women generally defend Mrs. Keller, and say "her life drove her to it." On the other hand, men blame her, and stand by the husband.

The grand jury meets early in December, when, it was expected, an indictment against Mrs. Keller will be voted. Meantime she will be kept in the Woman's quarters of the Erie county jail.

BANDITS GET $50,000 LOOT

Fled Before Fusillades of Bullets After Two Raids.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Twice, early today, bandits fled before fusillades of bullets as they made off with $30,000 worth of furs, in one instance, and $20,000 in silks in another, both the proceeds of bold robberies in the heart of the shopping district. They escaped with their loot, in high powered automobiles, believed stolen.

One of the establishments ransacked was the Mason Simons, where six men overpowered a watchman, bound and gaged him, and carried away a choice assortment of fur coats, wraps, scarfs, etc.

The other was the wholesale silk house of Schuffman Brothers. An equal number of robbers, believed to be of the same gang, removed a large pane of glass from the front door and took 150 bolts of crepe de chine.

Italian War Debt

resumed. Whether they will get it is another matter. Unless there is a material change in the present temper of the debt funding commission it is not likely they will.

Feel France is Able to Pay.

The administration feels that France is eminently able to pay her debt on the terms proposed to M. Caillaux in October, and rejected by him.

It is an illuminating commentary on the negotiations that the American experts and the Italian experts found comparatively little difference in their respective figures on Italy's capacity to pay, whereas in the case of France, the experts themselves were as wide apart as the poles.

The French experts emphasized the embarrassing financial position occupied by the French government, and glossed over what the American experts considered the real index of the situation—the prosperous condition of French industry and commerce. In Italy's case it was just the opposite—the Italian government finances are in comparatively good shape, while industry and commerce are none too healthy because of the high taxation that was imposed to balance the budget.

France May Act.

PARIS, Nov. 13.—France probably will take early steps to renew her debt negotiations with the United States as the result of the settlement of the Italo-American debt, it was learned today.

Premier Painleve, after receiving the details of the Italian settlement with the United States, went into conference with Foreign Minister Briand relative to the formulation of new proposals to both the United States and England.

The finance ministry expressed complete satisfiction over the terms of the Italian settlement.

Oldest Ohio Pythian Killed.

LIMA, Nov. 13.—Joseph Potter, 96, said to be the oldest Pythian in Ohio, was dead today as the result of an automobile accident here last night. During a rain he stepped into the street to catch a street car and was hit by a truck. Police released the driver when it was shown the accident was unavoidable.

TODAY

means avoiding agony, physical and mental, beyond calculation.

Strangers in the big city were amazed yesterday when, for 60 seconds at a time, they could cross a busy street without being run over. Our great civilization was pausing just 60 seconds to think about Armistice day.

How much thinking can you do in 60 seconds, and what did you think about Armistice day, reminding us of a war that is fading into the distance?

Many solemn orators grew tearful. They reminded you that our heroes were all brothers in war, the poor man gave his services in the army, the rich man put his plant to work for the nation.

Some forget to mention that the poor man went into the army with his salary cut to a dollar a day from five dollars, while the rich man running his factory on government contracts saw his stock rise from $50 to $150.

War is like a great fire. The little people are burned up, the big people collect the insurance.

Col. Mitchell has rendered two important services to his country. In the first place, he told the truth about the war craft situation. Then, by his trial, which folly forced upon him, he causes the real situation to be proved in open court. This has forced the truth upon the nation, from the President all the way down.

And that's exactly what the nation needed, from the President down.

statement in which it said their investigating committee "reached the conclusion that the engineer of train No. 6 (the one from St. Louis) did not observe the signals, which were properly set and in working order."

All Casualties Men.

All of the casualties were men. They were all occupants of the steel Pullman sleeper Muirheid, the last car of the rammed Washington train.

A revised list of the dead follows:

M. M. Astusta, of Schnectady, N. Y., chairman of the office committee of the General Electric company.

E. W. Bates, employee, baggage department, Pennsylvania railroad, Baltimore.

Arthur W. Cross, of Schnectady.

John C. Hocstman, general manager's office, General Electric company, Schnectday.

T. F. Major, Pullman porter, Baltimore.

R. D. Reed, of Schnectady, employe of the General Electric company.

Four unidentified dead, in morgue at New Brunswick, N. J.

Names of Injured.

The six seriously injured who may not live are: W. H. Cunningham, of Newark, a flagman; D. H. Deyo, of Schnectady; Frank Hersey, of Baltimore; H. H. Lofton, of Chattanooga; Eugene Lowney, of Akron, Ohio, and W. H. Van Vorst of Baltimore. They were taken to hospitals in Trenton and Newark.

About 125 passengers were in the two rear cars of the Washington train when they were crashed together by the St. Louis train thundering along at nearly 50 miles an hour. The last car was driven with terrific force against the one ahead.

While investigations into the wreck were being made, state and federal officials withheld comment. The state public utilities commission and the interstate commerce commission were scheduled to open a full inquiry today.

An inquiry was also begun today by Fred A. David, chief of Middlesex county detectives, acting for Prosecutor Joseph A. Stricker.

"If negligence of any kind is indicated in connection with the wreck I will lay the evidence before the grand jury," said Prosecutor Stricker. "I am prepared to call the jury into session next week to hear the testimony should such a course be advisable."

Mayor-elect Spends $146 in Campaign; Other Reorts Filed

Mayor-elect Ralph C. Benedum, Democrat, spent $146 in his campaign, according to his sworn statement filed today with Election Board Clerk J. W. Moore.

His opponent, Joseph S. Wilson, Republican, expended but $8. Mrs. Florence Moss Bowers, who ran third in a field of three for clerk of the municipal court, spent $65.30. No expenses were reported by Charles Hayes, for council-at-large; George Hughes, for Fourth ward councilman; George Persohn, for township trustees; F. P. Wherry, for township trustee, and C. A. Ferguson, for member of the school board.

Locate British M-1

Seek to Locate Ship.

Even though the admiralty has given up hopes for the rescue of the M-1 crew, naval officers are not so pessimistic. They state that providing the craft is undamaged that the crew may live in their steel tomb for at least three days.

Rear Admiral Haggard has taken charge of the channel operations in search of the missing vessel. All sweeping gear and sweeping vessels available have been assigned to the command of Admiral Hagard who is aboard H. M. S. Conquest.

Mine sweepers with grappling irons and a crew of divers appeared on the scene of the accident shortly after dawn.

Throughout the night destroyers equipped with hydrophones which enable them to hear sounds beneath the surface of the water patrolled the waters in the vicinity of the accident in an effort to locate the sunken ship. It was estimated that the submarine was lying in about 30 fathoms of water.

AUTO WRECKS STORE WINDOW

Driverless Car Hits Golden Flower Shoppe.

Front of the Golden Flower Shoppe, West Sixth street, was practically demolished about 6:45 o'clock last night, when struck by a driverless automobile, owned by Elmer Stewart, of Claybourne avenue.

Stewart had stopped his car at the City Parking station, opposite the Golden place, neglecting to take the engine out of reverse gear. When he cranked it, the machine began its wild dash.

The auto struck a telephone pole, sped across the street, hurtled the sidewalk and crashed into the show windows of the Golden store where it came to a stop after both plate glass windows had been broken.

Golden and his family were in their living apartments above the store at the time of the crash. No one was injured and strangely enough the automobile was only slightly damaged.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—A buoyant tone prevailed in the market in the early trading today. The motor stocks made their usual opening demonstration, with Chrysler, Mack, Dupont, etc., up from 2 to 6½ points, but it remained for the railroad and oil stocks, with a few of the specialties, to lead the way to higher prices through gradual and fractional advances in orderly trading.

General Motors' dividend was not unexpected, though few in Wall street looked for more than $3 or $4 a share. Dupont, which owns 1,800,000 shares of the stock, will be a beneficiary by about $9,000,000, an important factor in the recent rise of that stock. General Motors opened fractionally lower, and sold in good volume around 140.

Upward revision of the dividend of General Petroleum, and expectation of an early return of Mid Continent to the dividend columns, stimulated speculative interest in the oil stocks. Standard Oil of New Jersey assumed a more active position, and moved up nearly 2 points to 42¾, while Mariand, Skelly, Simms, Phillips, Mid Continent, Texas Pacific advanced from 1 to 2½ points in the most active oil session in a week or more.

Though call money opened at 5 per cent, the money situation was comparatively easier.

The jury already has heard testimony showing army flyers were ordered to night flights over Camp Dix, N. J., against their protests and with an "unnecessary risk of their lives." Further testimony will reveal similar instances, it was said.

Latest Developments

Latest developments in the trial included testimony from defense witnesses, alleging that:

1—The navy department tried to "whitewash" the Shenandoah disaster.

2—The war department waited until "two days ago" to act upon a warning, filed ni February, 1924, that a foreign flight organization was establishing a base in Central America.

3—New bomb sights, recently issued to army flyers, resulted in seven direct hits out of nine bombs, dropped upon a battleship target from 5,000 feet altitude at Langley Field. The results were described as the "best in the history of aerial bombing."

4—The war department conducted "inacurate" tests in anti-aircraft fire by using a traget four times as large as the exploding radius of anti-aircraft engine withstood 18 consecutive direct craft shells.

5—In tests at Aberdeen, an airplane hits from 3-inch anti-aircraft fire and "could have flown away" undamaged.

6.—The navy department has revealed naval secrets in its desire for favorable publicity.

Dr. Blazer was alone at the counsel table except for H. W. Spangler, a member of his counsel staff, when Stone's motion was granted. He left soon afterward, declining to make any statement beyond that he was going to "operate my saw mill," and "live an outdoor life, which I believe will benefit my health."

He smiled broadly as he talked and appeared to be relieved of the strain he had been under during the last eight days.

"This has been a victory for humanity; for humanity was on trial, side by side with Dr. Blazer," Lewis Mowry, chief defense counsel, said. "Even the hung jury was as good as an acquittal, for it shows that on this jury were men who dealt not alone with the cold facts of law."

Prosecutor Stone saw in the action of the hung jury a victory "for law and order."

Several of the jurors, however, took issue with the statement that it was a "victory for the prosecution."

"If they had left us alone half an hour longer we would have acquitted," declared one of them—the father of an invalid daughter.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—The postal business of various cities throughout the country has grown to such an extent that Postmaster General New today authorized the appointment of 186 additional letter carriers and 95 additional clerks.

DRAMATIC MOMENTS CROWD SELVES IN CLEVELAND AS BOILER BLOWS UP

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 13.—John Reiber, former police captain, is in a dangerous condition in a hospital today from burns following dramatic moments which crowded themselves into short space.

Reiber tried to light a water heater. There was an explosion. Windows were knocked out. A fire began.

Two daughters, Mrs. John Halle and Mrs. John Harris, hurried to the basement and dragged their father to safety.

Two grandchildren, Arline Flaker, 12, and James Howley, 5, were asleep on the second floor. Flames crawled up the stairway. Arline dragged the smaller child through the window on a porch roof. James was tossed to the parents below and the girl climbed down. Mrs. Reiber, an invalid, was carried from the home while flames licked the doors and stairs.

Damage will amount to $12,000 on the house.

World-Wide Broadcasting of Radio Programs Looms

Transmission Will be Accomplished From Central Stations, Westinghouse Electric Company Officer Says.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—World-wide broadcasting of entertainment programs is just around the corner in radio development, H. P. Davis, vice-president of the Westinghouse Electric company, said today.

Program transmission will be accomplished from central broadcasting stations on the short wave lengths, with which Westinghouse experts have been experimenting for several years, Davis explained.

Other stations would pick up the short wave signals, transfer them into the conventional 200 to 600 meter waves and rebroadcast the programs.

Plan Distribution Organization.

"The greatest opportunity for radio development in the immediate future is in broadcasting, to organize it and obtain suitable program material so that stations all over the world may tap this supply," said Davis.

"Our experiments with amplifying the radio signal seem to be sufficiently successful to show that this is feasible. If this is a fact, it should be easy to maintain as many program channels as desirable and possibly transmit them for unlimited distances, at least from continent to continent and use them as a means of supplying program material to the regular broadcasting stations.

"In its organization this ought to take a form similar to that of the international news service to newspapers, and would be a mutual organization in which all broadcasters are interested.

"I am quite sure that means of supporting this organization will be available to put it on a sound and permanet basis."

Radio Press Association.

While Davis did not disclose whether Westinghouse or other big corporations are considering the organization of a "radio press association," for distribution of entertainment programs, it was understood that such a move is on foot.

Davis feels that radio will have a profound influence on almost every branch of electrical development and that in twenty five years great changes will take place.

"Undoubtedly radio will be a very useful and important method of remote control for all kinds of apparatus and machines," he said.

"It should be especially useful on railroads, as a means of signalling and controlling trains and their movements and as a means of signalling throughout the train and from moving vehicles to outside points.

Radio Movie Predicted.

"Transmission of power by radio seems, in the light of our present day ideas, a fantastic dream, yet I feel that the future has something in store to bring forth some possibilities of power supply which, even though of limited extent, will open up a tremendous field of development."

Davis declared that no department of the electrical industry is being so explored, or attracting so many brilliant minds as radio.

He predicted that it was more than probable that the radio movie will be an actual accomplishment in a few years.

RE-OPEN RURAL SCHOOL MONDAY

St. Clair Board is Repairing No. 9 Building.

The No. 9 school in St. Clair township, north of here, probably will be re-opened next Monday after having been closed for nearly two weeks because of the condition of the building.

The township board of education this week began repairs which will be completed probably today or tomorrow. The broken glass in the windows is being replaced, holes in the floor repaired and the structure is being repaired. The stove is to be placed in good condition and lock on the door repaired so that the building can be made secure at night.

The school was closed November 3, as children were subject to sickness because of exposure, it is claimed. When the township school officials took no steps to repair the building, residents of the township appealed to the county school authrities.

Police Hold Four Men as Suspects In Blackmail Game

CLEVELAND, Nov. 13.—Police held four men, three guns, a pair of handcuffs, a detective sergeant's badge and a list of professional and wealthy men of several cities here today—the remnants of of an alleged "blackmail quartet."

It is charged the men became acquainted with wealthy men, lured them into compromising circumstances, then the "detectives" with the handcuffs would walk in, make the bogus arrest and start them towards the police headquarters. It was also part of the "detective's" role in the little playlet to "consent" to be "bribed" by the rich man.

Engineer Fawcett Presides at Road Hearing in Lisbon

W. C. Fawcett, Martins Ferry, locating engineer for the State Highway Department, presided at a hearing on the proposed Lisbon - East Palestine road, which was conducted in the court house at Lisbon, today.

Three routes for the proposed road which will connect the county seat with the eastern Columbiana county town by a direct road were considered. Each of the routes passes through Elkton, three miles east of Lisbon.

From Elkton, one route is via Signal, Rogers and Negley; another route would connect with the Youngstown-East Liverpool road, west of Clarkson, while the third provides for a new road from Negley into East Palestine.

County Legion

warded a communication to Governor A. Y. Donahey, protesting against the manner of distribution. The chamber asserts that the distribution was to be made by cities and not by counties. The local legion has also sent a resolution authorized at the Armistice day meeting, Wednesday night, demanding that this city be awarded one of the big field pieces.

The first move for a piece of captured German field artillery was made by the Chamber of Commerce back in 1922, when Congressman Murphy was asked to introduce a bill in congress granting the Pottery City such a memorial.

The bill, however, was withdrawn when the military affairs committee announced that the distribution would be made by states. The chamber immediately sent an application for a gun to Governor Donahey in August, 1924. This application was filed with the adjutant general's office, this city being among the first on the list to make such a request.

Deadlock is Likely.

Announcement was made this week that the distribution would be made by counties instead of cities and that the county council of the American legion would decide where such a memorial should be placed. Where such councils do not exist, Legion posts were authorized to appoint a committee from members, together with business men to make such decision.

The Chamber of Commerce contends that in as much as the Ceramic city was one of the first to make application and, also, because it is the largest city in the county, East Liverpool should have the memorial. In the Legion council, Salem and other cities and towns, however, have equal voting strength which may cause a deadlock.

The howitzer allotted to this county weighs 4,600 pounds and will be shipped from the government ordinance station in the East. The Chamber of Commerce has agreed to underwrite the freight charges and other expenses incidental to establishment of the memorial here. Should it come to East Liverpool, its exact location will be determined later. The Carnegie Library grounds, West Fifth street park, and Riverview cemetery have been suggested as sites.

Another distribution of war material, including 3,475 bayonets, 3,731 rifles, 442 machine guns, helmets, grenades, etc., will be made later. Counties which received no artillery will be the first to share when the allotment of smaller trophies is made.

YOUNGSTOWN, Nov. 13.—Friday, the 13th, found Youngstown police with a search for a herculean thief on their hands. A huge steam shovel owned by Rose & Tradle, contractors, had been stolen.

MAYOR'S PAY SLASH TOPIC

Solons Will Consider Ordinance at Meeting Tonight.

Legislation reducing the salary of the mayor from $1,800 to $1,200 per year after January 1, 1926, will be considered by the city solons tonight when they take up the second reading of the ordinance.

The measure was adopted on first reading at the meeting three weeks ago by a vote of 4 to 3, Councilmen Farrall, Kerr, Hayes and Larcombe supporting it, while Solons Chambers, Rowe and Eardley opposed it. Another meeting will be necessary to place the proposal on third reading should there be no change in the vote line-up at tonight's session.

Unless council acts on the salary slash before January 1, there can be no adjustment in the mayor's salary for the next two years. Sponsors of the ordinance assert that the mayor's work will be reduced approximately 75 percent with the establishment of a municipal court here on January 1.

EDWARD LIBBEY, TOLEDO, DIES

Owens Bottling Company Founder Was Philanthropist.

TOLEDO, Nov. 13.—Edward D. Libbey, 65, founder of the Owens Bottle company, and Toledo's leading philanthropist, died at his rooms at the Secor hotel at 9 o'clock this morning.

Libbey contracted a severe cold two weeks ago. Until last night, it was thought that his condition was favorable and his recovery was expected. Suddenly there was a turn for the worse, and hope was abandoned.

Libbey was one of the leaders of the glass industry, recently he sold his interests to New York capitalists.

A leader in industrial and financial circles, he was no less well known as a philanthropist. He was responsible for the building of the Toledo Art museum, and had contributed liberally to other philanthropic projects.

Been a long, long time since you've read that, eh? It either thrills you or it will leave you with a terrified feeling in the small of your bankbock—'cording to what your age is!

Yet never have I made that statement more sincerely, more earnestly and firmly! You just go get an accurate calendar and you and the kid of the house "count the days" and you'll see how reasonable it is to paste that National hymn up above! Surprised you, didn't it?

If the Banking Fraternity can start Christmas Saving Accounts during January, the month of headaches, pale, scared pocketbooks, new neckties, bedroom slippers and trick smoking equipment, why shouldn't we druggists take a 60 or a 90 days' jump on you all? Answer THAT!

Fifteen years ago the druggist did a stupendous business the days AFTER Christmas and New Years but nowadays his trade hops up mighty keen and snappy during the Holidays same as a department store. And EVERY shopper knows the mess they're in when they have a "long list", very little time and NEVER enuf money. (No one EVER had enuf MONEY.)

So we're going to TRY and get you to watch these ads. every week now, get you to "scout around" our counters NOWADAYS and TRY to get you to SELECT or to BUY or to LAY AWAY a whole raft of stuff, SUITABLE FOR CHRISTMAS PRESENTS.

PAGO PAGO MAKES IDEAL NAVAL BASE

Port in Heart of Extinct Volcano Crater.

Washington.—Pago Pago, visited by United States naval vessels, on their return from Australia and New Zealand, is the capital of American Samoa, which is the only bit of American soil that lies south of the equator, according to the bulletin from the Washington headquarters of the National Geographic society.

"Pago Pago practically fell into the lap of a none too willing America while various powers were seeking island territory in the Pacific," continues the bulletin; "but if the entire South seas had been combed, with all the other nations standing deferentially by, a better location for a naval base hardly could have been chosen. Most South Sea harbors are little more than crescent bays, protected by coral reefs, their safety largely dependent on the direction of the wind. At Pago Pago ships sail into the heart of a huge extinct volcano crater, only a narrow entrance open to the sea. Furthermore, there is a sharp turn inside, the whole harbor being shaped much like the ankle and foot of a stocking.

Beautiful as Well as Safe.

"The United States naval station is situated on the 'instep,' its back toward the sea, but with high mountains intervening. Pago Pago town lies at the 'toe.' Most of the anchorage is entirely out of sight of the sea, and the ships lie in deep placid water even when destructive gales are blowing outside.

"Giving Pago Pago the premier place among South Sea havens does not do it justice. Many famous harbors are more commodious; but it is hardly too much to say that Pago Pago is at once one of the safest and most beautiful harbors in the world. A narrow strip of level land rims the harbor. Immediately beyond this strip the sides rise up steeply to mountainous heights, the sloping walls covered with varying shades of green, tropical vegetation. In addition to the naval station and Pago Pago town, three or four villages nestle close to the water's edge around the harbor, their thatched huts half hidden by coconut palms.

"The harbor of Pago Pago almost cuts the Island of Tutuila in two. This is the largest isle of American Samoa, 17 miles long and about five wide. The other American islands lie about sixty miles to the east. Only one, Tau, about five miles in diameter, is of importance, though two smaller isles are inhabited. Altogether the population of American Samoa is about 8,000, some 6,000 residing on Tutuila.

"American Samoa has been little spoiled by the civilization of the mother country, or that of other whites. Few whites reside in the islands besides the small group of missionaries and the officers, men and nurses at the naval station. Only one plantation is owned by a white man and only three or four whites have leaseholds. Practically the entire surface of the islands is owned in small tracts by individual natives. The United States even bought from individual landlords the 40 acres needed for its naval establishment.

"In the past the lava-lava, a sort of short skirt or kilt, was the only garment worn by both men and women. Now slight concessions are made. In Pago Pago or in the presence of whites the men add a sort of undershirt and the women a sort of jacket or smock. Among themselves, however, and in the outlying districts, the natives still let the lava-lava, tucked about the waist, serve in place of the white man's and white woman's more complex costume.

Natives Largely Self-Governing.

"In governmental matters, too, the United States has practiced laissez faire to an extent highly appreciated by the natives. The system employed so successfully by the Dutch in the East Indies has been adopted. An American naval officer stationed at the Pago Pago depot is appointed governor, but all officials under him actually exercising supervision over the natives are native hereditary chiefs. The islands are divided into three districts (ancient native divisions) with a native governor for each. Under the governors are chiefs of 'counties' (also ancient districts) and under the county chiefs are the village chiefs. The village chiefs have councils composed of the heads of families.

"The United States practices a certain measure of paternalism over its South Sea island wards. Copra, the dried meat of coconuts, is practically the only article of export. The government handles this crop for the natives, so assuring them a fair price. Free medical attention is furnished through naval medical officers, dentists, nurses and hospital corps men. The health of the Samoans is excellent and their numbers are increasing. During the 21 years of American control the population has grown 41 per cent."

Blind Pair Marry After Long Courtship

New York.—The blind led the blind to the altar in Adams Memorial Presbyterian church, where Joseph L. Bennett and Miss Eva Brasseur, both blind for more than twenty years, were married by Rev. Harold S. Rambo.

As he stood at the altar, the hand of his bride in his, Bennett, who is fifty-three, remembered her as a girl of twenty, his sweetheart then. She is now forty-nine.

"That is the way I shall always think of her," he said.

Mrs. Bennett became blind 22 years ago.

Bennett's hands fumbled as the bride shyly held her finger to receive the ring which neither will ever see. But they smiled.

The bridegroom lost his sight through the explosion of a stick of dynamite in a mine.

SATURDAY'S GAMES MAY DETERMINE GRID TITLE

Interest Directed to Six Focal Points Throughout Country Where Leading Elevens Will be in Action; Dartmouth at Chicago Ranks as Outstanding Contest.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Between sun up and sunrise tomorrow, the collegiate football championship of America can and possibly will come down to a definite decision in all or any one of six points throughout the country. One of these is the well known city of Chicago. The boys will have something of a large time voting the unbeaten Green out of the national title. If Dartmouth does finish second—good night Tosti.

The Middle West then would be able to point with pride to the fact that the so-called eastern championship lost to Chicago, who lost to Illinois, which lost to Michigan. Iowa and Nebraska. The East couldn't laugh off a sour one like that with a mouth organ.

However, Dartmouth should beat Chicago, unless a straight line happens to be the longest distance between two given points, which the writer is pleased to doubt.

Another focal point is Berkeley, Cal., where Stanford and California will meet for the championship of the coast and, mayhap, the entire country. Each is unbeaten. The writer has been ill advised enough as to count the Olympic club's victory over California as a definite liability when, as a matter of fact, this means less than nothing. The team that wins this game will be the Coast champion and possibly the national title holder as well.

Alabama Should Win.

A third point of national interest is Montgomery, Ala., where Alabama and Florida will meet, and a fourth is Columbia, Mo., where Missouri and Oklahoma are coupled. Alabama should beat Florida if only for the fact that the latter lost to Georgia Tech, which finished second to Alabama. Missouri, however, has picked up a live one in Oklahoma, which lost to Nebraska by three points, which lost to Missouri by exactly the same total.

Both Missouri and Alabama have been unbeaten, to date. So have Syracuse and Colgate, which are to meet in their annual catch-as-can at Syracuse. Colgate generally is favored to win, if only for the fact of the Orange's rather depressing 3 to 3 tie with Ohio Wesleyan last Saturday.

The sixth unbeaten big team is Tulane, which is scheduled to go into action against Sewanee. This should be a "breather," in view of the fact that Alabama "took" Sewanee for 27 to 0 earlier in the season.

Another game that might have an effect on the ultimate standing is the Yale-Princeton affair at New Haven. Both have been beaten, but there isn't the slightest reason to believe that they do not rank with the best in the land right at this moment. Yale should win but you could count Princeton out only when the referee tolls his fateful ten.

The Alabama Poly-Vanderbilt game seems like an even proposition when reckoned on comparatively scores. So does the Georgia Tech-Georgia contest. However, this line may be drawn through the equation: Vanderbilt smothered Tennessee, Tennessee beat Georgia, Tech beat Vanderbilt.

The Kansas Aggies-Nebraska game figures like another close one. Each lost to Missouri by three points, affording further proof of the fact that the man who framed the Nebraska schedule was not a man without ambitious ideas.

Then, of course, we have the weekly Big Ten conference difficulties, with Michigan and Iowa attempting to reinstate themselves. The Wolverines are due to play Ohio State and should win. The Hawkeyes are teamed up with Minnesota and also figure to survive the issue, if any. Another conference game will bring together Northwestern and Purdue. The former should win, particularly with Baker back in action.

The Pennsylvania-Pittsburgh affair should be closer than a split-second with no logical choice in view. Neither is there much choice between Penn State and West Virginia. However, Brown should beat Harvard for the fourth straight time, Columbia should finish second to the Army and New Hampshire should beat Maine.

By the same token, the three intersectional games on the list should run according to schedule, with Washington and Jefferson scoring over Detroit, Georgetown beating Centre, which has been taking it on the chin from all comers, and Notre Dame prevailing over Carnegie Tech in a close game.

THISTLES HERE IN LEAGUE TILT

Laughlins to Throw Full Strength Against Visitors.

The Homer Laughlin Soccer club will tackle the strong Glencoe Thistles, of Gove City, one of the top division teams of the Press Northwestern circuit, tomorrow afternoon at Newell.

Manager Shaw intends to take no chances on the outcome of the game that might endanger the standing of the locals which, at the present time, is at the top of the league alongside the Ellwood City Shelbys, and so the full strength of the club will be thrown into the battle with the Pennsylvanians.

The Thistles are a strong, aggressive outfit. They have lost but a single contest during the season. The majority of their players hail from Braddock and East Pittsburgh where soccer booms at all times.

The kickoff tomorrow will be made at 3 o'clock.

Probable lineup:

Grove City		Laughlins
Harris	Goal	Beech
Brown	R.B.	Bain
McKay	L.B.	Scarry
Price	R.H.	Mortenson
Hughes	C.H.	Mountford
Sinclair	L.H.	Ferguson
Allan	O.R.	Plant
Hughes	I.R.	Brown
Eaton	C.	Haugh
Watson	O.L.	Carnie
McGee	I.L.	Foster

Referee—Thomas (Beaver Falls).

Methuselah's Wife is Coming

FRIEDMAN HOGS GLORY
But Here's Second Choice Candidate

Ordinarily the task of selecting members of all-sectional or all-American teams is an open one, leaving much room for debate. There seems to be no dispute regarding Benny Friedman's selection as All-American quarter, any other year, however, Vic Salmi of Indiana, would be a candidate. He's a southpaw pass hurler.

'BRING BACK BALL' WOOSTER SLOGAN

WOOSTER, Nov. 13.—"Bring back that ball" is the slogan at Wooster college this week-end as the Wooster team preps for the game at Akron Saturday. There is a custom, in college football, that the winning team takes the ball.

From the beginning of the 1917 season until October 11,1924, not one of Wooster's opponents were able to take a ball away from Wooster. Then, when Wooster dedicated the new $50,000 football bleachers, Akron won from Wooster 7 to 6 and took the ball.

Wooster must have the ball this season to atone, in a measure, for the one lost last year. Students are reminded of it by placards on the campus, players are reminded by placards in the gymnasium.

Wooster's team is in good shape for the game. With no game on the card last week, Coach Boles' men were able to rest from the bruises of the game with State.

Wooster's 1925 season will end with the Big Red of Akron playing here November 21.

A. A. U. PLANS RULE CHANGES

Open Three-day Session Saturday in Pittsburgh.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13. — Numerous changes in the rules will be proposed when the Amateur Athletic Union opens its three-day annual meeting in Pittsburgh on Sunday, it became known today. One of them will deal with eligibility in noctive track and field events, providing that all athletes may compete as novices until they win a prize in a meet open to two or more clubs or colleges. Heretofore, school boys were barred from novice events after they won prizes in scholastic meets.

Another proposed amendment would require an athlete transferring from his club to a college at the beginning of a school term to transfer back to the same club at the end of the term or compete unattached for one year. A third would make the distances between the hurdles in the 440-yard event conform with the Olympic 400-metre hurdle standard.

FUGAZY LEASES EBBETS FIELD

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—It was announced today that Humber J. Fugazy, who successfully promoted the Greb-Walker and Willis-Weinert bouts for the benefit of the Italian hospital, had taken a lease on Ebbets field, Brooklyn, for next year for the purpose of promoting boxing and professional football. A franchise in the National Football league for 1926 was one of Fugazy's aims, it was said.

WANT TITLE BOUT FOR GOTHAM SHOW

NEW YORK, Nov. 13. — A lightweight championship bout between Jimmy Goodrich, of Buffalo, the recognized champion, and Luis Vicentini, of Chili, was discussed today as a possibility for the feature attraction at the annual Christmas fund show, Dec. 23. In the event that the bout is closed, Sammy Mandell and Sid Terris, two of the leading contenders for the title, would meet in the semi-final bout.

HAWLEY'S TEAM IN CHICAGO

Rest Before Clash Tomorrow With Stagg Eleven.

CHICAGO, Nov. 13.—Weary but otherwise fit for the morrow's ordeal, Dartmouth's big green team arrived here early today in quest of a national football title.

Then men were all in a jubilant mood when they alighted from their Pullmans to bask in the warmth of a typical Indian summer morning. The sudden change in weather was more than welcome since the easterners had held Thursday's practice on a rain driven gridiron at Flint, Mich.

"We are here to win any kind of a football game," said Coach Jesse Hawley to the band of alumni as his team gathered on the platform.

"After Chicago's showing at Illinois, we hardly expect anything but our hardest game of the season."

He intimated he would start the same team that kicked off to Cornell last week.

Hawley was assured the field would be in the best possible condition, straw having been scattered over the gridiron for the last week.

Stagg concluded preparations Thursday with a long scrimmage. "Five Yards" McCarty, fullback, injured in the Illinois game, was in uniform.

The clubs are expected to play before 35,000 fans.

Oldest Man in World is 140

London.—A man Who claims to be one hundred and forty years old and to be the only living person who saw Napoleon was described to the Royal Geographical society by H. St. J. B. Philby, former British representative in Transjordania.

His name is Hajj Tahir, and he states that he was born in Mecca, and went to Palestine at the age of twelve or thirteen, in 1799, when Napoleon was in Syria.

"He is sound enough in wind and limb," said Mr. Philby, "and has an enormous appetite, and, strangest of all, an indisputable power of mastication with the aid of what purports to be a newly sprouting, but still invisible, third set of teeth.

"The only serious weakness in his claim is that his offspring afford no relevant evidence of his age, as he declares that he committed matrimony for the first time at the age of seventy or thereabouts, and he has recently married again."

Mr. Philby added that, while Hajj Tahir claims to be one hundred and forty, he says that he was born in the year 1215 of the Mohammedan era or A. D. 1801, which would make his age one hundred and twenty-four.

OHIO SCHOOL SPORT GROWING

"Athletics Clean," Opinion of Commissioner Townsend.

COLUMBUS, Nov. 13.—High school athletics in Ohio are booming as never before.

This is the opinion of H. R. Townsend, commissioner of athletics of the state's high schools. Mr. Townsend took over his duties September 1, when the job was created, and he has spent a busy two months.

He believes that if the growing interest continues in high school football, every city of any size in Ohio will have stadia for the game within 10 years.

While Mr. Townsend's principal duties so far have been investigating claims of ineligibility of football players, he nevertheless declared that high school athletics in the state are "99 per cent clean."

"You won't find any high school football team using a player that does not belong," he said. "They don't run in ringers such as college players and the like.

He told of an incident in northern Ohio. The principal of a high school there found out that one of the football players had engaged in professional baseball this summer.

He personally reported the incident to Commissioner Townsend, and asked that the last five games in which the player had participated be declared void. This virtually wiped out his team's record for the season.

"The officials of a high school team are sometimes a little careless about their players, but there is never any intention to violate the spirit of fair play," Townsend declared.

Mr. Townsend plans to make a tour of the state's high schools as soon as the rush of football duties ends. He probably will start out the first of the year.

A football player himself in his college days, and later a coach of high school teams, the new commissioner is intensely fond of the sport. Before taking up his duties here, he was principal of a Hamilton high school for nine years.

BOONE WILL INSPECT EAST END LOT TODAY

Local Grid Mentor Believes Former Race Track Field Will Provide Better Playing Ground Than Mud at West End Arena; Expects to Make Decision Sometime During the Day.

BULLETIN

The East Liverpool-Toronto football game here tomorrow afternoon will be played at Columbian park, instead of at Patterson Field.

This was the announcement by Coach O. V. Boone following an inspection before noon of the two playing grounds. The East End field, the grid mentor pointed out, will afford conveniences for both players and spectators.

The game will start at 2:30 o'clock. Gross, of New Philadelphia, will referee; Pat Brannan, Warren, will umpire, and Reid, of this city, will be head linesman.

SCHOOL officials here today were considering the advisability of transfering Saturday afternoon's football game with Toronto high from Patterson Field, which this morning gave all the appearance of the proverbiel sea of mud, to the grassier confines of Columbian park in the East End.

Coach O. V. Boone, and other school authorities, this morning were scheduled to go to East End for an inspection of the lot there. Prior to their departure it was the local coach's opinion that in any event Columbian park undoubtedly would prove more usable than Patterson Field.

Practically all season, East Liverpool high, as well as a great many other teams throughout the country, for that matter, has been forced to perform in almost ankle deep mud, and players, as well as spectators, are finding the weekly occurrence of a monotonous nature. No small part of the brilliancy and natural attractiveness of the sport has been robbed this fall by incessant rains.

Should the contest be transferred to the East End lot, the change will be of benefit, undoubtedly, to both players and spectators alike. A decision on the matter was expected at noon today.

Toronto high gridders this season have won two games, lost four and tied one, but the fact that the Jefferson countians have played no handpicked schedule is to be taken into consideration.

They dropped their opener to New Philadelphia, 9 to 0 and on the following week trimmed Chester, 7-0. They then invaded Steubenville and took the count to the tune of 39 to 0. They lost, next, to Follansbee, the team that plays at Chester tomorrow, 13 to 6.

In their appearance the week following they gained a 16 0 decision over Mingo Junction and then turned around and lost to Weirton, 6-0. In last week's clash, they battled to a scoreless tie at New Cumberland.

Probable lineup:

Toronto		East Liverpool
Blackburn	L.E.	Perry
Schultz	L.T.	Hanes
Sutton	L.G.	Banks
Maag	C.	Larkins
White	R.G.	Irwin
Snyder	R.T.	Bough
Chaney	R.E.	E. English
Hinkle	Q.	Heddleston
McCarty	L.H.	Allison
Tulencik	R.H.	Reible
Smith	F.	P. English

"SHOW-OFF" IS CERAMIC HIT

Great American Comedy Delights Large Audience.

George Kelly's inimitable offering, "The Show-Off," which scored a sensational success in New York and Chicago, added to its list of admirers last night, when this great American comedy was presented at the Ceramic theatre.

An audience that taxed the capacity of the playhouse spent an evening in which mirth shared with pathos as the well balanced cast presented an amusing study of a typical American family. And in the characters on the stage were seen doubles of many friends of those in the parquet and balcony seats.

"The Show-Off" depicts the ridiculous conceit of some American youths who have an exaggerated opinion of their own importance and a general tendency to marry without the slightest regard for the economic consideration incident to the establishment and maintenance of a home.

Amy Fisher, daughter of an everyday family, is keeping company with Aubrey Piper, a flashy $32 a week clerk in the Pennsylvania freight office and in defiance of the counsel of her mother, brother and elder sister, who come into some knowledge of Aubrey Piper's matrimonial eligibility, Amy marries him. The cold economical fact which the enraptured lovers are obliged to contemplate after their marriage and the efforts of Amy's family to spare her the tragedy of her husband's incompetence and inability to support her makes a transcript of life in America today as irresistibly amusing as it is mercilessly faithful.

The offering scored even a bigger hit than "Applesauce," which won the plaudits of a large audience at the Ceramic several weeks ago.

Many Attend Euchre.

Large crowd attended the euchre held last evening in the hall over the First National bank, Third street and Carolina avenue, under the auspices of the women of the Sacred Heart Catholic church.

Revival Meets Continue.

Evangelistic services at the First Christian church are being largely attended this week. The sermons are being given by Rev. William Mart Miller, of Newport, Ky. Special music is being featured.

I will be at the city hall Saturday afternoon and evening for the purpose of collecting city taxes.

Actions of Demented Ant Described by Scientist

Zurich.—The story of a demented ant is recorded in the Swiss Archive for Neurology and Psychiatry with all due scientific seriousness by Dr. Rudolph Brun, widely known nerve specialist.

The ant was discovered in one of the artificially constructed nests for scientific observation. The insect ran about incessantly while others remained quietly in the corners of the nest, apparently shunning the demented one. The momentum of the wildly rushing ant was such that it was unable to stop when anything in its path was encountered.

After six days the ant was dissected and, under a microscope, it was found to have a tumor in the left lobe of the brain, which had destroyed several of the most important centers.

Shades of Light Now Used In Treatment of Many Ills

All Colors of Spectrum Are Suggested for Different Complaints by Briton.

LONDON—Remarkable possibilities in the treatment of all kind of illness by the use of different shades of light were outlined by Lord Clifford of Chudleigh, who for many years has been studying the action of colored light upon the growth of vegetation, in an interview here.

According to his Lordship, all the colors of the spectrum may be utilized for different complaints, and in future doctors may describe their patients by their color rather than by their symptoms.

"One shade of red is the most effectual in all cases of blood poisoning," said his lordship. "Ultra-violet produces a fermentation in the body which reduces hardness of tissue and also builds up tissues.

Violet Aids Bone

"A particular shade of violet causes the growth of bone; an indigo produces hydro carbonates and body tissues; a shade of blue produces muscular generation and strength; a shade of green increases the vitality and general energy of the system and also the growth of fat; yellow restores the nerves.

"It is as well to remember, however, that the greatest care must be taken that only the right shade of each color is used, or opposite results may be obtained.

"The treatment would also benefit most people suffering from premature old age and mental worry produced by past illnesses.

"I do not claim that this light treatment can make people of sixty feel like thirty-five," warned his lordship, "but it certainly can restore them to the state of activity and fitness they enjoyed a dozen years before.

"I also have strong hopes that the new method will eventually lead to a cure for consumption."

Rome's Mayor

Through action of Mussolini cabinet in giving Rome a separate state government, S. Cremonesi becomes governor of "Eternal City." He has been royal commissioner of Rome for some time.

Lord Clifford has had an adventurous career, during which he has farmed in New Zealand and Tasmania, where he owns about eight thousand acres of land.

Construction of a railroad, nearly 40 miles long, from the Transcontinental Line of the Canadian National Railways to the Rourn mining district, will cost nearly $3,000,000.

Q. How many women go in for scientific pursuits? J. T. McL.

A. Though the proportion of women in higher professions is still small, the number is increasing rapidly. In 1920 there were estimated to be 1714 women chemists and metallurgists, and 9048 women physicians, surgeons and dentists.

Q. How many is meant by a "few?" E. N. A.

A. The word "few" has never been authoritatively interpreted to mean a definite number. The word is necessarily indefinite and implies a small number, not many. In general, the number is above two. The word is relative in respect to the number to which it is compared. If a thousand were expected, an attendance of a hundred would be a few, while if a hundred were a maximum, ten or twenty would seem a few.

Q. How should an aluminum griddle be cured before using? W. E. R.

A. The Bureau of Home Economics says that it is not necessary to cure an aluminum griddle. It is only iron utensils that should be cured. When an aluminum griddle is used add an extra teaspoon of butter to the recipe in order to prevent the cakes from sticking.

Q. How much water flows over Niagara Falls? W. L. R.

A. The normal flow of water over the Falls is 500,000 tons a minute.

Q. Why were the old type wooden bridges covered? E. J. S.

A. The covered bridge is a survival of an ancient custom. A great many of these bridges were built before the Revolutionary war and their builders followed the methods used by the old European bridge builders. The object of covering the roadway of the bridge was for the purpose of protection against the weather, against possible riots and primitive weapons.

Q. What were the colored battalions in the Canadian Army during the World war? J. W. K.

A. The department of National Defense of the Dominion of Canada says there were no negro battalions with the Canadian army during the late war. While it is true that some negroes served with the Canadian forces most of them were employed with railway construction troops or labor battalions.

Q. What comprised the stock of a grocery store at the time of the Civil war? J. T.

A. A day book of a retail grocer located in a mid-western town shows the entire list of imported articles sold by him in 1862 as follows: Coffee, tea, figs, mustard, pepper, cloves, allspice, nutmeg, ginger, cinnamon, lemons, oranges, sage, prunes, raisins, almonds. Other foods handled by him were: Eggs, molasses, dried apples, dried peaches, cranberries, potatoes, sugar, vinegar, saleratus, butter, cheese, crackers, lard, smoked halibut, whitefish, dried herring, rice, syrup, salt, cream of tartar, beans, rye, coffee, peanuts, beef, veal, pork, lemon extract, onions, cabbage, turnips, native nuts. If this storekeeper had other foods they were not indicated on his charge account for two years.

Q. What was the price of admission to the London theatres in Shakespeare's day? J. C. D.

A. The price of admission to the theatre in the time of Shakespeare varied. In 1579 admission could be obtained for one penny and two pennies. In 1596 there was apparently a regular scale applicable to all entertainments. One penny was paid at the gate, another at the entrance to the building, and a third for quiet standing. From this time the prices began to rise repidly, and by 1604 there were both six penny and twelve penny seats.

HEIRESS BRIDE OF BROADWAY'S POPULAR SON

Mary Stafford Green and "Willie" Moore Wed in Connecticut.

REVEAL ROMANCE

Restaurateur's Son Marries Hettie Green's Granddaughter.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Mary Stafford Green, heiress to a fortune of $100,000,000, the charming and educated 28-year-old granddaughter of the former "Hettie" Green, one-time richest woman in the world, has become the bride of "Willie" Moore, 27, one of the most popular figures on Broadway and the son of "Dinty" Moore, New York's famous restaurateur.

The happy young couple are today occupying a sumptuous honeymoon suite, strewn with yellow peonies, at the Waldorf-Astoria.

They slipped away to Greenwich, Conn., on October 16, it became known today, and were married before Justice of the Peace Meade.

The romance has surprised and delighted Broadway, where "Willie" is a favorite. He was well-known as a champion ballroom dancer and had received several offers for vaudeville engagements. He turned them down, however, to act as manager of his father's place—"Dinty" Moore's, famous for 15 years as the resort of New York's theatrical and sporting element. "Dinty" Moore's "ham and cabbage" has been the delight of the visiting "big butter and egg men from the west" and other patrons for years. There was a time when "Dinty's" beer was the best.

The bride is the adopted daughter of "Col." Edward H. R. Green, the only son of the late "Hettie" Green. Hetty Green made her fortune in real estate and banking in New York. She lived frugally in a hall room bedroom, saved her money and amassed an enormous fortune.

Mary Stafford was adopted by "Col." Green when she was a child after her parents died. Both of her parents were warm friends of Green. Mary was educated at the finest schools in the United States. At his estate at Round Hills, Mass., one of the private show places of the world, Mary had every advantage money could bring—servants, tutors, cars, clothes and friends. She took many trips to various parts of the world.

After "Willie" and Mary slipped away to Greenwich and were married they went to Round Hills and were well received when they broke the news to the "colonel," who is described as "the millionaire radio bug." He turned over his mansion to his heir and her young husband. He gave the bride a wedding present said to be $1,000,000 in a lump sum and a beautiful string of pearls.

Silph Reducing Gum is the result of years of scientific study and experiments—it is different from anything ever advised to take off FAT. It is simple, safe, cheap and easy. Silph Reducing Gum is not a drug or a laxative; it contains juice extract of sea plants and herbs known for years to possess wonderful reducing properties. Silph sells for 50 cents a box, enough for one week, at all drug stores. Remember that to "CHEW SILPH IS TO BE SYLPH-LIKE," that's New York's latest slogan.

In case your druggist is out of Silph you can get from the Silph Medical Co., 9 W. 60th St., N. Y. City. Silph sells for 50c. per box or two full week's supply, $1.00.

U. S. CENSURED FOR USE OF LOCAL PRISONS

'Abominable Conditions' Blamed on Practice of Crowding.

DR. HART REPORTS

Investigation Reveals Many County Jails Unsanitary.

JACKSON, Miss.—The United States government is using one-third of all the city and county jails in the country without paying any rent, and is boarding out more than 7,000 prisoners—including many who are merely awaiting trial—to local jails over which the federal government has no control and many of which are desperately over-crowded, reeking of physical and moral filth.

Seeks Reform.

This, briefly, is the substance of a report submitted to the 55th annual congress of the American Prison association here by Dr. Hastings H. Hart, chairman of the association's committee on jails, formerly president of the association, now consultant in delinquency and penology at the Russell Sage Foundation in New York City. The committee during the last year has studied conditions in the 893 city and county jails and workhouses in which federal prisoners are kept.

Dr. Hart, who has been a member of the Prison association for more than forty years and is one of the world leaders in the movement for prison reform, declared in submitting the report that his study of the treatment of federal prisoners in county jails has revealed "such abominable conditions" that he expects to devote the remainder of his life to seeking a correction of these conditions, and that the Russell Sage Foundation will pursue its studies in this direction with a view to correcting these abuses.

The committee's report reveals that many of the county jails in which United States prisoners are confined, especially along the Canadian and Mexican frontiers and in large cities, are desperately overcrowded. In the Cook county jail at Chicago, for example, it has been customary to keep five prisoners in cells intended for one. Similar conditions have existed in Detroit, Cleveland, New York, and other cities where the criminal population has been multiplied while jail facilities have not been increased.

Many of the county jails are unsanitary; and a very large percentage infested with vermin. Most of them have an adequate staff of employes, who have had no special training and are politically appointed, selected without reference to their special qualifications for the job.

Results In Hardship.

The report says, "These conditions result in hardship, not only to the United States prisoners, but also to the local prisoners who are subject to the same conditions." It must be remembered that a large part of these prisoners are unconvicted and a considerable portion are subsequently legally proven innocent; that the law requires that persons accused of crime shall be treated as innocent until proven to be guilty; and that a large part of the prisoners serving sentence are held for non-payment of a fine, simply because they owe the government $10, $25 or $100.

"If they can pay the fine they go scot free; if not, they remain subject to punishment far more severe than that which is given to felons in the United States penitentiaries, while the United States authorities who commit them have nothing whatever to say as to the treatment, which they shall receive.

"Not only does the present system inflict hardship upon federal and county prisoners, but it inflicts great injustice upon the taxpayers in the counties where such prisoners are confined. The United States boards its prisoners in the various county jails and pays for their board at so much per day. The government tries to get as cheap a rate as possible. These rates range all the way from 20 cents per day in five jails in Porto Rico to 3 per day in three jails in Alaska. The average payment is 69 cents per day, but in 442 jails the payment is less than 69 cents.

"In fixing rates the government barters with the county officials in exactly the same way as a man would barter with a boarding house. One of the duties of the federal inspector of prisons is to make new rates as new institutions are used, and to attempt to keep rates at existing levels where jailers or other county officials interested demand more money.

"The government too often has been more interested in receiving a cheap rate than in securing good jails. The federal prison officials are necessarily following a practice imposed upon them by years of custom, and by the fact that appropriations are limited."

Brazil nuts, so popular in this country that more than half Brazil's crop comes here, are now comparatively scarce, only 7,000 tons being raised this year, leaving a shortage of 11,000 tons.

WALL STREET WORLD TYRANT, BERLIN SAYS

German Nationalist Warns Against Asking Loans.

REVIEWS MARKET

Claims Domestic Crisis Would Doom Economic Structure.

BERLIN.—"No tyrant of ancient times ever had such an unrestricted power over man like the financial magnates of Wall Street. While those tyrants decided on life or death of a restricted number of subjects, these Americans decide the fate of the whole civilized world," says a leader of the ultra-Nationalist Deutsche Zeitung, reviewing the investment market of the world.

Warning the German industrials of raising further loans in America, the leader continues:

"Two American experts have stated that American investments abroad amounted to about ten billion dollars. Increasing by one billion annually, these investments would amount to thirty billions in 1935, and to fifty billions in 1950. The entire economic structure of the world is bound to crash in the event of a domestic crisis in the United States.

Cites Case of Britain.

"We ask therefore, whether there is anything less considerate than erecting the structure of world's economy on such a shaky ground. Already now, proud Albion is dancing to the tune of Wall Street. When during the last month of Federal Reserve Board had to decide the question whether to heighten the bank rate the board decided not to do so because it did not like to disturb engagements at the New York Stock Exchange. Thus, England twice lowered the discount rate of the Bank of England. This lowering of the British rate meant a new influx of gold into the safes of American banks.

"It is erroneous to believe that American money will assist the European countries in their efforts to rebuild their industries. So far American credits have not essentially improved conditions in Germany. They only stimulated the desire for more credits. In their effect on Germany they are like cocaine, refreshing in the first moment, but compelling cocainists to take more and more of the poison.

"Secondly, American credits have no productive value. We should remember that the entire world is getting American credits. These credits will cause artificial fluctuations, and on these artificial fluctuations we are going to base our business. Even if of temporary value for German industries, the productive value of American credits will always be measured according to fluctuations on the world market. Within measurable time there will be a general inflation on the American investment market which will result in a disastrous crash of the entire European money market."

22 EXAMINED AT CLINIC HERE

Twenty-two persons were examined at the tuberculosis clinic held here Wednesday at the office of Dr. E. V. McEldowney in the Aaron building.

Dr. Henry G. Wildman, specialist in diagnosis of pulmonary diseases, was assisted by Dr. John B. Ahouse, county health physician; Dr. E. V. McEldowney, Miss Carolyn Brown, county health nurse; Mrs. J. M. Wells and Mrs. J. A. Todd, chairman of the Hancock County Tuberculosis league.

The test revealed only several active cases of tuberculosis.

Dr. Wildman conducted a clinic yesterday at New Cumberland, while two are scheduled for today and tomorrow at Weirton.

CHILDREN'S NIGHT COUGHS STOPPED AT ONCE

Children very frequently have spells of night coughing due to bronchial irritation, or while suffering from colds. These coughing spells, if not quickly checked, are very injurious to the child's health, to say nothing of the annoyance to others.

Now at last these night coughing spells can be quickly and safely checked at once with one swallow of a new prescription called Thoxine. Unlike mere cough mixtures, Thoxine gets at the cause. Coughing stops almost like magic. Also guaranteed to end sore throat within 15 minutes, or money refunded. No chloroform or other harmful drugs. Try Thoxine tonight. 35c., 60c. and $1.00 at all good druggists.

COLLEGE CAMPUS FREE OF AUTOS

Announcement was made to the Bethany college students yesterday that from now on automobiles of any size, shape or form driven by students would not be allowed on the college campus. In addition the faculty has decreed that all "gasoline driven vehicles" owned by students must be registered at the college office. This action was taken in order to put a stop to the reckless and dangerous driving done by students on the college drives and also to do away with the unsightly appearance of "Skeleton" or highly decorated "tin lizzies" parked about the college buildings. The faculty action does not banish student automobiles from the village but only from the college campus.

CITY SCHOOL JANITOR UNDER CIVIL SERVICE

Must Take Exam, State Inspector Rules.

SUBMITS REPORT

Total of 81 Findings Made by Miss Vivian Dowds.

Janitors in the East Liverpool district schools must undergo a civil service examination and be regularly appointed from eligibility lists, according to a report by Miss Vivian Dowds, state examiner with the bureau of Inspection and Supervision of Public Offices, which has just been received by County Auditor Hamilton and Prosecuting Attorney Brookes.

The examiner says that janitors in the East Liverpool district schools are "irregularly employed" inasmuch as they have not undergone a civil service examination, conducted by the local civil service commission. Citing section 486-8 of the general code, the report states that "the clerk has been instructed that all janitors be required to pass a civil service examination, given by the civil service commission of the city, and can be employed only from the eligible lists so created."

The ruling will affect every school janitor in East Liverpool, none of whom has ever undergone an examination.

Eighty-three findings were made in Miss Dowds' report, which covered the period beginning with June 3, 1924, ending September 17, 1925. Books in all school districts of the county were examined at the same time.

YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE ANSWERED

Was a Good Judge of Liquor

"Since a young man I had a liking for liquor and was considered a pretty good judge of it at one time, but constant drinking gave me stomach trouble, which became chronic. My stomach would have been a valuable addition to a gas factory. Doctors did not seem to relieve me. One day my druggist got me to try Mayr's Wonderful Remedy, and I am now as good as new." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Company, Atlanta, Ga. (adv.)

"Tiger Woman," Slayer of Mate, Kills Self, Unable to Live Without Him

"The tiger woman died because of her great love for the man she killed." Thus do New Orleans authorities explain the death of Mrs. Eleanor Fontana, 28, who committed suicide when she was released on bail after slaying her husband. She had been cruelly beaten and tortured for years, say physicians who examined scores of wounds upon her body.

Eskimos Prosper in Farming of Foxes

Nome, Alaska.—Frank Du Fresne, in charge of the Stewart peninsula for the United States biological survey, reports that Eskimos are taking a full part in developing the farming of foxes and the marketing of their pelts.

The south side of the peninsula is on Bering sea and the north on the Arctic ocean. On the north coast line, white men destroyed the Eskimo livelihood by annihilating the whales and burning the driftwood.

The Eskimos have taken to white foxes and some families are making incomes of $2,000 annually. From catching wild foxes and selling the furs, the natives have gone on to developing simple ranches.

The women do most of the work—it's the aboriginal way—but, Du Fresne pointed out, families threatened with extinction are beginning to thrive, though father sits around the cabin that has replaced the igloo.

YOUR HEALTH

What "Sinusitis" Is and How You Can Avoid It

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.,
United States Senator from New York,
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

DR. COPELAND

WE are in the season when colds and influenza may be expected. In and of themselves they are bad enough, but these miserable ailments are not satisfied to worry us in the conventional way.

If any one of the so-called respiratory diseases was produced by a single variety of germ, I suppose all the cases would be alike. But these diseases are associated with what we call "mixed infections." That is, there are two or more varieties of germs at work at the same time.

If properly lodged and nourished some germs live and thrive in the open, where air is free. Others seek dark, airless, hidden places to do their work.

The kind of trouble you are going to have depends on two things—the sort of germ to which you are exposed and your own resistance or susceptibility to its effects.

The bones of the face are hollow having a lot of spaces which open into the nasal cavities. These spaces are called the nasal sinuses. They are lined with the same kind of delicate mucous membrane which lines the nose.

You can readily imagine that there are lots of deep dark pockets, almost shut off from the open spaces. In these the air-hating germs can find a suitable place for rapid growth.

From time to time we have epidemics of colds which have involvement of the sinuses as a complication in a remarkably large percentage of cases. Inflammation of the sinuses—"sinusitis," as it is called—is a painful and trying affliction.

The opening or passageways into the sinuses may be narrow. A little swelling of the mucous membrane completely closes the opening. Then the secretion—mucus or pus, as the case may be—accumulates within the closed cavity. It is not long before the sensitive nerves are placed under such pressure that the pain becomes almost unbearable.

Because of the danger of sinusitis, every cold should be promptly and energetically treated. It is a mistake to disregard the ailment just because it is such a common thing in life.

I am telling you about this because the indications are that this year sinusitis may be a common disease. Avoid it by avoiding colds and by giving them immediate attention if they do come.

Fresh air, plenty of sleep in a well-ventilated room, simple food, and above all else, cleanliness of the hands and face will do much to prevent colds. The germs are carried by hands contaminated with the moist secretions of infected persons.

Knowing this much about sinusitis and its prevention, you should escape it.

Answers to Health Questions

L. C. R. Q.—Please advise me as to what would cause sneezing after a hearty meal?

A.—This is probably due to an irritation of some sort in the nasal passages. It might be wise to have your nose and throat examined, and in this way the proper treatment may be indicated to clear up the trouble.

S. S. S. Q.—I am a girl of 15, 5 feet 6 inches tall. What should I weigh?

2.—Should I use cold cream every night to have a fresh, clear complexion?

3.—How can flat feet be corrected?

A.—You should weigh about 125 pounds.

2.—If you take plenty of exercise and are careful of your diet it should not be necessary to resort to other means of gaining a clear complexion at 15 years of age.

3.—The proper shoes and arch supports will correct this condition. Consult an orthopedist and he will suggest the most suitable ones for your particular case.

P. O. Q.—Will you kindly advise me what to do for kidney trouble? Also what kinds of food are advisable for this condition?

A.—Since there are several different kinds of kidney trouble, it would be wise to consult a competent physician for a personal examination and have him prescribe for your particular case. He will also suggest a suitable diet when he has diagnosed your condition.

C. F. J. Q.—What are the causes of loss of weight?

A.—This condition may come from any of the following causes: A generally rundown condition, nervousness, which naturally affects the entire system more or less. It may come from anemia, or, in some instances, loss of weight is caused by the presence of a tapeworm. For further particulars, kindly send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

WORRIED. Q.—I am a married woman, 42 years of age, and have a weak heart. Does this indicate chronic heart trouble or can it be cured?

A.—A weak heart does not necessarily mean that one has chronic heart trouble. This condition may be much improved by the proper treatment. I would suggest that you consult your doctor and have him prescribe for you after he has made a thorough examination.

J. E. G. Q.—I am on my feet all day on a cement floor and my legs are tired all the time. I have suffered from this tiredness for about five years and it now seems to be getting worse. What should I do?

A.—You should have your doctor give you a careful examination to determine the precise cause of your trouble. He will be able then to suggest the way to secure relief.

Brass Buttons to Shine Again in German Court

Berlin.—The lackeys and flunkies at the executive mansion, the chancellor's palace, the official residence of the foreign minister, minister of the interior and other members of the cabinet are wearing happy smiles these days in anticipation of bright uniforms recently ordered by the government to supplant the somber black swallowtails which have been worn since the revolution.

The new liveries will be much simpler than those of 1914, yet they will lend such festive color to state dinners, receptions and other official functions as is felt to be compatible with republican simplicity.

There will be two forms of livery—gala and a small service uniform. The gala uniform consists of blue full-dress coat with bright gilded buttons, adorned with the eagle emblem of the reich; also a golden tassel and cord over the left shoulder, white waistcoat, black silk knee breeches, white silk stockings and black low shoes with bright buckles.

The small service livery consists of a black coat with eagle-adorned gilt buttons, yellow waistcoats and black trousers.

Gold Formula Fails

New York.—The Scientific American tells of the failure of its investigators, after nearly a year's research, to turn mercury into gold, as Prof. Adolph Miethe, German chemist, declares he has done.

Plane Is Destroyed by Furious Bull

Soignies, Belgium.—An infuriated bull vented its ire upon a disabled airplane recently and when the animal concluded that its job had been done the machine was beyond repair. The airplane carrying eight passengers from Paris to Brussels was forced down by a defective motor and landed in a pasture 15 miles from Brussels.

The bull, aroused by the chugging of the motor, made straight for it, while the pilot and passengers jumped out and made their escape in a mad rush across the field. The animal charged the machine again and again and kept at his work of destruction until the passengers got out of the danger zone.

Augsburg Confession's Original Draft Found

Nuremberg, Germany. — The original of the Augsburg Confession, which forms the doctrinal basis of the Lutheran church, has been found in the archives of the Germanic National museum, thus ending a search in which theologians and historians have been engaged for years. The Confession, drafted by Luther's friend and collaborator, Philipp Melanchthon, was sent on June 15, 1530, to Nuremberg's city council, and thence to the Diet convoked in Augsburg by Charles V.

Wives' Clothes Must Match Husband's Latest

London.—It is the fashion for husbands and wives, particularly those who pass a good deal of their time in the country, to have clothes which match. The duke and duchess of York on several occasions recently have appeared in tailored blue suits, the cloth apparently having been cut from the same roll.

A prominent Saville row tailor recently had a client who chose a suit of clothes from a smart pattern. He was told that there was just enough of the goods to make his suit.

"Is that all?" asked the customer. "Then I am afraid it won't do. My wife wants a coat and skirt off the same roll from which my suit comes."

Woman's Secret of Beauty

Beauty lies in the care a woman bestows upon herself and in keeping at bay those dread ailments peculiar to her sex, which drag her down and leave telltale traces upon her countenance. Sparkling eyes, the elastic step and a clear complexion never accompany organic troubles. Distressed expressions, a sallow complexion, dark circles under the eyes, lassitude, headaches and mental depression are the telltale symptoms of women's ailments. Women so troubled should not lose a day in taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, the most successful remedy known to overcome woman's ills and restore health and beauty.

NOW LOBSTERS ARE BEING HANDLED BY BOOTLEGGERS

"Shorts," Crustaceans Less Than Four Inches, Smuggled In Along Jersey Coast.

Highlands, N. J.—Lobster bootleggers are active off the New Jersey coast. Lying outside the three-mile limit of state jurisdiction, they buy "shorts" and smuggle their contraband ashore to resorts and even to the larger cities. A "short" is a lobster measuring less than four and one-eighth inches from butt of tail to tip of the horn at the head.

This traffic has reduced the average weight of the lobster caught in these waters from five pounds to one.

It is an icy day that keeps the lobster men ashore. Working usually two to a boat, 25 feet 11½ inches over all, open, cabinless and unprotected from weather, the fishermen in their quest anywhere from three to ten miles out are lucky if they net an average of $10 a day.

Four lines each containing from twenty to thirty pots keep two men busy. The pot is a wooden frame covered with laths one inch apart and containing an opening through a knitted cord arrangement which narrows from the entrance.

Decaying menhaden, caught by the fishermen of Sandy Hook bay, are threaded to the inside of the pot with copper wire and among the inedible sea crabs and unpopular ling—a quick dying fish—is found an occasional crustacean. Sometimes it is a "short."

Occasionally a heavy lobster is brought up, one taken this year having weighed seven pounds. Sometimes the pots yield a "shedder" in his annual round of casting off the old shell and putting on a new one. A prime delicacy, the latter die quickly and are of little commercial value to the lobster men.

Big Bear Tracks.
Double Wages, Double Values.
Stables and Theaters.
Lead to Cure Cancer?

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune).

(Copyright, 1925, by the Star Co.)

It was said on Tuesday that "tracks of the big bear" were visible in Wall street, and the little lambs went home with some of the wool clinging to their backs, after a 2,700,000 share day, one that would have startled finance in ordinary times. In these days big figures surprise no one.

Big men and little men ask themselves whether prosperity and boom times will contiue, and big men know, if possible, less than little men. The little men guess, so they have an even chance of being right.

Those that write financial and commercial history 50 years hence, will be amazed in observing the failure of Americans in 1925, to realize that when the average income of citizens doubles, values also double.

A laborer's cottage in China—if worth only what a Chinese laborer can afford to pay for rent out of his wages.

The same cottage, transported to the United States, may be worth 10 times as much.

The value of all things depends upon the value of human labor. While labor goes up, other values go up.

The federal trade commission is serious perhaps to earn its salary, but theatres to sell the theater commission says they cannot do so.

That is new and doesn't please the Constitution, which allows to own and use property if they injure others.

If Messrs. Zukor and Lasky cannot show their own pictures in their own theaters, what right has the express company to stable its own business in its own stables? Why not compel the express company to sell its stables or sell its horses?

Stables are no more closely related to horses than moving pictures to theaters.

If Zukor and Lasky cannot show pictures they manufacture in theaters they build and own, how can Standard Oil exhibit and sell the gasoline it manufactures in the thousands of gasoline stations that it builds and owns?

How can a manufacturer of shoes sell his shoes in his own stores?

If the trade commission will prevent as far as possible swindling and misrepresentation, and allow legitimate business men to do their business in a business way, it will be attending to its work.

Prof. Bell, a surgeon of authority, director of the Liverpool cancer research, announces to the Toronto Academy of Medicine a new and successful treatment of cancer. Fifty cases, including many considered absolutely hopeless, have been cured by injections of a lead solution.

One woman, with only a few weeks to live, was cured, so this responsible surgeon says, of a rapidly growing "spindle-cell sarcoma.'

If it is true that a poisonous lead solution can attack and destroy cancer tissues without destroying normal tissues, it means the saving of millions of lives, and, most important, it

LOCATE BRITISH M-1 IN DEEP WATER; FEAR ALL ABOARD ARE DEAD

Radio Message Reports Sunken Vessel's Position Three Miles From Point Where it Made Fatal Dive.

MINE SWEEPERS AND DIVERS BUSY

Naval Officers Say Imprisoned Seamen May Live in Steel Tomb Three Days if Craft is Undamaged.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—The fate of the British submersible Monitor, M-1, lost in the English channel yesterday, probably will never be known.

The submarine was located by rescue ships today, but in such deep water that divers can not go down to her and salvage. Officers state that it will be practically impossible to raise the vessel to the surface.

A radio message received at Portsmouth states that the M-1 has been located 12 miles southwest of Start Point on the Devon coast. This position is some three miles distant from where the submarine was last seen yesterday.

Mine Theory Advanced.

Sixty-nine officers and men aboard the submersible probably met a tragic death by drowning, according to naval men here. It is believed that when the M-1 made a dive yesterday that she struck a submerged mine, which exploded and tore a hole in her side, instantly flooding her and drowning the men within. Another theory which has been advanced is that the M-1 dove into a submerged wreck and sprung her plates, causing the ship to flood.

A sunken German submarine may have caused the tragic loss of the M-1, others said, for they pointed out that several German submarines were sunk off the Devonshire coast during the war and the M-1 may have run afoul one of these wrecks.

Salvage ships are reported still standing by, but with deep water and unfavorable weather there is only the barest hope that the M-1 will ever be raised to the surface.

May Not Raise Craft.

Further details have not yet been received and it is not known whether the submarine's position is such that she can be readily raised to the surface.

A later message received from the rescue ships stated that it is feared that it will be practically impossible to raise the M-1.

The class is composed of women.

PENNSY BLAMES ENGINEER FOR FLYERS' WRECK

Ten Killed, Six Seriously Injured at Monmouth, N. J.

21 OTHERS HURT

St. Louis Train Pilot Admits he Missed Signal.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., Nov. 13.—"Failure of the engineer to observe the signals," was the explanation of the Pennsylvania railroad today of the cause of the disastrous wreck near here yesterday of two crack Pennsylvania trains in which 10 persons were killed, six others so seriously injured that they may die, and 21 more received minor injuries.

The Mercantile express, from St. Louis to New York, sped past two block signals and crashed into the rear of the Washington-New York limited which was creeping through a fog at 10 miles an hour.

Engineer Timothy J. Carroll, of the St. Louis train, was suspended by Edwin T. Mander, an official of the road, after an examination.

"Carroll admitted he missed the signal," Mander said. "He will never again run a passenger train."

Engineer for 25 Years.

Carroll had been an engineer on the road for 25 years and never had a mishap. At the throttle of the St. Louis flyer, he ran by the first signal in the fog and was running past another when his fireman shouted. Carroll applied the breaks, but too late.

"It was carelessness,' said General Superintendent F. D. Davis of the New Jersey division of the Pennsylvania.

MAJOR DARGUE SAYS AVIATORS IN MANEUVERS WERE 'MUZZLED'

One of Mitchell's Charges Substantiated by Witness.

ORDER IS CITED

Testimony Given By Mrs. Lansdowne Stays in Record.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—In recent war maneuvers between the army air service and anti-aircraft forces, the war department "muzzled" the aviators while giving their opponents unlimited publicity, Major Herbert J. Dargue, of the army war plans section, testified today at the court-martial of Colonel William Mitchell.

Dargue declared an order was issued by the war department forbidding all publicity on the war tests held at Camp Dix, N. J., on July 27, last. The "publicity lid," he said, later was taken off for the coast artillery, but never revoked for the air service. This testimony substantiated Mitchell's charges that the war department frequently "muzzled" the army air service.

Another Technical Victory.

The story of Mrs. Margaret Lansdowne—that Capt. Paul Foley, navy judge advocate, attempted to persuade her to give "false testimony' in the investigation into the Shenandoah disaster—will stand in the records of the court martial.

A motion to strike the sensational testimony of the Shenandoah widow from the record was denied today, marking another technical victory rung up by Col. Mitchell in his efforts to prove the war and navy department's badly administered

Mitchell Defense Plans.

Testimony showing high military officers used the "lives of aviators as pawns" will be presented by Colonel Mitchell, it was learned today.

The Mitchell defense will link to this evidence some earlier testimony charging the army with diregarding a foreign air base in Central America, which menaces the Panama Canal, and the navy with ignoring recommendations for the improvement of America's defenses in the Pacific. Upon these points, the Mitchell defense will depend for an acquittal on charges of "unsoldierly conduct."

CHOIR DIRECTOR IN AUTO CRASH

John Colville Dickson, Sewickley, former choir director of the First Presbyterian church of this city, is recovering today from minor injuries which he received in an automobile accident last Sunday night while returning home from Youngstown.

While rounding a sharp curve on the road south of Youngstown the automobile overturned, pinning Dickson beneath it, where he was held for nearly a half hour before he could be extricated. Passengers from a Leetonia-Youngstown car, which passed by shortly after the accident occurred, turned the machine over and liberated Mr. Dickson.

Prof. and Mrs. Dickson were taken to a Youngstown hospital, where an examination was made of their injuries. Both suffered from the shock but were neither seriously injured.

Prof. Dickson was recently selected as director of the choir of the Epworth Methodist Episcopal church at Youngstown.

The church also plans to dispose of the present parsonage, in Orchard Grove avenue, as soon as Rev. S. Lee Whiteman, Sr., pastor, moves into the new church property.

COLORADO TOWN IS HAPPY AS COURT FREES DR. H. E. BLAZER

One Juror, However, Votes Against Acquittal.

PROSECUTOR ACTS

Former Salineville Physician Will go to New Mexico.

LITTLETON, Col., Nov. 13.—The town of Littleton was gradually recovering today from the throes of heart throbs and warm sympathy in which it has tossed during the trial of Dr. Harold Elmer Blazer, 61-year-old country doctor, formerly of Salineville, O., who was charged with the chloroform slaying of his idiot daughter, Hazel Ingrit Blazer.

Compassion for the old doctor still remained, mingled with expressions of resentment at the lone juror who stood against his 11 fellows and demanded Dr. Blazer be found guilty of willful, deliberate murder, and who declared he would continue to so stand "if a thousand ballots were taken."

District Judge Samuel W. Johnson, who presided over the "murder for love" trial, summed up the outspoken opinion of the townsfolk when he declared from the bench his belief that Dr. Blazer was insane on February 24, last, the day of the tragedy.

Will Be Sawmill Foreman.

The jurist, however, expressed satisfaction with the outcome of the trial—the freeing of the defendant without establishing a precedent that would, in effect, legalize the putting out of existence imbeciles and other defectives without lawful authority.

Prosecutor Joel Stone's prompt action in the nolle prosse proceedings and Judge Johnson's immediate discharge from custody of Dr. Blazer was being applauded today by all who had followed the trial.

Dr. Blazer plans to leave this week for Tierra Amarilla, N. M., just across the Colorado boundary line, where he will act as foreman in a sawmill during the winter months. He was cheerful today, "glad it's all over," and reiterated his earlier statements that if he killed his daughter he "certainly had no recollection of it."

Daughter Rushes to Father

Mrs. Frances Bishop, daughter of the physician, was not in the court room when the jury was dismissed. "Oh, they should have acquitted him—they should have acquitted him," she told a newspaperman who carried the news to her in the corridor outside. She then rushed in to talk to her father who was talking with his brother, Philip Homer Blazer of Magnolia, O., a host of relatives and friends.

ITALIAN WAR DEBT AGREEMENT WILL FACE BOMBARDMENT IN CONGRESS WHEN PRESENTED FOR RATIFICATION

Belief is Pact, Which Provides More Liberal Terms Than Accorded Other Debtors, Will be Approved.

BY GEORGE R. HOLMES

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—The Italian debt agreement, in which Italy is to repay money borrowed during the war on terms far more liberal than have been accorded any other debtor nation, is due for some congressional bombardment when presented for ratification, but the preponderant opinion in and out of congress today was that it will be overwhelmingly approved.

There will be some speeches made on American generosity, and some sympathy extended the American taxpayer by those who will point out the Italian settlement represents a net loss of around $75,000,000 a year, but in the end there will be plenty of votes for ratification. The net loss to the tax-payer is incurred through the difference in interest rates on the money involved in the debt. Italy will pay an average of ⅝ to 1 per cent. The treasury is paying an average of 4¼ per cent to holders of Liberty bonds.

In arriving at the settlement, both sides made substantial concessions. While it is true that the terms are considerably lower than the American negotiators had expected to grant, it is also true that the terms are considerably higher than the Italian negotiators thought at first they could meet.

Puts Cards on Table.

The accord was reached by Count Volpi laying his economic cards frankly on the table and inviting a most thorough inspection of them by the American conferees. Ten days of inspection convinced even Senator Smoot (R.) of Utah, that Italy's capacity to pay is considerably less than that of other European debtors.

Both sides were highly pleased today over the successful termination of the negotiations.

"America has been generous, very generous," said Count Volpi. "We are grateful. And we, on our side, feel we have been honest and frank."

The chief concern of the American commissioners today was the probable effect of the Italian settlement on the French debt of $4,000,000,000 which remains unfunded after two abortive conferences.

The Italian terms are considerably more lenient than anything offered France, and administration officials expressed no doubt today but that the French will lay claims to similar liberality when the negotiations are

Big Bear Tracks.
Double Wages, Double Values.
Stables and Theaters.
Lead to Cure Cancer?

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune).

(Copyright, 1925, by the Star Co.)

It was said on Tuesday that "tracks of the big bear" were visible in Wall street, and the little lambs went home with some of the wool clinging to their backs, after a 2,700,000 share day, one that would have startled finance in ordinary times. In these days big figures surprise no one.

Big men and little men ask themselves whether prosperity and boom times will contiue, and big men know, if possible, less than little men. The little men guess, so they have an even chance of being right.

Those that write financial and commercial history 50 years hence, will be amazed in observing the failure of Americans in 1925, to realize that when the average income of citizens doubles, values also double.

A laborer's cottage in China—if worth only what a Chinese laborer can afford to pay for rent out— his wages.

The same cottage, transported to the United States, may be worth 10 times as much.

The value of all things depends upon the value of human labor. While labor goes up, other values go up.

The federal trade commission perhaps to earn its s[illegible] theatres to sell the theater[illegible] mission says they cannot o[illegible]

That is new and doesn't the Constitution, which al[illegible] to own and use property if injure others.

If Messrs. Zukor and Lasky cannot show their own pictures in their own theaters, what right has the express company to stable its own business in its own stables? Why not compel the express company to sell its stables or sell its horses?

Stables are so more closely related to horses than moving pictures to theaters.

If Zukor and Lasky cannot show pictures they manufacture in theaters they build and own, how can Standard Oil exhibit and sell the gasoline it manufactures in the thousands of gasoline stations that it builds and owns?

How can a manufacturer of shoes sell his shoes in his own stores?

If the trade commission will prevent as far as possible swindling and misrepresentation, and allow legitimate business men to do their business in a business way, it will be attending to its work.

Prof. Bell, a surgeon of authority, director of the Liverpool cancer research, announces to the Toronto Academy of Medicine a new and successful treatment of cancer. Fifty cases, including many considered absolutely hopeless, have been cured by injections of a lead solution.

One woman, with only a few weeks to live, was cured, so this responsible surgeon says, of a rapidly growing "spindle-cell sarcoma.'

If it is true that a poisonous lead solution can attack and destroy cancer tissues without destroying normal tissues, it means the saving of millions of lives, and, most important, it

LOCATE BRITISH M-1 IN DEEP WATER; FEAR ALL ABOARD ARE DEAD

Radio Message Reports Sunken Vessel's Position Three Miles From Point Where it Made Fatal Dive.

MINE SWEEPERS AND DIVERS BUSY

Naval Officers Say Imprisoned Seamen May Live in Steel Tomb Three Days if Craft is Undamaged.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—The fate of the British submersible Monitor, M-1, lost in the English channel yesterday, probably will never be known.

The submarine was located by reserve ships today, but in such deep water that divers can not go down to her and salvage. Officers state that it will be practically impossible to raise the vessel to the surface.

A radio message received at Portsmouth states that the M-1 has been located 12 miles southwest of Start Point on the Devon coast. This position is some three miles distant from where the submarine was last seen yesterday.

Mine Theory Advanced.

Sixty-nine officers and men aboard the submersible probably met a tragic death by drowning, according to naval men here. It is believed that when the M-1 made a dive yesterday that she struck a submerged mine, which exploded and tore a hole in her side, instantly flooding her and drowning the men within. Another theory which has been advanced is that the M-1 dove into a submerged wreck and sprung her plates, causing the ship to flood.

A sunken German submarine may have caused the tragic loss of the M-1, others said, for they pointed out that several German submarines were sunk off the Devonshire coast during the war and the M-1 may have run afoul one of these wrecks.

Salvage ships are reported still standing by, but with deep water and unfavorable weather there is only the barest hope that the M-1 will ever be raised to the surface.

May Not Raise Craft.

Further details have not yet been received and it is not known whether the submarine's position is such that she can be readily raised to the surface.

A later message received from the rescue ships stated that it is feared that it will be practically impossible to raise the M-1.

PENNSY BLAMES ENGINEER FOR FLYERS' WRECK

Ten Killed, Six Seriously Injured at Monmouth, N. J.

21 OTHERS HURT

St. Louis Train Pilot Admits he Missed Signal.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., Nov. 13.—"Failure of the engineer to observe the signals," was the explanation of the Pennsylvania railroad today of the cause of the disastrous wreck near here yesterday of two crack Pennsylvania trains in which 10 persons were killed, six others so seriously injured that they may die, and 21 more received minor injuries.

The Mercantile express, from St. Louis to New York, sped past two block signals and crashed into the rear of the Washington-New York limited which was creeping through a fog at 10 miles an hour.

Engineer Timothy J. Carroll, of the St. Louis train, was suspended by Edwin T. Mander, an official of the road, after an examination.

"Carroll admitted he missed the signal," Mander said. "He will never again run a passenger train."

Engineer for 25 Years.

Carroll had been an engineer on the road for 25 years and never had a mishap. At the throttle of the St. Louis flyer, he ran by the first signal in the fog and was running past another when his fireman shouted. Carroll applied the breaks, but too late.

"It was carelessness,' said General Superintendent F. D. Davis of the New Jersey division of the Pennsylvania.

MAJOR DARGUE SAYS AVIATORS IN MANEUVERS WERE 'MUZZLED'

One of Mitchell's Charges Substantiated by Witness.

ORDER IS CITED

Testimony Given By Mrs. Lansdowne Stays in Record.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—In recent war maneuvers between the army air service and anti-aircraft forces, the war department "muzzled" the aviators while giving their opponents unlimited publicity, Major Herbert J. Dargue, of the army war plans section, testified today at the court-martial of Colonel William Mitchell.

Dargue declared an order was issued by the war department forbidding all publicity on the war tests held at Camp Dix, N. J., on July 27, last. The "publicity lid," he said, later was taken off for the coast artillery, but never revoked for the air service. This testimony substantiated Mitchell's charges that the war department frequently "muzzled" the army air service.

Another Technical Victory.

The story of Mrs. Margaret Lansdowne—that Capt. Paul Foley, navy judge advocate, attempted to persuade her to give "false testimony' in the investigation into the Shenandoah disaster—will stand in the records of the court martial.

A motion to strike the sensational testimony of the Shenandoah widow from the record was denied today, marking another technical victory rung up by Col. Mitchell in his efforts to prove the war and navy department's badly administered

Mitchell Defense Plans.

Testimony showing high military officers used the "lives of aviators as pawns" will be presented by Colonel Mitchell, it was learned today.

The Mitchell defense will link to this evidence some earlier testimony charging the army with diregarding a foreign air base in Central America, which menaces the Panama Canal, and the navy with ignoring recommendations for the improvement of America's defenses in the Pacific. Upon these points, the Mitchell defense will depend for an acquittal on charges of "unsoldierly conduct."

CHOIR DIRECTOR IN AUTO CRASH

John Colville Dickson, Sewickley, former choir director of the First Presbyterian church of this city, is recovering today from minor injuries which he received in an automobile accident last Sunday night while returning home from Youngstown.

While rounding a sharp curve on the road south of Youngstown the automobile overturned, pinning Dickson beneath it, where he was held for nearly a half hour before he could be extricated. Passengers from a Leetonia-Youngstown car, which passed by shortly after the accident occurred, turned the machine over and liberated Mr. Dickson.

Prof. and Mrs. Dickson were taken to a Youngstown hospital, where an examination was made of their injuries. Both suffered from the shock but were neither seriously injured.

Prof. Dickson was recently selected as director of the choir of the Epworth Methodist Episcopal church at Youngstown.

COLORADO TOWN IS HAPPY AS COURT FREES DR. H. E. BLAZER

One Juror, However, Votes Against Acquittal.

PROSECUTOR ACTS

Former Salineville Physician Will go to New Mexico.

LITTLETON, Col., Nov. 13.—The town of Littleton was gradually recovering today from the throes of heart throbs and warm sympathy in which it has tossed during the trial of Dr. Harold Elmer Blazer, 61-year-old country doctor, formerly of Salineville, O., who was charged with the chloroform slaying of his idiot daughter, Hazel Ingrit Blazer.

Compassion for the old doctor still remained, mingled with expressions of resentment at the lone juror who stood against his 11 fellows and demanded Dr. Blazer be found guilty of willful, deliberate murder, and who declared he would continue to so stand "if a thousand ballots were taken."

District Judge Samuel W. Johnson, who presided over the "murder for love" trial, summed up the outspoken opinion of the townsfolk when he declared from the bench his belief that Dr. Blazer was insane on February 24, last, the day of the tragedy.

Will Be Sawmill Foreman.

The jurist, however, expressed satisfaction with the outcome of the trial—the freeing of the defendant without establishing a precedent that would, in effect, legalize the putting out of existence imbeciles and other defectives without lawful authority.

Prosecutor Joel Stone's prompt action in the nolle prosse proceedings and Judge Johnson's immediate discharge from custody of Dr. Blazer was being applauded today by all who had followed the trial.

Dr. Blazer plans to leave this week for Tierra Amarilla, N. M., just across the Colorado boundary line, where he will act as foreman in a sawmill during the winter months. He was cheerful today, "glad it's all over," and reiterated his earlier statements that if he killed his daughter he "certainly had no recollection of it."

Daughter Rushes to Father

Mrs. Frances Bishop, daughter of the physician, was not in the court room when the jury was dismissed. "Oh, they should have acquitted him—they should have acquitted him," she told a newspaperman who carried the news to her in the corridor outside. She then rushed in to talk to her father who was talking with his brother, Philip Homer Blazer of Magnolia, O., a host of relatives and friends.

Ulster Chieftain Seeks Peace, But Is Ready to Fight

BELFAST, Nov. 13.—"I pray for peace but we are ready to fight in the open against our enemies who would take our loved soil from Ulster," declared Premier Craig in a speech to Orangemen. The premier was referring to the forthcoming boundary report, which it is stated will cede to the Irish Free State a portion of Ulster soil, but will also give Ulster some of the territory now held by the Free State.

SURRENDER

The Story Of A Girl Who Dared

By Edgar Doe Morris

CHAPTER 94.

"I'm a friend of Miss Vaine's from out of town, and I have misplaced her address. Would you be so kind as to give it to me?"

The assistant treasurer of the Jolly Theatre, looking through the brass bars of the boxoffice, was so impressed by Amoura Ainsley's chic appearance that he forgot to scowl, and obligingly obtained the information by calling the stage manager on the house-telephone.

Thus it was that Amoura was able to locate Miss Vera Vaine's apartment in a house in the fifties. A negroid voice, belonging to the actress' maid, answered the telephone call from the lobby.

"Mis' Vaine iz jes' havin' her brackfus.'"

"Ask her, please, if she will see Miss Amoura Ainsley."

A pause, and awkward steps on a polished floor.

"Mis' Vaine, they's a lady name Mis' 'Mora Ainsley callin'."

"Ainsley? Ainsley? I've heard that name somewhere. Somebody wanting help, I suppose. Well, ask her to come up." Vera Vaine was not above helping a girl who needed it.

The two women looked each other over colly when they met. There was something magnetic in their glance, like the clash of symbals.

The actress, scantily clothed, her hair awry, was propped up in a low bed upon which everything, sheets, pillow cases, silken comforters, was pink. She tried to place the face of the visitor, but quickly gave it up.

"Just sit down anywhere you can find a place," she said. "Josie, you may take away the tray," she directed. Vera Vaine always handled her servants impressively in the presence of others.

"I am Miss Amoura Ainsley—from Westland.'

The actress' mouth wrinkled as she heard the last words.

"I am the fiancee of Phillip Weinrich.'

"Pardon me, but I BELIEVE I AM the FIANCEE of Philip Weinrich."

Amoura kept herself in hand. "That is why I came,' she said, with a show of hesitancy. "Philip has just told me about you."

"Well?" The actress picked a nail file from a stand at her side and began mannipulating it. The whirrring sound grated on Amoura's ears.

"Of course, I want Philip to do the right thing."

"Well, the right thing for Philip Weinrich to do is to marry me,' the actress said.

"You mean?"

"Exactly what I say. He told me he loved me, and I gave him my heart. God, how I loved him!" She bowed her head.

"LOVED him? Then you don't love him now?"

Vera Vaine raised her head, her eyes flashing.

"So he sent you spying around, did he! Get the hell out of here!"

Amoura held her ground resolutely.

"No, he told me not to come. Please listen to me, Miss Vaine. I love him. I have loved him almost since childhood. I only want him to be happy. If—if you are capable of making him a better wife than—than I am, then you should have him.'

The actress regarded her narrowly. The evident sincerity of this womanly appeal touched her. There is no way to combat such sentiment. "I only want him to do the right thing,' she murmured at length.

"He has obligated himself to you?"

Vera Vaine preferred to misunderstand the question. "I love him, too, and I want him to be happy, too. He told me that I was the only women he had ever loved."

Amoura winced, but struck back. "Are you sure he said that, Miss Vaine?" Her glance bored into the eyes of the actress.

"Yes," the other lied.

"I don't believe it. I don't believe you love him, or that you ever have loved him," Amoura said in a sudden burst of passion. "You're a scheming woman after his money. And YOU'RE NOT GOING TO GET IT!"

The actress threw the covers off the bed and jumped out. "I'll kill you, you—you," she screamed, turning wildly around until her hands rested on a vase.

A door was jerked open, and the maid entered.

Amoura, almost frightened out of her wits by this sudden turn of affairs, made a dash for the portal.

"Catch her, Josie; hold her. I'm going to kill her," the actress screamed again.

The negro, stiff with astonishment, just stared an Amoura gained the hallway, slamming the door behind her. Breathless, she ran past the elevator and down the stairs.

Ulster Chieftain Seeks Peace, But Is Ready to Fight

BELFAST, Nov. 13.—"I pray for peace but we are ready to fight in the open against our enemies who would take our loved soil from Ulster," declared Premier Craig in a speech to Orangemen. The premier was referring to the forthcoming boundary report, which it is stated will cede to the Irish Free State a portion of Ulster soil, but will also give Ulster some of the territory now held by the Free State.

SURRENDER

The Story Of A Girl Who Dared

CHAPTER 94.

"I'm a friend of Miss Vaine's from out of town, and I have misplaced her address. Would you be so kind as to give it to me?"

The assistant treasurer of the Jolly Theatre, looking through the brass bars of the boxoffice, was so impressed by Amoura Ainsley's chic appearance that he forgot to scowl, and obligingly obtained the information by calling the stage manager on the house-telephone.

Thus it was that Amoura was able to locate Miss Vera Vaine's apartment in a house in the fifties. A negroid voice, belonging to the actress' maid, answered the telephone call from the lobby.

"Mis' Vaine iz jes' havin' her brackfus.'"

"Ask her, please, if she will see Miss Amoura Ainsley."

A pause, and awkward steps on a polished floor.

"Mis' Vaine, they's a lady name Mis' 'Mora Ainsley callin'."

"Ainsley? Ainsley? I've heard that name somewhere. Somebody wanting help, I suppose. Well, ask her to come up." Vera Vaine was not above helping a girl who needed it.

The two women looked each other over colly when they met. There was something magnetic in their glance, like the clash of symbals.

The actress, scantily clothed, her hair awry, was propped up in a low bed upon which everything, sheets, pillow cases, silken comforters, was pink. She tried to place the face of the visitor, but quickly gave it up.

"Just sit down anywhere you can find a place," she said. "Josie, you may take away the tray," she directed. Vera Vaine always handled her servants impressively in the presence of others.

"I am Miss Amoura Ainsley—from Westland.'

The actress' mouth wrinkled as she heard the last words.

"I am the fiancee of Phillip Weinrich.'

"Pardon me, but I BELIEVE I AM the FIANCEE of Philip Weinrich."

Amoura kept herself in hand. "That is why I came,' she said, with a show of hesitancy. "Philip has just told me about you."

"Well?" The actress picked a nail file from a stand at her side and began mannipulating it. The whirrring sound grated on Amoura's ears.

"Of course, I want Philip to do the right thing."

"Well, the right thing for Philip Weinrich to do is to marry me,' the actress said.

"You mean?"

"Exactly what I say. He told me he loved me, and I gave him my heart. God, how I loved him!" She bowed her head.

"LOVED him? Then you don't love him now?"

Vera Vaine raised her head, her eyes flashing.

"So he sent you spying around, did he! Get the hell out of here!"

Amoura held her ground resolutely.

"No, he told me not to come. Please listen to me, Miss Vaine. I love him. I have loved him almost since childhood. I only want him to be happy. If—if you are capable of making him a better wife than—than I am, then you should have him.'

The actress regarded her narrowly. The evident sincerity of this womanly appeal touched her. There is no way to combat such sentiment. "I only want him to do the right thing,' she murmured at length.

"He has obligated himself to you?"

Vera Vaine preferred to miscunderstand the question. "I love him, too, and I want him to be happy, too. He told me that I was the only women he had ever loved."

Amoura winced, but struck back. "Are you sure he said that, Miss Vaine?" Her glance bored into the eyes of the actress.

"Yes," the other lied.

"I don't believe it. I don't believe you love him, or that you ever have loved him," Amoura said in a sudden burst of passion. "You're a scheming woman after his money. And YOU'RE NOT GOING TO GET IT!"

The actress threw the covers off the bed and jumped out. "I'll kill you, you—you," she screamed, turning wildly around until her hands rested on a vase.

A door was jerked open, and the maid entered.

Amoura, almost frightened out of her wits by this sudden turn of affairs, made a dash for the portal.

"Catch her, Josie; hold her. I'm going to kill her," the actress screamed again.

The negro, stiff with astonishment, just stared an Amoura gained the hallway, slamming the door behind her. Breathless, she ran past the elevator and down the stairs.

EAST LIVERPOOL — AMERICA'S POTTERY CENTER

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 13, 1925.

Neighboring Cities Football Champions

The East Liverpool district today boasts of two potential scholastic championship football teams in the squads of the Ceramic City and Chester high schools.

The Potters, although they have not played Leetonia, virtually clinched the Columbiana county title last Saturday, when they defeated the East Palestine gridiron representatives by a 6-to-0 score.

And Chester, which has rounded out a team that has made a name for itself on the football field this season, expects to take the scalp of the New Cumberland eleven on Thanksgiving Day at Rock Springs park, thus removing the remaining obstacle in the march to the Hancock county championship.

East Liverpool's holiday tilt will be against the John Marshall high school, of Cleveland, which was booked when it was apparent there was no likelihood of restoration during the 1925 season of athletic relations with Wellsville.

However, both East Liverpool and Chester face hard battles tomorrow, and while the results will have no bearing upon their championship claims they realize a defeat means a black mark upon their records.

The Ceramic City eleven faces Toronto, one of Jefferson county's speedy teams, at Patterson Field, while Chester will oppose the strong Follansbee school squad on the Rock Springs lot.

Both East Liverpool and Chester are thirsty for another victory, for defeat of Toronto should add lustre to the locals' achievements this season, while a victory for Coach Wild's proteges in the Chester game means another feather in the cap of the Hancock countians inasmuch as Follansbee is recognized as Brooke county's title holder and a contender for the West Virginia high school championship.

Football fans, with the principals in the games tomorrow and on Thanksgiving Day having so much at stake, these battles should be worth seeing.

A Land Yacht

For years yachtsmen have wondered why, with all the motor touring that goes on, comfortable and efficient "land yachts" have not been designed. Here and there one sees a little house on wheels designed by some foresighted person, but usually they are clumsy, and never have they been turned out standardized and in quantities.

One built a couple of years ago by a mid-western man embodies some interesting ideas. It is 25 feet long, with a beam of 7 feet. It weighs 7,200 pounds and is carried on a Ford chassis. A newspaper furnishes details as follows:

"In this space of 7 by 25 feet there is a 7 by 10 kitchen, a living room 7 by 10 and a Pullman sleeping compartment 4 by 7 with two Pullman berths. The kitchen contains a three-burner cook stove, a sink, running water, cupboards and a built-in table. The living room is furnished with a phonograph, chairs and a wardrobe, and may be used as a sleeping room at night. On the rear is the observation platform, furnished in the fashion of one Pullman company's observation trains."

This begins to approach the average small yacht in getting conveniences into small space. It is probably larger than necessary. There will undoubtedly be a great development in this kind of thing in the next few years.

Motor Cars Help Railroads

If motor cars are taking business from the railroads, they are also giving business to the railroads. This is a fact generally ignored.

J. S. Marvin, of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, gives some surprising figures. Last year, he says, there were 735,000 carloads of automobiles and parts shipped on the railroads. But that is only a small part of it. Total automotive freight, including fuel, highway materials, etc., amounted to about 2,630,000 carloads. Thus the motor car business furnished more than one-fourth of all the manufacturers' traffic handled by the rail lines.

This is certainly a great deal more business than automobiles and trucks have taken away from the railroads. So we are driven to the unexpected conclusion that the motor industry, instead of hurting the railroad industry, is one of the big factors in promoting railroad prosperity.

Southern Prosperity

There is no longer any question about southern prosperity. The south has come back. To ordinary business statistics which tell their story of cold facts, regarding crops and industries, a survey by Harvard university adds this clinching bit of human evidence:

The south today is buying more jewelry than any other section of the country. The average southern jeweler has sold twice as much stock during the past year as the average jeweler elsewhere, and about three times as much as northern jewelers. The southern market for diamonds is especially good.

People do not buy jewelry when they are hard up. Diamonds are a touchstone of prosperity.

The north and west are prosperous, too, but apparently not so conscious of it as the south. And while the south buys diamonds, the north buys southern real estate—thereby enabling the south to buy more diamonds.

High Spots In The Life of Little Stanley, The Great Explorer — By F. Fox

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Thoughts and scenes while strolling around New York: The big black cat in a florist's window near the Hippodrome. A marcelled lad with kohled eyes. New York women are always well shod. Why is that?

Tommy Meighan and his derby. Maud S., the race horse, used to graze on the present site of the Biltmore. And 44th street was the big meat market. What ever became of the kaiser's Christmas dinner in Paris? And patched trousers. The sidewalk magazine stand near the Casino.

An auto with a warning bass drum boom. What bright idiot thought of that? Pomp of a prouder day—a house with shutters. A newsboy whose constant cry is "Fire, Murder, Death!" Opera choristers sunning fur-colored coats.

The row of second-hand clothing shops near the Pennsylvania station. Last stand of the sidewalk clothes dummy. Ceylon cafes with strange smells. Old coin shops with skull-capped proprietors. Itinerant Turkish rug vendors. Those strange station loafers with pig eyes and bulging necks.

The Flatiron building like a plowshare ready to furrow Broadway. The white-whiskered old man who walks up lower Fifth avenue at dusk. Blazing charcoal pans heating potatoes and chestnuts for 14th street pedestrians. They eat as they walk.

A flashing peep of a pallid face in an ambulance. Sign: "As near beer as we can make it." Old women in capes. Young girls in imitation sable. And young men who try to appear tough. Save when they see a policeman. Glittering cafes with alphabetical names.

Barber shops with sporty loungers. Immigrants from Ellis Island at Job agencies. A luncheon called The Cutie. Bizarre movies featuring vamps. How I'd like to own Rin-tin-tin! Sailors making sidewalk love. Chummy little world.

I made an annual excursion to the movies the other night. A trick soprano did one of those racy trill things. You guessed it! The song was "Comin' Thro the Rye." There was a launching of a battleship and the close-up of the governor's daughter. The kettle drummer was excellent and the ushers polite. There was a film.

That paragraph creaks with sophistication. Everybody enjoyed themselves. I can be entertained by curb fakirs and pavement Charleston dancers and yet somehow movies do not click. They seem to drag. Perhaps it is the director or the star. Or maybe I don't "get" them.

One of the movie houses serves a light collation in its foyer—tasty sandwitches and cool lemonade. The mural decorations are by an old-world master. The symphony orchestra is better than you hear sometimes at Carnegie Hall. And 20 years ago they were playing to 5-cent admissions in abandoned storerooms and tiny tunes of cigaret-smoking piano players.

Frisco is becoming one of the most celebrated of the Broadway cafe clowns. Born Louis Joseph in—of all places—Dubuque, Iowa, the rather gloomy-visaged jazz dancer has stuttered his way to Broadway fame. Surrounded by smoke from his ever present "heater" and clinging to the Fall of '90 derby, he wanders from cafe to supper club spilling his stuttering wheezes. From Dubuque he went to Colisimo's in Chicago, thence to New Orleans and on to New York—his first appearance being on the old Midnight Frolic Roof. He has not appeared on the stage for some time. He would rather wander about with his cap and bells, choosing his own audiences. He does not drink.

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Teaching the Deaf.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 13.—The argument of one of the wisest philosophers of ancient Greece that persons born deaf have no souls and are incapable of instruction has been refuted many times over. In the United States most of the credit for disproving this theory belongs to Thomas Hopkins Gallaudet, who established at Hartford, Connecticut, the first permanent school for deaf children.

At first the course of study was very limited, but gradually the duration of the school course was lengthened and the number of studies increased. While it is thought that Gallaudet probably believed that deaf people of good mental capacity should have an opportunity to pursue a higher education, he did not live to see his hopes realized. It remained for his youngest son, Edward Miner Gallaudet, to bring them to fulfillment.

The younger Gallaudet saw his opportunity of carrying out his father's idea of a course of higher instruction for the deaf in a call he received in 1857 to take charge of the newly established institution for the deaf and blind in the District of Columbia.

Amos Kendall, a philanthropist of Washington, became interested in several deaf children whom he found in the poorer districts and brought them to his country estate, hiring an instructor for them. In 1846 he gave a house and three acres of land to establish a school for the deaf. Afterwards he made it possible for the school to purchase additional land and it now covers an area of approximately 104 acres.

In 1857 an Act of Incorporation was obtained from congress establishing the Columbia Institution for the Instruction of the Deaf and Dumb and the Blind. The instruction of the blind was soon turned over to an institution in Maryland.

This act also provided that the federal government should give financial assistance to this institution. The present institution still receives financial aid through appropriations from congress. The general management and the disbursement of all funds are under the supervision of a board of directors composed of eleven members, three of whom represent congress. Two are appointed by the speaker of the house of representatives and the other is a member of the senate and is appointed by the vice president.

In 1864 Abraham Lincoln signed an act which granted the Columbia institution power to confer college degrees upon its graduates, and a collegiate department was opened that year. Until 1887 the school was only open to men, but in that year it was decided to allow women to matriculate. The advanced department was first known as the National Deaf Mute college, but in 1894 it was changed to Gallaudet college in honor of Thomas Hopkins Gallaudet, at the request of the graduates.

Free Scholarships.

Congress has provided 125 free scholarships to Gallaudet college for those deaf young men and women who can not afford to pay tuition. Also most of the states of the union provide scholarships for graduates of the state schools. In addition to those students who enter under scholarships are pay pupils. There have been a number of these from Canada, England, Wales and the Philippine Islands.

The course is five years, one year being devoted to preparatory work. During the preparatory year pupils are required to take plane geometry, advanced algebra, Latin, English composition, early European history and drawing. The college curriculum is similar to that of colleges teaching hearing students, although the study of mathematics through elementary mechanics is insisted upon whereas in many colleges students are not required to continue mathematics.

More time is also devoted to manual training than is usually the case in hearing schools. Students are given an opportunity to learn the art of printing, to take special work in chemistry and in agriculture. Some pupils are allowed to take up bacteriology, higher mathematics, electricity and advanced chemistry.

The president of the college says that about 98 per cent of the graduates are self-supporting. Many have attained marked success. The senior member of a well known firm of architects is a graduate of Gallaudet. Many have achieved success as ministers and teachers of the deaf. Others have entered law, dentistry, real estate, printing and publishing. This, of course, applies principally to men graduates.

When asked along what lines the women graduates achieved the greatest success, the president laughed and said, "Well, their largest opportunities appear to be in library work and matrimony. Most of them don't remain in business very long. Generally they marry shortly after leaving the college."

Varied College Activities.

The college activities are very similar to those of hearing colleges. The students have their athletics, and have often very good football teams. This is considered remarkable because they are only about 75 boys from whom a team may be picked, while in other colleges there are usually several hundred.

The girls have tennis matches and basketball games and appear much interested in swimming. There are also dramatic clubs, literary clubs, fraternities and sororities. There are usually about four dances a year, and these are exceedingly popular. Altogether the students lead a happy normal life and do not appear to view themselves as in any way unlike their hearing brothers and sisters.

Of course there are a few cases where the pupil has not lost his hearing until he is 15 or 16 years of age. It is much more difficult for such a one to adjust himself, since he realizes what he misses through not being able to hear, and also he is not accustomed to using the alphabet or sign language, and can not read the lips. Fortunately these cases are rare.

The chapel of the college is unusually interesting for two reasons. First it is in a way a hall of fame for those persons who have been active in the work of educating the deaf. There are portraits of Amos Kendall, and two Gallaudets, has reliefs of several well known professors, and a bust of President Garfield. Garfield is said to have been the president who was the most active in his interest along this line of work.

The other interesting thing about the chapel is that when the chairs are turned one way they face a platform from which the lesson is read at morning chapel. When they are turned the other way they face the stage where plays are held and other entertainments. Then the room is called Chapel Hall.

The Bride: "Did I look very anxious in church?"

EAST LIVERPOOL — AMERICA'S POTTERY CENTER

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 13, 1925.

Neighboring Cities Football Champions

The East Liverpool district today boasts of two potential scholastic championship football teams in the squads of the Ceramic City and Chester high schools.

The Potters, although they have not played Leetonia, virtually clinched the Columbiana county title last Saturday, when they defeated the East Palestine gridiron representatives by a 6-to-0 score.

And Chester, which has rounded out a team that has made a name for itself on the football field this season, expects to take the scalp of the New Cumberland eleven on Thanksgiving Day at Rock Springs park, thus removing the remaining obstacle in the march to the Hancock county championship.

East Liverpool's holiday tilt will be against the John Marshall high school, of Cleveland, which was booked when it was apparent there was no likelihood of restoration during the 1925 season of athletic relations with Wellsville.

However, both East Liverpool and Chester face hard battles tomorrow, and while the results will have no bearing upon their championship claims they realize a defeat means a black mark upon their records.

The Ceramic City eleven faces Toronto, one of Jefferson county's speedy teams, at Patterson Field, while Chester will oppose the strong Follansbee school squad on the Rock Springs lot.

Both East Liverpool and Chester are thirsty for another victory, for defeat of Toronto should add lustre to the locals' achievements this season, while a victory for Coach Wild's proteges in the Chester game means another feather in the cap of the Hancock countians inasmuch as Follansbee is recognized as Brooke county's title holder and a contender for the West Virginia high school championship.

Football fans, with the principals in the games tomorrow and on Thanksgiving Day having so much at stake, these battles should be worth seeing.

A Land Yacht

For years yachtsmen have wondered why, with all the motor touring that goes on, comfortable and efficient "land yachts" have not been designed. Here and there one sees a little house on wheels designed by some foresighted person, but usually they are clumsy, and never have they been turned out standardized and in quantities.

One built a couple of years ago by a mid-western man embodies some interesting ideas. It is 25 feet long, with a beam of 7 feet. It weighs 7,200 pounds and is carried on a Ford chassis. A newspaper furnishes details as follows:

"In this space of 7 by 25 feet there is a 7 by 10 kitchen, a living room 7 by 10 and a Pullman sleeping compartment 4 by 7 with two Pullman berths. The kitchen contains a three-burner cook stove, a sink, running water, cupboards and a built-in table. The living room is furnished with a phonograph, chairs and a wardrobe, and may be used as a sleeping room at night. On the rear is the observation platform, furnished in the fashion of one Pullman company's observation trains."

This begins to approach the average small yacht in getting conveniences into small space. It is probably larger than necessary. There will undoubtedly be a great development in this kind of thing in the next few years.

Motor Cars Help Railroads

If motor cars are taking business from the railroads, they are also giving business to the railroads. This is a fact generally ignored.

J. S. Marvin, of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, gives some surprising figures. Last year, he says, there were 735,000 carloads of automobiles and parts shipped on the railroads. But that is only a small part of it. Total automotive freight, including fuel, highway materials, etc., amounted to about 2,630,000 carloads. Thus the motor car business furnished more than one-fourth of all the manufacturers' traffic handled by the rail lines.

This is certainly a great deal more business than automobiles and trucks have taken away from the railroads. So we are driven to the unexpected conclusion that the motor industry, instead of hurting the railroad industry, is one of the big factors in promoting railroad prosperity.

Southern Prosperity

There is no longer any question about southern prosperity. The south has come back. To ordinary business statistics which tell their story of cold facts, regarding crops and industries, a survey by Harvard university adds this clinching bit of human evidence:

The south today is buying more jewelry than any other section of the country. The average southern jeweler has sold twice as much stock during the past year as the average jeweler elsewhere, and about three times as much as northern jewelers. The southern market for diamonds is especially good.

People do not buy jewelry when they are hard up. Diamonds are a touchstone of prosperity.

The north and west are prosperous, too, but apparently not so conscious of it as the south. And while the south buys diamonds, the north buys southern real estate—thereby enabling the south to buy more diamonds.

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Thoughts and scenes while strolling around New York: The big black cat in a florist's window near the Hippodrome. A marcelled lad with kohled eyes. New York women are always well shod. Why is that?

Tommy Meighan and his derby. Maud S., the race horse, used to graze on the present site of the Biltmore. And 44th street was the big meat market. What ever became of the kaiser's Christmas dinner in Paris? And patched trousers. The sidewalk magazine stand near the Casino.

An auto with a warning bass drum boom. What bright idiot thought of that? Pomp of a prouder day—a house with shutters. A newsboy whose constant cry is "Fire, Murder, Death!" Opera choristers sunning fur-colored coats.

The row of second-hand clothing shops near the Pennsylvania station. Last stand of the sidewalk clothes dummy. Ceylon cafes with strange smells. Old coin shops with skull-capped proprietors. Itinerant Turkish rug vendors. Those strange station loafers with pig eyes and bulging necks.

The Flatiron building like a plowshare ready to furrow Broadway. The white-whiskered old man who walks up lower Fifth avenue at dusk. Blazing charcoal pans heating potatoes and chestnuts for 14th street pedestrians. They eat as they walk.

A flashing peep of a pallid face in an ambulance. Sign: "As near beer as we can make it." Old women in capes. Young girls in imitation sable. And young men who try to appear tough. Save when they see a policeman. Glittering cafes with alphabetical names.

Barber shops with sporty loungers. Immigrants from Ellis Island at Job agencies. A luncheon called The Cutie. Bizarre movies featuring vamps. How I'd like to own Rin-tin-tin! Sailors making sidewalk love. Chummy little world.

I made an annual excursion to the movies the other night. A trick soprano did one of those racy trill things. You guessed it! The song was "Comin' Thro the Rye." There was a launching of a battleship and the close-up of the governor's daughter. The kettle drummer was excellent and the ushers polite. There was a film.

That paragraph creaks with sophistication. Everybody enjoyed themselves. I can be entertained by curb fakirs and pavement Charleston dancers and yet somehow movies do not click. They seem to drag. Perhaps it is the director or the star. Or maybe I don't "get" them.

One of the movie houses serves a light collation in its foyer—tasty sandwitches and cool lemonade. The mural decorations are by an old-world master. The symphony orchestra is better than you hear sometimes at Carnegie Hall. And 20 years ago they were playing to 5-cent admissions in abandoned storerooms and tiny tunes of cigaret-smoking piano players.

Frisco is becoming one of the most celebrated of the Broadway cafe clowns. Born Louis Joseph in—of all places—Dubuque, Iowa, the rather gloomy-visaged jazz dancer has stuttered his way to Broadway fame. Surrounded by smoke from his ever present "heater" and clinging to the Fall of '90 derby, he wanders from cafe to supper club spilling his stuttering wheezes. From Dubuque he went to Colisimo's in Chicago, thence to New Orleans and on to New York—his first appearance being on the old Midnight Frolic Roof. He has not appeared on the stage for some time. He would rather wander about with his cap and bells, choosing his own audiences. He does not drink.

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Teaching the Deaf.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 13.—The argument of one of the wisest philosophers of ancient Greece that persons born deaf have no souls and are incapable of instruction has been refuted many times over. In the United States most of the credit for disproving this theory belongs to Thomas Hopkins Gallaudet, who established at Hartford, Connecticut, the first permanent school for deaf children.

At first the course of study was very limited, but gradually the duration of the school course was lengthened and the number of studies increased. While it is thought that Gallaudet probably believed that deaf people of good mental capacity should have an opportunity to pursue a higher education, he did not live to see his hopes realized. It remained for his youngest son, Edward Miner Gallaudet, to bring them to fulfillment.

The younger Gallaudet saw his opportunity of carrying out his father's idea of a course of higher instruction for the deaf in a call he received in 1857 to take charge of the newly established institution for the deaf and blind in the District of Columbia.

Amos Kendall, a philanthropist of Washington, became interested in several deaf children whom he found in the poorer districts and brought them to his country estate, hiring an instructor for them. In 1846 he gave a house and three acres of land to establish a school for the deaf. Afterwards he made it possible for the school to purchase additional land and it now covers an area of approximately 104 acres.

In 1857 an Act of Incorporation was obtained from congress establishing the Columbia Institution for the Instruction of the Deaf and Dumb and the Blind. The instruction of the blind was soon turned over to an institution in Maryland.

This act also provided that the federal government should give financial assistance to this institution. The present institution still receives financial aid through appropriations from congress. The general management and the disbursement of all funds are under the supervision of a board of directors composed of eleven members, three of whom represent congress. Two are appointed by the speaker of the house of representatives and the other is a member of the senate and is appointed by the vice president.

In 1864 Abraham Lincoln signed an act which granted the Columbia institution power to confer college degrees upon its graduates, and a collegiate department was opened that year. Until 1887 the school was only open to men, but in that year it was decided to allow women to matriculate. The advanced department was first known as the National Deaf Mute college, but in 1894 it was changed to Gallaudet college in honor of Thomas Hopkins Gallaudet, at the request of the graduates.

Free Scholarships.

Congress has provided 125 free scholarships to Gallaudet college for those deaf young men and women who can not afford to pay tuition. Also most of the states of the union provide scholarships for graduates of the state schools. In addition to those students who enter under scholarships are pay pupils. There have been a number of these from Canada, England, Wales and the Philippine Islands.

The course is five years, one year being devoted to preparatory work. During the preparatory year pupils are required to take plane geometry, advanced algebra, Latin, English composition, early European history and drawing. The college curriculum is similar to that of colleges teaching hearing students, although the study of mathematics through elementary mechanics is insisted upon whereas in many colleges students are not required to continue mathematics.

More time is also devoted to manual training than is usually the case in hearing schools. Students are given an opportunity to learn the art of printing, to take special work in chemistry and in agriculture. Some pupils are allowed to take up bacteriology, higher mathematics, electricity and advanced chemistry.

The president of the college says that about 98 per cent of the graduates are self-supporting. Many have attained marked success. The senior member of a well known firm of architects is a graduate of Gallaudet. Many have achieved success as ministers and teachers of the deaf. Others have entered law, dentistry, real estate, printing and publishing. This, of course, applies principally to men graduates.

When asked along what lines the women graduates achieved the greatest success, the president laughed and said, "Well, their largest opportunities appear to be in library work and matrimony. Most of them don't remain in business very long. Generally they marry shortly after leaving the college."

Varied College Activities.

The college activities are very similar to those of hearing colleges. The students have their athletics, and have often very good football teams. This is considered remarkable because they are only about 75 boys from whom a team may be picked, while in other colleges there are usually several hundred.

The girls have tennis matches and basketball games and appear much interested in swimming. There are also dramatic clubs, literary clubs, fraternities and sororities. There are usually about four dances a year, and these are exceedingly popular. Altogether the students lead a happy normal life and do not appear to view themselves as in any way unlike their hearing brothers and sisters.

Of course there are a few cases where the pupil has not lost his hearing until he is 15 or 16 years of age. It is much more difficult for such a one to adjust himself, since he realizes what he misses through not being able to hear, and also he is not accustomed to using the alphabet or sign language, and can not read the lips. Fortunately these cases are rare.

The chapel of the college is unusually interesting for two reasons. First it is in a way a hall of fame for those persons who have been active in the work of educating the deaf. There are portraits of Amos Kendall, and two Gallaudets, has reliefs of several well known professors, and a bust of President Garfield. Garfield is said to have been the president who was the most active in his interest along this line of work.

The other interesting thing about the chapel is that when the chairs are turned one way they face a platform from which the lesson is read at morning chapel. When they are turned the other way they face the stage where plays are held and other entertainments. Then the room is called Chapel Hall.

ONE SOLID WEEK COM. MON. MATINEE --- "THE IRON HORSE"

RELICS OF GODS FOUND IN ITALY

Discovered on Site of Sanctuary of Demeter.

Rome.—Interesting excavations have been undertaken by Prof. Ettore Gabrici, director of the Palermo museum, on the site of the ancient sanctuary of Demeter Malophoros at Selinunte, near Palermo.

An enormous number of objects of historical and artistic value have been excavated. Of these stone, bronze and terra cotta votive offerings and decorations there are several thousand. All have been taken to the Palermo museum to be examined, docketed, studied and placed in order on the shelves.

The work of removing these treasures from the deposit where they had been imbedded on account of the filtering of the rains of many centuries was slow and difficult. One very interesting lot consists of lanterns, with solidified oil inside, which had been lighted during ceremonials. Here, just as at Eleusis, the rite was proscribed, for the goddess Demeter was worshiped at night. That she was a popular deity is shown by myriads of votive offerings placed on her shrine. She later became the goddess Ceres of the Romans and undoubtedly was considered very powerful. Though there is no definite date in which this rite was introduced into Selinunte, from the decorations found in the courtyard of the sanctuary it dates back to the Seventh century B. C.

City Founded by Greeks.

Evidently when the city was founded by the Greek colonists from Megara Hatblea they built the sanctuary when they built the fortress. As was the custom in ancient Greek communities when, for one reason or another a group which was dissatisfied with the home town decided to found a colony, the matter was discussed and the Oracle was consulted in regard to the choice of a leader.

Thus it was that in Megara, capital of Megaris, one mile from the sea, opposite the island of Salamis, a number of colonists wished to go to the island of Sicily and found a colony, which they named Megara Hyblaea. From this first colony, others were founded throughout Sicily, including Selinunte, in 628 B. C. It began brilliantly, and from its ruined buildings one can see that it was of great importance and grandeur.

But this state of predominance lasted only until 408 B. C., a short two hundred years, when it was destroyed by the Carthaginians, as they feared its competition. It was partly rebuilt, but never regained its importance, and was for a second time destroyed after the Punic war in 250 B. C., when it was left as the modern excavators found it.

The present excavations are all the more important, as they throw light on a city of which only the mere outlines of history are known.

Feminine Figures Crumble.

There are innumerable tanagra heads, but the feminine figures have crumbled. One very interesting slab of yellow tufo, equal in artistic value to any bas-relief of the Acropolis, represents Proserpine when carried to the lower regions by Adoneus.

It is the oldest, possibly the earliest, representation of the fable of Proserpine and at first it was thought to be a tablet commemorating symbolic dances. Further inspection proved that it told in a series of designs the story of Proserpine. Though neither in the Iliad nor the Odyssey is this tradition related, in the whole of ancient Sicily the story was linked with the worship of Demeter, Proserpine's mother.

Among the statuettes are hundreds placed in the sanctuary to Zeus Milichios, the Greek counterpart of the god Jupiter. He was the accepted god of the sky by all Greeks long before the Homeric age. He was allied to Demeter, the earth goddess, and hence his effigies were placed in her temple. He was the god of boundaries, and the Greek commandment "Thou shalt not remove thy neighbor's landmark," was attributed to an order issued by Zeus Milichios, the dread deity of the ghost world whom the sinner had to placate. And evidently in Selinunte there were many who sought to please him.

In many cases there are also votive offerings of the people of the countryside.

Heads Only Reveal Beauty.

What is more important in these objects are the designs in terra cotta, figures of great variety and perfect in design. Unfortunately none of them is intact; only the heads remain as evidence of their great beauty.

Without doubt these are the most important excavations in recent years in Sicily, as they throw new light on the civilization of the early Greek colonies throughout the island. Professor Gabrici is busily compiling a book of his studies on what he has excavated.

Professor Gabrici's success in excavating has induced the government to reconstruct the Temple of the Fortress, in a similar manner as was accomplished at Girgenti, when the columns of the Temple of Jove were raised from the ground.

Find Milk Snake

Vermilion, S. D.—A small snake, red striped, uncovered in a Vermilion street when excavation was being done for the laying of water pipes, was pronounced a western milk snake, a species exceedingly rare in this section. It is only the fifth in the state, according to Mr. Over, who says it is nonpoisonous.

There are innumerable tanagra heads, but the feminine figures have crumbled. One very interesting slab of yellow tufo, equal in artistic value to any bas-relief of the Acropolis, represents Proserpine when carried to the lower regions by Adoneus.

It is the oldest, possibly the earliest, representation of the fable of Proserpine and at first it was thought to be a tablet commemorating symbolic dances. Further inspection proved that it told in a series of designs the story of Proserpine. Though neither in the Iliad nor the Odyssey is this tradition related, in the whole of ancient Sicily the story was linked with the worship of Demeter, Proserpine's mother.

Among the statuettes are hundreds placed in the sanctuary to Zeus Milichios, the Greek counterpart of the god Jupiter. He was the accepted god of the sky by all Greeks long before the Homeric age. He was allied to Demeter, the earth goddess, and hence his effigies were placed in her temple. He was the god of boundaries, and the Greek commandment "Thou shalt not remove thy neighbor's landmark," was attributed to an order issued by Zeus Milichios, the dread deity of the ghost world whom the sinner had to placate. And evidently in Selinunte there were many who sought to please him.

In many cases there are also votive offerings of the people of the countryside.

Heads Only Reveal Beauty.

What is more important in these objects are the designs in terra cotta, figures of great variety and perfect in design. Unfortunately none of them is intact; only the heads remain as evidence of their great beauty.

Without doubt these are the most important excavations in recent years in Sicily, as they throw new light on the civilization of the early Greek colonies throughout the island. Professor Gabrici is busily compiling a book of his studies on what he has excavated.

Professor Gabrici's success in excavating has induced the government to reconstruct the Temple of the Fortress, in a similar manner as was accomplished at Girgenti, when the columns of the Temple of Jove were raised from the ground.

Find Milk Snake

Vermilion, S. D.—A small snake, red striped, uncovered in a Vermilion street when excavation was being done for the laying of water pipes, was pronounced a western milk snake, a species exceedingly rare in this section. It is only the fifth in the state, according to Mr. Over, who says it is nonpoisonous.

2 MAN EATERS FIND HOME IN FIELD MUSEUM

Giant Cats Display Teeth That Devoured 135 Humans.

SLAIN IN AFRICA

First Killed by Engineer; Second Falls Days Later.

CHICAGO — Two man eating lions —the most famous in the world, credited with devouring 135 human beings, are making their last stand in Chicago.

The carniverous creatures, described in the record of British parliaments as the "Man-eaters of Tsave," glare menacingly each day at thousands of visitors at the Field Museum, where they have just been placed.

The giant cats, displaying teeth that have torn more than a hundred people to bits have been resurrected in taxidermy and represent a picture that dates back to the time when white men were invading the dark continent.

Led Reign of Terror.

The lions instilled horror into the hearts of workmen on the Uganda railway in British East Africa during its construction in 1899, conducted a nine-months' reign of horror during which time the coolie laborers were in a constant state of panic, the British foreign office in an uproar and British parliament confronted with the problem of killing the man-eaters before progress on the railway could continue.

Col. J. H. Patterson, British engineer and sportsman, was in charge of the construction of the Uganda railway. Soon after he arrived at Tsavo with several hundred coolie laborers, the lions appeared and started carrying off men during the night.

Traps were set, wire entanglements were strung out, guards placed within call of each other, beacon fires were built, rewards were offered for the pelts of the creatures, poisoned food was planted and every possible measure was taken to rid the camp of the man-eaters. But the efforts were in vain and during a nine-months period the animals carried off more than 135 coolies by stealthily appearing at least expected places. Indian and native workmen, seeing the contempt of the animals for the men, became convinced they were possessed of spirits of the devil.

The camp finally became so paralyzed with fear that hundreds of the workmen deserted and fled to safety or destruction. Something had to be done. Efforts of Col. Patterson to stalk the lions had proved in vain. For days he and several companions had waited their appearance at likely spots. Always the lions appeared at other places.

Pair Finally Killed.

Finally late one night, one of the creatures passed under a platform where Col. Patterson waited. A bullet was sent into a vital spot, followed immediately by several volleys more from the platform. The lion fell dead and the colonel breathed a sigh of relief. The life of the second man-eater was taken a few days later, only after a hair-breadth escape by hunters and after six shots had been pumped into the great body.

When the news of the death of the lions reached London, Lord Salisbury, then prime minister, made a speech in the house of lords praising Col. Patterson. Construction on the railway was resumed and finally completed.

Today the story of a great sporting romance and an equally great tragedy lies in the motionless and menacing faces of the two great cats, as they stand in glass cases in the museum. Visitors who know the story of the brutes, marvel silently as they look upon the scene.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—The economy wave apparently has reached many state governments, judging today from a compilation by the war department of the states which have accepted and rejected German war trophies.

The report revealed that 43 states had accepted their allotment of the trophies and five had so far refused to even acknowledge the department's communication advising them that the trophies were available for shipment.

DRAIN KEEPS UP ON BRITISH MONEY DRAWER

Outlay for Half Year $180,000,000 Above Revenue.

BUDGET IS HIT

Odds are Against Plan of Winston Churchill.

LONDON—Despite urgent appeals from all quarters for national economy and curtailment of expenditures, the drain upon the British Exchequer, watched over—none too successfully his opponents charge—by Winston Churchill, continues to be heavier and heavier.

Official records of state revenue and expenditure for the half year ended on September 30 shows that expenditure exceeded revenue by $180,000,000. The deficit last year at this time was $60,000,000 but Philip Snowden, the labor Chancellor of the Exchecquer, managed to balance the account by the end of the financial year and show a small surplus.

The odds are all against Mr. Churchill being able to keep expenditures for the full year down to the approximately $4,000,000,000 for which he budgeted, or to collect that amount in revenue.

Usually drains upon the treasury during the second half of the year are lighter than during the first half, while revenue at the same time increases.

This year many unlooked for outlays are going to force expenditures up during the second half of the year. Most of the cost of subsidizing the coal industry—which cost the government $7,500,000 during August, the first month—has still to be borne. Furthermore, the cost of the Admiralty's cruiser program, which was not budgeted for, has still to be met, with little likelihood that the increased expenditure will be balanced by economies in other Admiralty departments.

In the revenue side experts figure there is bound to be a drop after January first, when the six-pence reduction on income tax goes into effect.

Although Mr. Churchill budgeted for expenditures $29,000,000 in excess of last year's, at the present rate of receipts and expenditures, it is estimated the excess will be approximately $190,000,000.

Next Years' prospects don't look any too bright for Mr. Churchill. Although his announced policy is to reduce national expenditures by $50,000,000 annually, beginning next year, all government departments with the exception of the Pensions' Ministry have asked for increased funds next year over those of this year.

Low-Flying Planes Scare Hens From Laying Eggs

Santa Rosa, Cal.—Low-flying airplanes are playing such havoc with the chicken business in Sonoma county that the county board of supervisors is to be appealed to in an effort to force an increase of the altitude of the machines. The roaring air motors and their great hawk-like shadows demoralize the chicken flocks, poultry men say. The chickens scurry for cover and suspend all egg-laying activities until they have regained their composure, which usually takes some time.

This year many unlooked for outlays are going to force expenditures up during the second half of the year. Most of the cost of subsidizing the coal industry—which cost the government $7,500,000 during August, the first month—has still to be borne. Furthermore, the cost of the Admiralty's cruiser program, which was not budgeted for, has still to be met, with little likelihood that the increased expenditure will be balanced by economies in other Admiralty departments.

In the revenue side experts figure there is bound to be a drop after January first, when the six-pence reduction on income tax goes into effect.

Although Mr. Churchill budgeted for expenditures $29,000,000 in excess of last year's, at the present rate of receipts and expenditures, it is estimated the excess will be approximately $190,000,000.

Next Years' prospects don't look any too bright for Mr. Churchill. Although his announced policy is to reduce national expenditures by $50,000,000 annually, beginning next year, all government departments with the exception of the Pensions' Ministry have asked for increased funds next year over those of this year.

Low-Flying Planes Scare Hens From Laying Eggs

Santa Rosa, Cal.—Low-flying airplanes are playing such havoc with the chicken business in Sonoma county that the county board of supervisors is to be appealed to in an effort to force an increase of the altitude of the machines. The roaring air motors and their great hawk-like shadows demoralize the chicken flocks, poultry men say. The chickens scurry for cover and suspend all egg-laying activities until they have regained their composure, which usually takes some time.

Half the world is half asleep

It is terrible to feel all dragged out—to live from one day to the next in a constant state of weariness. Yet thousands do, because constipation is destroying their energy—even their interest in life. Only Kellogg's ALL-BRAN brings sure and safe relief from this disease.

"Poor Betty! She always looks tired"

BETTY was the office mystery. Once pretty, her beauty now lay masked behind an unwholesome complexion. Once vivacious, she now seemed eternally tired—a drooping figure of disappointment and dismay. Too bad she didn't realize that it was constipation which was stealing her strength.

But many men and women rid themselves forever of this devastating disease, by the simple, pleasant means of eating two tablespoonfuls of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN every day—or in chronic cases, with every meal.

As Kellogg's ALL-BRAN journeys through the system, its fiber remains unchanged. It is what doctors call a bulk food—a bulk food which sweeps the intestine clean—a bulk food which absorbs and carries moisture through the intestinal tract, stimulating natural, healthy action. Something habit-forming pills and drugs can never do.

Serve Kellogg's ALL-BRAN with milk or cream, sprinkled over cereals; cooked with hot cereals; in soups, or made into the many recipes given on the package. Delicious with fruit, baked apple, etc.

Caution: Only ALL-BRAN brings sure results. A part-bran product can only be partially effective. Kellogg's is the one, only and original ALL-BRAN. All grocers sell it. Buy a package today. If eaten regularly, it is guaranteed to bring permanent relief or the grocer returns the purchase price. Served in leading restaurants and hotels.

Half the world is half asleep

It is terrible to feel all dragged out—to live from one day to the next in a constant state of weariness. Yet thousands do, because constipation is destroying their energy—even their interest in life. Only Kellogg's ALL-BRAN brings sure and safe relief from this disease.

"Poor Betty! She always looks tired"

BETTY was the office mystery. Once pretty, her beauty now lay masked behind an unwholesome complexion. Once vivacious, she now seemed eternally tired—a drooping figure of disappointment and dismay. Too bad she didn't realize that it was constipation which was stealing her strength.

But many men and women rid themselves forever of this devastating disease, by the simple, pleasant means of eating two tablespoonfuls of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN every day—or in chronic cases, with every meal.

As Kellogg's ALL-BRAN journeys through the system, its fiber remains unchanged. It is what doctors call a bulk food—a bulk food which sweeps the intestine clean—a bulk food which absorbs and carries moisture through the intestinal tract, stimulating natural, healthy action. Something habit-forming pills and drugs can never do.

Serve Kellogg's ALL-BRAN with milk or cream, sprinkled over cereals; cooked with hot cereals; in soups, or made into the many recipes given on the package. Delicious with fruit, baked apple, etc.

Caution: Only ALL-BRAN brings sure results. A part-bran product can only be partially effective. Kellogg's is the one, only and original ALL-BRAN. All grocers sell it. Buy a package today. If eaten regularly, it is guaranteed to bring permanent relief or the grocer returns the purchase price. Served in leading restaurants and hotels.

The original ALL-BRAN—ready-to-eat

MARSHAL FACES CRIMINAL'S GUN

Toronto police are in possession of a complete set of safe cracker's tools, three black masks and a quantity of nitro-glycerin and A. H. Moffett, marshal-elect, is still alive, following a harrowing experience with a criminal recently.

Authorities are still seeking the unknown man who was picked up following a crash below Toronto. Police were called to the scene of the automobile collision and Mr. Moffett and his wife got in their car and started toward it.

The unknown man agreed to accompany Moffett back to the police station to settle the question of who was responsible for the accident. He got in the rear of the Moffett car. Near the mill, Moffett felt cold steel pressed against the back of his head. The stranger told Moffett that he wanted to get out, that he would shoot if Moffett didn't stop, and if Moffett would attempt to draw his own gun he would shoot them both.

Covering them with his revolver, the stranger withdrew from the car and disappeared up the hollow, search of the car which he had been driving, revealed the safe cracker's outfit. An exhaustive search has failed to uncover him.

RIVAL GRIDDERS MAY PLAY SERIES

A series of games between the Wellsville C. & P. eleven and the Greys, of East Liverpool, is in prospect as a result of the 6-6 tie staged at Central park last Wednesday afternoon by the railroaders and the All Stars, an aggregation comprising players from both the Greys and the Collegians of the Ceramic City.

The Greys reorganized last week and expect to line up a home and home series with the locals.

Wednesday's engagement produced one touchdown apiece, a forward pass enabling the visitors to count while Halfback Brooks' 50-yard run after picking up a fumbled ball in midfield gave the locals their six points. Both touchdowns were made in the first half. Finley's attempt to drop kick the extra point failed and Wellsville's forward pass try met a similar fate.

THWART SATAN, PASTOR'S ADVICE

Despite inclement weather, a large audience last night heard Dr. J. H. Lawther, Niles evangelist, speak on "The Price of the Soul," at revival services in the First Presbyterian church.

The large chorus choir was heard at its best in song services in connection with the sermon.

Dr. Lawther preached to show how Satan conducts markets along the highway of life in which he pays various prices for the souls of men and how men are selling their souls to Satan in various ways. He showed how, for drink, gambling, dishonesty, impurity and other things, Satan is buying men's souls.

Tonight Dr. Lawther's sermon subject will be "The Lost Christ." With interest increasing, a large congregational attendance is anticipated.

Army's Biggest Gun to Test Railroads

Washington. — Movement of the army's newest and biggest coast defense gun, a 14-inch rifle on railway mount, which weighs 730,000 pounds, from the proving grounds at Aberdeen, Md., to Fort McArthur near San Diego, Cal., will start soon, the trip to require about two months.

The decision to send the gun west was made to test trans-continental railway lines for the movement of heavy railway artillery which will be used in supplementing the fixed coast defenses in time of war.

The gun will go from Aberdeen to Chicago over the Pennsylvania road, to Council Bluffs over the Chicago & Northwestern, to Ogden over the Union Pacific and complete the journey from Ogden westward on the Southern Pacific.

Mar del Plata Argentina, is to have a new winter resort where a hotel of 450 rooms will be built at a cost of $1,322,000 at once.

CERAMIC BOOKS WILL ROGERS

Great Humorist Will Appear Here on Nov. 23.

Will Rogers, who is considered the greatest humorist since Mark Twain, will speak at the Ceramic theatre, Monday, Nov. 23.

Like all great humorists Rogers has his serious side. Last year he was amongst the home folks in Oklahoma, where he spent the earliest years of his life before he became a national figure and wealth poured into his lap. He was back there among his people for the solemn purpose of attending the funeral of a loved sister, who had tenderly throughout the years ministered to the community.

His sad visit to his old home had brought Will Rogers face to face with the real things of life. "After all," Mr. Rogers wrote, "there is nothing in the world like home. You can roam all over the world but after all, its what the people at home think of you that counts. I have just today witnessed a funeral that for real sorrow and real affection I don't think will ever be surpassed anywhere. They came in every mode of conveyance, on foot, in buggies, horseback, wagons cars and trains, and there wasn't a soul that came that she hadn't helped or favored at one time or another."

" . . . . . Death knows no denomination. Death draws no color line. Some uninformed newspapers printed 'Mrs. C. L. Lane, sister of the famous comedian Will Rogers.' Its the other way around. I am the brother of Mrs. C. L. Lane, 'The Friend of Humanity.' And I want to tell you that as I saw all those people who were there to pay tribute to her memory it was the proudest moment of my life that I was her brother. And all the honors that I could ever in my wildest dreams hope to reach, would never equal the honor paid on a little western hilltop among her people to Maud Lane. If they love me like that at the finish, my life will not have been in vain."

SANDUSKY GIRL SLAIN BY HER MOTHER BURIED

Self-confessed Poisoner Attends Funeral of Her Victim.

SHOWS INTEREST

Grand Jury Will Vote Indictment Next Month.

SANDUSKY, O., Nov. 13. — Under dark and rain dripping clouds, symbolic of her drab life and the outlook of years of poverty and quarreling ahead, little Mary Keller, 7, dead by her mother's hand was buried here this afternoon.

Mrs. Keller, who entered a plea of guilty to a charge of first degree murder when arraigned yesterday afternoon, was present at the funeral in the custody of the sheriff and his wife.

It was not until last night that she displayed the slightest interest in the fate of her child's remains. Then she asked when the funeral was to be and asked permission to attend, which was granted.

Meanwhile the section of the city where the Kellers lived has divided along sex lines in placing blame for the poisoning—the culmination of 18 years of marital infelicity. Women generally defend Mrs. Keller, and say "her life drove her to it." On the other hand, men blame her, and stand by the husband.

The grand jury meets early in December, when, it was expected, an indictment against Mrs. Keller will be voted. Meantime she will be kept in the Woman's quarters of the Erie county jail.

BANDITS GET $50,000 LOOT

Fled Before Fusillades of Bullets After Two Raids.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Twice, early today, bandits fled before fusillades of bullets as they made off with $30,000 worth of furs, in one instance, and $20,000 in silks in another, both the proceeds of bold robberies in the heart of the shopping district. They escaped with their loot, in high powered automobiles, believed stolen.

One of the establishments ransacked was the Mason Simons, where six men overpowered a watchman, bound and gaged him, and carried away a choice assortment of fur coats, wraps, scarfs, etc.

The other was the wholesale silk house of Schuffman Brothers. An equal number of robbers, believed to be of the same gang, removed a large pane of glass from the front door and took 150 bolts of crepe de chine.

resumed. Whether they will get it is another matter. Unless there is a material change in the present temper of the debt funding commission it is not likely they will.

Feel France is Able to Pay.

The administration feels that France is eminently able to pay her debt on the terms proposed to M. Caillaux in October, and rejected by him.

It is an illuminating commentary on the negotiations that the American experts and the Italian experts found comparatively little difference in their respective figures on Italy's capacity to pay, whereas in the case of France, the experts themselves were as wide apart as the poles.

The French experts emphasized the embarrassing financial position occupied by the French government, and glossed over what the American experts considered the real index of the situation—the prosperous condition of French industry and commerce. In Italy's case it was just the opposite—the Italian government finances are in comparatively good shape, while industry and commerce are none too healthy because of the high taxation that was imposed to balance the budget.

France May Act.

PARIS, Nov. 13.—France probably will take early steps to renew her debt negotiations with the United States as the result of the settlement of the Italo-American debt, it was learned today.

Premier Painleve, after receiving the details of the Italian settlement with the United States, went into conference with Foreign Minister Briand relative to the formulation of new proposals to both the United States and England.

The finance ministry expressed complete satisfiction over the terms of the Italian settlement.

Oldest Ohio Pythian Killed.

LIMA, Nov. 13.—Joseph Potter, 96, said to be the oldest Pythian in Ohio, was dead today as the result of an automobile accident here last night. During a rain he stepped into the street to catch a street car and was hit by a truck. Police released the driver when it was shown the accident was unavoidable.

TODAY

means avoiding agony, physical and mental, beyond calculation.

Strangers in the big city were amazed yesterday when, for 60 seconds at a time, they could cross a busy street without being run over. Our great civilization was pausing just 60 seconds to think about Armistice day.

How much thinking can you do in 60 seconds, and what did you think about Armistice day, reminding us of a war that is fading into the distance?

Many solemn orators grew tearful. They reminded you that our heroes were all brothers in war, the poor man gave his services in the army, the rich man put his plant to work for the nation.

Some forget to mention that the poor man went into the army with his salary cut to a dollar a day from five dollars, while the rich man running his factory on government contracts saw his stock rise from $50 to $150.

War is like a great fire. The little people are burned up, the big people collect the insurance.

Col. Mitchell has rendered two important services to his country. In the first place, he told the truth about the war craft situation. Then, by his trial, which folly forced upon him, he causes the real situation to be proved in open court. This has forced the truth upon the nation, from the President all the way down.

And that's exactly what the nation needed, from the President down.

statement in which it said their investigating committee "reached the conclusion that the engineer of train No. 6 (the one from St. Louis) did not observe the signals, which were properly set and in working order."

All Casualties Men.

All of the casualties were men. They were all occupants of the steel Pullman sleeper Muirheid, the last car of the rammed Washington train.

A revised list of the dead follows:

M. M. Astusta, of Schnectady, N. Y., chairman of the office committee of the General Electric company.

E. W. Bates, employee, baggage department, Pennsylvania railroad, Baltimore.

Arthur W. Cross, of Schnectady.

John C. Hoestman, general manager's office, General Electric company, Schnectday.

T. F. Major, Pullman porter, Baltimore.

R. D. Reed, of Schnectady, employe of the General Electric company.

Four unidentified dead, in morgue at New Brunswick, N. J.

Names of Injured.

The six seriously injured who may not live are: W. H. Cunningham, of Newark, a flagman; D. H. Deyo, of Schnectady; Frank Hersey, of Baltimore; H. H. Lofton, of Chattanooga; Eugene Lowney, of Akron, Ohio, and W. H. Van Vorst of Baltimore. They were taken to hospitals in Trenton and Newark.

About 125 passengers were in the two rear cars of the Washington train when they were crashed together by the St. Louis train thundering along at nearly 50 miles an hour. The last car was driven with terrific force against the one ahead.

While investigations into the wreck were being made, state and federal officials withheld comment. The state public utilities commission and the interstate commerce commission were scheduled to open a full inquiry today.

An inquiry was also begun today by Fred A. David, chief of Middlesex county detectives, acting for Prosecutor Joseph A. Stricker.

"If negligence of any kind is indicated in connection with the wreck I will lay the evidence before the grand jury," said Prosecutor Stricker. "I am prepared to call the jury into session next week to hear the testimony should such a course be advisable."

Mayor-elect Spends $146 in Campaign; Other Reorts Filed

Mayor-elect Ralph C. Benedum, Democrat, spent $146 in his campaign, according to his sworn statement filed today with Election Board Clerk J. W. Moore.

His opponent, Joseph S. Wilson, Republican, expended but $8. Mrs. Florence Moss Bowers, who ran third in a field of three for clerk of the municipal court, spent $65.30. No expenses were reported by Charles Hayes, for council-at-large; George Hughes, for Fourth ward councilman; George Persohn, for township trustees; F. P. Wherry, for township trustee, and C. A. Ferguson, for member of the school board.

Seek to Locate Ship.

Even though the admiralty has given up hopes for the rescue of the M-1 crew, naval officers are not so pessimistic. They state that providing the craft is undamaged that the crew may live in their steel tomb for at least three days.

Rear Admiral Haggard has taken charge of the channel operations in search of the missing vessel. All sweeping gear and sweeping vessels available have been assigned to the command of Admiral Hagard who is aboard H. M. S. Conquest.

Mine sweepers with grappling irons and a crew of divers appeared on the scene of the accident shortly after dawn.

Throughout the night destroyers equipped with hydrophones which enable them to hear sounds beneath the surface of the water patrolled the waters in the vicinity of the accident in an effort to locate the sunken ship. It was estimated that the submarine was lying in about 30 fathoms of water.

AUTO WRECKS STORE WINDOW

Driverless Car Hits Golden Flower Shoppe.

Front of the Golden Flower Shoppe, West Sixth street, was practically demolished about 6:45 o'clock last night, when struck by a driverless automobile, owned by Elmer Stewart, of Claybourne avenue.

Stewart had stopped his car at the City Parking station, opposite the Golden place, neglecting to take the engine out of reverse gear. When he cranked it, the machine began its wild dash.

The auto struck a telephone pole, sped across the street, hurtled the sidewalk and crashed into the show windows of the Golden store where it came to a stop after both plate glass windows had been broken.

Golden and his family were in their living apartments above the store at the time of the crash. No one was injured and strangely enough the automobile was only slightly damaged.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—A buoyant tone prevailed in the market in the early trading today. The motor stocks made their usual opening demonstration, with Chrysler, Mack, Dupont, etc., up from 2 to 6½ points, but it remained for the railroad and oil stocks, with a few of the specialties, to lead the way to higher prices through gradual and fractional advances in orderly trading.

General Motors' dividend was not unexpected, though few in Wall street looked for more than $3 or $4 a share. Dupont, which owns 1,800,000 shares of the stock, will be a beneficiary by about $9,000,000, an important factor in the recent rise of that stock. General Motors opened fractionally lower, and sold in good volume around 140.

Upward revision of the dividend of General Petroleum, and expectation of an early return of Mid Continent to the dividend columns, stimulated speculative interest in the oil stocks. Standard Oil of New Jersey assumed a more active position, and moved up nearly 2 points to 42¾, while Mariand, Skelly, Simms, Phillips, Mid Continent, Texas Pacific advanced from 1 to 2½ points in the most active oil session in a week or more.

Though call money opened at 5 per cent, the money situation was comparatively easier.

The jury already has heard testimony showing army flyers were ordered to night flights over Camp Dix, N. J., against their protests and with an "unnecessary risk of their lives." Further testimony will reveal similar instances, it was said.

Latest Developments

Latest developments in the trial included testimony from defense witnesses, alleging that:

1—The navy department tried to "whitewash" the Shenandoah disaster.

2.—The war department waited until "two days ago" to act upon a warning, filed ni February, 1924, that a foreign flight organization was establishing a base in Central America.

3—New bomb sights, recently issued to army flyers, resulted in seven direct hits out of nine bombs, dropped upon a battleship target from 5,000 feet altitude at Langley Field. The results were described as the "best in the history of aerial bombing."

4—The war department conducted "inacurate" tests in anti-aircraft fire by using a traget four times as large as the exploding radius of anti-aircraft engine withstood 18 consecutive direct craft shells.

5—In tests at Aberdeen, an airplane hits from 3-inch anti-aircraft fire and "could have flown away" undamaged.

6.—The navy department has revealed naval secrets in its desire for favorable publicity.

Dr. Blazer was alone at the counsel table except for H. W. Spangler, a member of his counsel staff, when Stone's motion was granted. He left soon afterward, declining to make any statement beyond that he was going to "operate my saw mill," and "live an outdoor life, which I believe will benefit my health."

He smiled broadly as he talked and appeared to be relieved of the strain he had been under during the last eight days.

"This has been a victory for humahity; for humanity was on trial, side by side with Dr. Blazer," Lewis Mowry, chief defense counsel, said. "Even the hung jury was as good as an acquittal, for it shows that on this jury were men who dealt not alone with the cold facts of law."

Prosecutor Stone saw in the action of the hung jury a victory "for law and order."

Several of the jurors, however, took issue with the statement that it was a "victory for the prosecution."

"If they had left us alone half an hour longer we would have acquitted," declared one of them—the father of an invalid daughter.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—The postal business of various cities throughout the country has grown to such an extent that Postmaster General New today authorized the appointment of 186 additional letter carriers and 95 additional clerks.

DRAMATIC MOMENTS CROWD SELVES IN CLEVELAND AS BOILER BLOWS UP

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 13.—John Reiber, former police captain, is in a dangerous condition in a hospital today from burns following dramatic moments which crowded themselves into short space.

Reiber tried to light a water heater. There was an explosion. Windows were knocked out. A fire began.

Two daughters, Mrs. John Halle and Mrs. John Harris, hurried to the basement and dragged their father to safety.

Two grandchildren, Arline Flaker, 12, and James Howley, 5, were asleep on the second floor. Flames crawled up the stairway. Arline dragged the smaller child through the window on a porch roof. James was tossed to the parents below and the girl climbed down. Mrs. Reiber, an invalid, was carried from the home while flames licked the doors and stairs.

Damage will amount to $12,000 on the house.

World-Wide Broadcasting of Radio Programs Looms

Transmission Will be Accomplished From Central Stations, Westinghouse Electric Company Officer Says.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—World-wide broadcasting of entertainment programs is just around the corner in radio development, H. P. Davis, vice-president of the Westinghouse Electric company, said today.

Program transmission will be accomplished from central broadcasting stations on the short wave lengths, with which Westinghouse experts have been experimenting for several years, Davis explained.

Other stations would pick up the short wave signals, transfer them into the conventional 200 to 600 meter waves and rebroadcast the programs.

Plan Distribution Organization.

"The greatest opportunity for radio development in the immediate future is in broadcasting, to organize it and obtain suitable program material so that stations all over the world may tap this supply," said Davis.

"Our experiments with amplifying the radio signal seem to be sufficiently successful to show that this is feasible. If this is a fact, it should be easy to maintain as many program channels as desirable and possibly transmit them for unlimited distances, at least from continent to continent and use them as a means of supplying program material to the regular broadcasting stations.

"In its organization this ought to take a form similar to that of the international news service to newspapers, and would be a mutual organization in which all broadcasters are interested.

"I am quite sure that means of supporting this organization will be available to put it on a sound and permanet basis."

Radio Press Association.

While Davis did not disclose whether Westinghouse or other big corporations are considering the organization of a "radio press association," for distribution of entertainment programs, it was understood that such a move is on foot.

Davis feels that radio will have a profound influence on almost every branch of electrical development and that in twenty five years great changes will take place.

"Undoubtedly radio will be a very useful and important method of remote control for all kinds of apparatus and machines," he said.

"It should be especially useful on railroads, as a means of signalling and controlling trains and their movements and as a means of signalling throughout the train and from moving vehicles to outside points.

Radio Movie Predicted.

"Transmission of power by radio seems, in the light of our present day ideas, a fantastic dream, yet I feel that the future has something in store to bring forth some possibilities of power supply which, even though of limited extent, will open up a tremendous field of development."

Davis declared that no department of the electrical industry is being so explored, or attracting so many brilliant minds as radio.

He predicted that it was more than probable that the radio movie will be an actual accomplishment in a few years.

Police Hold Four Men as Suspects In Blackmail Game

CLEVELAND, Nov. 13.—Police held four men, three guns, a pair of handcuffs, a detective sergeant's badge and a list of professional and wealthy men of several cities here today—the remnants of of an alleged "blackmail quartet."

It is charged the men became acquainted with wealthy men, lured them into compromising circumstances, then the "detectives" with the handcuffs would walk in, make the bogus arrest and start them towards the police headquarters. It was also part of the "detective's" role in the little playlet to "consent" to be "bribed" by the rich man.

RE-OPEN RURAL SCHOOL MONDAY

St. Clair Board is Repairing No. 9 Building.

The No. 9 school in St. Clair township, north of here, probably will be re-opened next Monday after having been closed for nearly two weeks because of the condition of the building.

The township board of education this week began repairs which will be completed probably today or tomorrow. The broken glass in the windows is being replaced, holes in the floor repaired and the structure is being repaired. The stove is to be placed in good condition and lock on the door repaired so that the building can be made secure at night.

The school was closed November 3, as children were subject to sickness because of exposure, it is claimed. When the township school officials took no steps to repair the building, residents of the township appealed to the county school authrities.

Engineer Fawcett Presides at Road Hearing in Lisbon

W. C. Fawcett, Martins Ferry, locating engineer for the State Highway Department, presided at a hearing on the proposed Lisbon - East Palestine road, which was conducted in the court house at Lisbon, today.

Three routes for the proposed road which will connect the county seat with the eastern Columbiana county town by a direct road were considered. Each of the routes passes through Elkton, three miles east of Lisbon.

From Elkton, one route is via Signal, Rogers and Negley; another route would connect with the Youngstown-East Liverpool road, west of Clarkson, while the third provides for a new road from Negley into East Palestine.

County Legion

warded a communication to Governor A. Y. Donahey, protesting against the manner of distribution. The chamber asserts that the distribution was to be made by cities and not by counties. The local legion has also sent a resolution authorized at the Armistice day meeting, Wednesday night, demanding that this city be awarded one of the big field pieces.

The first move for a piece of captured German field artillery was made by the Chamber of Commerce back in 1922, when Congressman Murphy was asked to introduce a bill in congress granting the Pottery City such a memorial.

The bill, however, was withdrawn when the military affairs committee announced that the distribution would be made by states. The chamber immediately sent an application for a gun to Governor Donahey in August, 1924. This application was filed with the adjutant general's office, this city being among the first on the list to make such a request.

Deadlock is Likely.

Announcement was made this week that the distribution would be made by counties instead of cities and that the county council of the American legion would decide where such a memorial should be placed. Where such councils do not exist, Legion posts were authorized to appoint a committee from members, together with business men to make such decision.

The Chamber of Commerce contends that in as much as the Ceramic city was one of the first to make application and, also, because it is the largest city in the county, East Liverpool should have the memorial. In the Legion council, Salem and other cities and towns, however, have equal voting strength which may cause a deadlock.

The howitzer allotted to this county weighs 4,600 pounds and will be shipped from the government ordinance station in the East. The Chamber of Commerce has agreed to underwrite the freight charges and other expenses incidental to establishment of the memorial here. Should it come to East Liverpool, its exact location will be determined later. The Carnegie Library grounds, West Fifth street park, and Riverview cemetery have been suggested as sites.

Another distribution of war material, including 3,475 bayonets, 3,731 rifles, 442 machine guns, helmets, grenades, etc., will be made later. Counties which received no artillery will be the first to share when the allotment of smaller trophies is made.

MAYOR'S PAY SLASH TOPIC

Solons Will Consider Ordinance at Meeting Tonight.

Legislation reducing the salary of the mayor from $1,800 to $1,200 per year after January 1, 1926, will be considered by the city solons tonight when they take up the second reading of the ordinance.

The measure was adopted on first reading at the meeting three weeks ago by a vote of 4 to 3, Councilmen Farrall, Kerr, Hayes and Larcombe supporting it, while Solons Chambers, Rowe and Eardley opposed it. Another meeting will be necessary to place the proposal on third reading should there be no change in the vote line-up at tonight's session.

Unless council acts on the salary slash before January 1, there can be no adjustment in the mayor's salary for the next two years. Sponsors of the ordinance assert that the mayor's work will be reduced approximately 75 percent with the establishment of a municipal court here on January 1.

EDWARD LIBBEY, TOLEDO, DIES

Owens Bottling Company Founder Was Philanthropist.

TOLEDO, Nov. 13.—Edward D. Libbey, 65, founder of the Owens Bottle company, and Toledo's leading philanthropist, died at his rooms at the Secor hotel at 9 o'clock this morning.

Libbey contracted a severe cold two weeks ago. Until last night, it was thought that his condition was favorable and his recovery was expected. Suddenly there was a turn for the worse, and hope was abandoned.

Libbey was one of the leaders of the glass industry, recently he sold his interests to New York capitalists.

A leader in industrial and financial circles, he was no less well known as a philanthropist. He was responsible for the building of the Toledo Art museum, and had contributed liberally to other philanthropic projects.

SANDUSKY GIRL SLAIN BY HER MOTHER BURIED

Self-confessed Poisoner Attends Funeral of Her Victim.

SHOWS INTEREST

Grand Jury Will Vote Indictment Next Month.

SANDUSKY, O., Nov. 13. — Under dark and rain dripping clouds, symbolic of her drab life and the outlook of years of poverty and quarreling ahead, little Mary Keller, 7, dead by her mother's hand was buried here this afternoon.

Mrs. Keller, who entered a plea of guilty to a charge of first degree murder when arraigned yesterday afternoon, was present at the funeral in the custody of the sheriff and his wife.

It was not until last night that she displayed the slightest interest in the fate of her child's remains. Then she asked when the funeral was to be and asked permission to attend, which was granted.

Meanwhile the section of the city where the Kellers lived has divided along sex lines in placing blame for the poisoning—the culmination of 18 years of marital infelicity. Women generally defend Mrs. Keller, and say "her life drove her to it." On the other hand, men blame her, and stand by the husband.

The grand jury meets early in December, when, it was expected, an indictment against Mrs. Keller will be voted. Meantime she will be kept in the Woman's quarters of the Erie county jail.

BANDITS GET $50,000 LOOT

Fled Before Fusillades of Bullets After Two Raids.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Twice, early today, bandits fled before fusillades of bullets as they made off with $30,000 worth of furs, in one instance, and $20,000 in silks in another, both the proceeds of bold robberies in the heart of the shopping district. They escaped with their loot, in high powered automobiles, believed stolen.

One of the establishments ransacked was the Mason Simons, where six men overpowered a watchman, bound and gaged him, and carried away a choice assortment of fur coats, wraps, scarfs, etc.

The other was the wholesale silk house of Schuffman Brothers. An equal number of robbers, believed to be of the same gang, removed a large pane of glass from the front door and took 150 bolts of crepe de chine.

resumed. Whether they will get it is another matter. Unless there is a material change in the present temper of the debt funding commission it is not likely they will.

Feel France is Able to Pay.

The administration feels that France is eminently able to pay her debt on the terms proposed to M. Caillaux in October, and rejected by him.

It is an illuminating commentary on the negotiations that the American experts and the Italian experts found comparatively little difference in their respective figures on Italy's capacity to pay, whereas in the case of France, the experts themselves were as wide apart as the poles.

The French experts emphasized the embarrassing financial position occupied by the French government, and glossed over what the American experts considered the real index of the situation—the prosperous condition of French industry and commerce. In Italy's case it was just the opposite—the Italian government finances are in comparatively good shape, while industry and commerce are none too healthy because of the high taxation that was imposed to balance the budget.

France May Act.

PARIS, Nov. 13.—France probably will take early steps to renew her debt negotiations with the United States as the result of the settlement of the Italo-American debt, it was learned today.

Premier Painleve, after receiving the details of the Italian settlement with the United States, went into conference with Foreign Minister Briand relative to the formulation of new proposals to both the United States and England.

The finance ministry expressed complete satisfiction over the terms of the Italian settlement.

means avoiding agony, physical and mental, beyond calculation.

Strangers in the big city were amazed yesterday when, for 60 seconds at a time, they could cross a busy street without being run over. Our great civilization was pausing just 60 seconds to think about Armistice day.

How much thinking can you do in 60 seconds, and what did you think about Armistice day, reminding us of a war that is fading into the distance?

Many solemn orators grew tearful. They reminded you that our heroes were all brothers in war, the poor man gave his services in the army, the rich man put his plant to work for the nation.

Some forget to mention that the poor man went into the army with his salary cut to a dollar a day from five dollars, while the rich man running his factory on government contracts saw his stock rise from $50 to $150.

War is like a great fire. The little people are burned up, the big people collect the insurance.

Col. Mitchell has rendered two important services to his country. In the first place, he told the truth about the war craft situation. Then, by his trial, which folly forced upon him, he causes the real situation to be proved in open court. This has forced the truth upon the nation, from the President all the way down.

And that's exactly what the nation needed, from the President down.

statement in which it said their investigating committee "reached the conclusion that the engineer of train No. 6 (the one from St. Louis) did not observe the signals, which were properly set and in working order."

All Casualties Men.

All of the casualties were men. They were all occupants of the steel Pullman sleeper Muirheid, the last car of the rammed Washington train.

A revised list of the dead follows:

M. M. Astusta, of Schnectady, N. Y., chairman of the office committee of the General Electric company.

E. W. Bates, employee, baggage department, Pennsylvania railroad, Baltimore.

Arthur W. Cross, of Schnectady.

John C. Hocstman, general manager's office, General Electric company, Schnectday.

T. F. Major, Pullman porter, Baltimore.

R. D. Reed, of Schnectady, employe of the General Electric company.

Four unidentified dead, in morgue at New Brunswick, N. J.

About 125 passengers were in the two rear cars of the Washington train when they were crashed together by the St. Louis train thundering along at nearly 50 miles an hour. The last car was driven with terrific force against the one ahead.

While investigations into the wreck were being made, state and federal officials withheld comment. The state public utilities commission and the interstate commerce commission were scheduled to open a full inquiry today.

An inquiry was also begun today by Fred A. David, chief of Middlesex county detectives, acting for Prosecutor Joseph A. Stricker.

"If negligence of any kind is indicated in connection with the wreck I will lay the evidence before the grand jury," said Prosecutor Stricker. "I am prepared to call the jury into session next week to hear the testimony should such a course be advisable."

Mayor-elect Spends $146 in Campaign; Other Reorts Filed

Mayor-elect Ralph C. Benedum, Democrat, spent $146 in his campaign, according to his sworn statement filed today with Election Board Clerk J. W. Moore.

His opponent, Joseph S. Wilson, Republican, expended but $8. Mrs. Florence Moss Bowers, who ran third in a field of three for clerk of the municipal court, spent $65.30. No expenses were reported by Charles Hayes, for council-at-large; George Hughes, for Fourth ward councilman; George Persohn, for township trustees; F. P. Wherry, for township trustee, and C. A. Ferguson, for member of the school board.

Seek to Locate Ship.

Even though the admiralty has given up hopes for the rescue of the M-1 crew, naval officers are not so pessimistic. They state that providing the craft is undamaged that the crew may live in their steel tomb for at least three days.

Rear Admiral Haggard has taken charge of the channel operations in search of the missing vessel. All sweeping gear and sweeping vessels available have been assigned to the command of Admiral Hagard who is aboard H. M. S. Conquest.

Mine sweepers with grappling irons and a crew of divers appeared on the scene of the accident shortly after dawn.

Throughout the night destroyers equipped with hydrophones which enable them to hear sounds beneath the surface of the water patrolled the waters in the vicinity of the accident in an effort to locate the sunken ship. It was estimated that the submarine was lying in about 30 fathoms of water.

AUTO WRECKS STORE WINDOW

Driverless Car Hits Golden Flower Shoppe.

Front of the Golden Flower Shoppe, West Sixth street, was practically demolished about 6:45 o'clock last night, when struck by a driverless automobile, owned by Elmer Stewart, of Claybourne avenue.

Stewart had stopped his car at the City Parking station, opposite the Golden place, neglecting to take the engine out of reverse gear. When he cranked it, the machine began its wild dash.

The auto struck a telephone pole, sped across the street, hurtled the sidewalk and crashed into the show windows of the Golden store where it came to a stop after both plate glass windows had been broken.

Golden and his family were in their living apartments above the store at the time of the crash. No one was injured and strangely enough the automobile was only slightly damaged.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—A buoyant tone prevailed in the market in the early trading today. The motor stocks made their usual opening demonstration, with Chrysler, Mack, Dupont, etc., up from 2 to 6½ points, but it remained for the railroad and oil stocks, with a few of the specialties, to lead the way to higher prices through gradual and fractional advances in orderly trading.

General Motors' dividend was not unexpected, though few in Wall street looked for more than $3 or $4 a share. Dupont, which owns 1,800,000 shares of the stock, will be a beneficiary by about $9,000,000, an important factor in the recent rise of that stock. General Motors opened fractionally lower, and sold in good volume around 140.

Upward revision of the dividend of General Petroleum, and expectation of an early return of Mid Continent to the dividend columns, stimulated speculative interest in the oil stocks. Standard Oil of New Jersey assumed a more active position, and moved up nearly 2 points to 42⅞, while Marland, Skelly, Simms, Phillips, Mid Continent, Texas Pacific advanced from 1 to 2½ points in the most active oil session in a week or more.

Though call money opened at 5 per cent, the money situation was comparatively easier.

The jury already has heard testimony showing army flyers were ordered to night flights over Camp Dix, N. J., against their protests and with an "unnecessary risk of their lives." Further testimony will reveal similar instances, it was said.

Latest Developments

Latest developments in the trial included testimony from defense witnesses, alleging that:

1—The navy department tried to "whitewash" the Shenandoah disaster.

2.—The war department waited until "two days ago" to act upon a warning, filed ni February, 1924, that a foreign flight organization was establishing a base in Central America.

3—New bomb sights, recently issued to army flyers, resulted in seven direct hits out of nine bombs, dropped upon a battleship target from 5,000 feet altitude at Langley Field. The results were described as the "best in the history of aerial bombing."

4—The war department conducted "inacurate" tests in anti-aircraft fire by using a traget four times as large as the exploding radius of anti-aircraft engine withstood 18 consecutive direct craft shells.

5—In tests at Aberdeen, an airplane hits from 3-inch anti-aircraft fire and "could have flown away" undamaged.

6.—The navy department has revealed naval secrets in its desire for favorable publicity.

Dr. Blazer was alone at the counsel table except for H. W. Spangler, a member of his counsel staff, when Stone's motion was granted. He left soon afterward, declining to make any statement beyond that he was going to "operate my saw mill," and "live an outdoor life, which I believe will benefit my health."

He smiled broadly as he talked and appeared to be relieved of the strain he had been under during the last eight days.

"This has been a victory for humanity; for humanity was on trial, side by side with Dr. Blazer," Lewis Mowry, chief defense counsel, said. "Even the hung jury was as good as an acquittal, for it shows that on this jury were men who dealt not alone with the cold facts of law."

Prosecutor Stone saw in the action of the hung jury a victory "for law and order."

Several of the jurors, however, took issue with the statement that it was a "victory for the prosecution."

"If they had left us alone half an hour longer we would have acquitted," declared one of them—the father of an invalid daughter.

DRAMATIC MOMENTS CROWD SELVES IN CLEVELAND AS BOILER BLOWS UP

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 13.—John Reiber, former police captain, is in a dangerous condition in a hospital today from burns following dramatic moments which crowded themselves into short space.

Reiber tried to light a water heater. There was an explosion. Windows were knocked out. A fire began.

Two daughters, Mrs. John Halle and Mrs. John Harris, hurried to the basement and dragged their father to safety.

Two grandchildren, Arline Flaker, 12, and James Howley, 5, were asleep on the second floor. Flames crawled up the stairway. Arline dragged the smaller child through the window on a porch roof. James was tossed to the parents below and the girl climbed down. Mrs. Reiber, an invalid, was carried from the home while flames licked the doors and stairs.

Damage will amount to $12,000 on the house.

World-Wide Broadcasting of Radio Programs Looms

Transmission Will be Accomplished From Central Stations, Westinghouse Electric Company Officer Says.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—World-wide broadcasting of entertainment programs is just around the corner in radio development, H. P. Davis, vice-president of the Westinghouse Electric company, said today.

Program transmission will be accomplished from central broadcasting stations on the short wave lengths, with which Westinghouse experts have been experimenting for several years, Davis explained.

Other stations would pick up the short wave signals, transfer them into the conventional 200 to 600 meter waves and rebroadcast the programs.

Plan Distribution Organization.

"The greatest opportunity for radio development in the immediate future is in broadcasting, to organize it and obtain suitable program material so that stations all over the world may tap this supply," said Davis.

"Our experiments with amplifying the radio signal seem to be sufficiently successful to show that this is feasible. If this is a fact, it should be easy to maintain as many program channels as desirable and possibly transmit them for unlimited distances, at least from continent to continent and use them as a means of supplying program material to the regular broadcasting stations.

"In its organization this ought to take a form similar to that of the international news service to newspapers, and would be a mutual organization in which all broadcasters are interested.

"I am quite sure that means of supporting this organization will be available to put it on a sound and permanet basis."

Radio Press Association.

While Davis did not disclose whether Westinghouse or other big corporations are considering the organization of a "radio press association," for distribution of entertainment programs, it was understood that such a move is on foot.

Davis feels that radio will have a profound influence on almost every branch of electrical development and that in twenty five years great changes will take place.

"Undoubtedly radio will be a very useful and important method of remote control for all kinds of apparatus and machines," he said.

"It should be especially useful on railroads, as a means of signalling and controlling trains and their movements and as a means of signalling throughout the train and from moving vehicles to outside points.

Radio Movie Predicted.

"Transmission of power by radio seems, in the light of our present day ideas, a fantastic dream, yet I feel that the future has something in store to bring forth some possibilities of power supply which, even though of limited extent, will open up a tremendous field of development."

Davis declared that no department of the electrical industry is being so explored, or attracting so many brilliant minds as radio.

He predicted that it was more than probable that the radio movie will be an actual accomplishment in a few years.

RE-OPEN RURAL SCHOOL MONDAY

St. Clair Board is Repairing No. 9 Building.

The No. 9 school in St. Clair township, north of here, probably will be re-opened next Monday after having been closed for nearly two weeks because of the condition of the building.

The township board of education this week began repairs which will be completed probably today or tomorrow. The broken glass in the windows is being replaced, holes in the floor repaired and the structure is being repaired. The stove is to be placed in good condition and lock on the door repaired so that the building can be made secure at night.

The school was closed November 3, as children were subject to sickness because of exposure, it is claimed. When the township school officials took no steps to repair the building, residents of the township appealed to the county school authrities.

Police Hold Four Men as Suspects In Blackmail Game

CLEVELAND, Nov. 13.—Police held four men, three guns, a pair of handcuffs, a detective sergeant's badge and a list of professional and wealthy men of several cities here today—the remnants of of an alleged "blackmail quartet."

It is charged the men became acquainted with wealthy men, lured them into compromising circumstances, then the "detectives" with the handcuffs would walk in, make the bogus arrest and start them towards the police headquarters. It was also part of the "detective's" role in the little playlet to "consent" to be "bribed" by the rich man.

Engineer Fawcett Presides at Road Hearing in Lisbon

W. C. Fawcett, Martins Ferry, locating engineer for the State Highway Department, presided at a hearing on the proposed Lisbon - East Palestine road, which was conducted in the court house at Lisbon, today.

Three routes for the proposed road which will connect the county seat with the eastern Columbiana county town by a direct road were considered. Each of the routes passes through Elkton, three miles east of Lisbon.

From Elkton, one route is via Signal, Rogers and Negley; another route would connect with the Youngstown-East Liverpool road, west of Clarkson, while the third provides for a new road from Negley into East Palestine.

County Legion

warded a communication to Governor A. Y. Donahey, protesting against the manner of distribution. The chamber asserts that the distribution was to be made by cities and not by counties. The local legion has also sent a resolution authorized at the Armistice day meeting, Wednesday night, demanding that this city be awarded one of the big field pieces.

The first move for a piece of captured German field artillery was made by the Chamber of Commerce back in 1922, when Congressman Murphy was asked to introduce a bill in congress granting the Pottery City such a memorial.

The bill, however, was withdrawn when the military affairs committee announced that the distribution would be made by states. The chamber immediately sent an application for a gun to Governor Donahey in August, 1924. This application was filed with the adjutant general's office, this city being among the first on the list to make such a request.

Deadlock is Likely.

Announcement was made this week that the distribution would be made by counties instead of cities and that the county council of the American legion would decide where such a memorial should be placed. Where such councils do not exist, Legion posts were authorized to appoint a committee from members, together with business men to make such decision.

The Chamber of Commerce contends that in as much as the Ceramic city was one of the first to make application and, also, because it is the largest city in the county, East Liverpool should have the memorial. In the Legion council, Salem and other cities and towns, however, have equal voting strength which may cause a deadlock.

The howitzer allotted to this county weighs 4,600 pounds and will be shipped from the government ordinance station in the East. The Chamber of Commerce has agreed to underwrite the freight charges and other expenses incidental to establishment of the memorial here. Should it come to East Liverpool, its exact location will be determined later. The Carnegie Library grounds, West Fifth street park, and Riverview cemetery have been suggested as sites.

Another distribution of war material, including 3,475 bayonets, 3,731 rifles, 442 machine guns, helmets, grenades, etc., will be made later. Counties which received no artillery will be the first to share when the allotment of smaller trophies is made.

Seek Herculean Thief.

YOUNGSTOWN, Nov. 13.—Friday, the 13th, found Youngstown police with a search for a herculean thief on their hands. A huge steam shovel owned by Rose & Tradle, contractors, had been stolen.

MAYOR'S PAY SLASH TOPIC

Solons Will Consider Ordinance at Meeting Tonight.

Legislation reducing the salary of the mayor from $1,800 to $1,200 per year after January 1, 1926, will be considered by the city solons tonight when they take up the second reading of the ordinance.

The measure was adopted on first reading at the meeting three weeks ago by a vote of 4 to 3, Councilmen Farrall, Kerr, Hayes and Larcombe supporting it, while Solons Chambers, Rowe and Eardley opposed it. Another meeting will be necessary to place the proposal on third reading should there be no change in the vote line-up at tonight's session.

Unless council acts on the salary slash before January 1, there can be no adjustment in the mayor's salary for the next two years. Sponsors of the ordinance assert that the mayor's work will be reduced approximately 75 percent with the establishment of a municipal court here on January 1.

EDWARD LIBBEY, TOLEDO, DIES

Owens Bottling Company Founder Was Philanthropist.

TOLEDO, Nov. 13.—Edward D. Libbey, 65, founder of the Owens Bottle company, and Toledo's leading philanthropist, died at his rooms at the Secor hotel at 9 o'clock this morning.

Libbey contracted a severe cold two weeks ago. Until last night, it was thought that his condition was favorable and his recovery was expected. Suddenly there was a turn for the worse, and hope was abandoned.

Libbey was one of the leaders of the glass industry, recently he sold his interests to New York capitalists.

A leader in industrial and financial circles, he was no less well known as a philanthropist. He was responsible for the building of the Toledo Art museum, and had contributed liberally to other philanthropic projects.

Kids!

A quick, snappy breakfast, a hurried dip in the wash basin, a sketchy "drying off" with the towel and the kid's on the way to school. These sharp, cold days take those half dryed hands and the way they split the tender skin, "chap" the wrists and cause pain is a shame! I've a HEALING BALM here that does just what its name indicates—25c—A winter necessity.

"DO YOUR CHRISTMAS SHOPPING EARLY!"

Been a long, long time since you've read that, eh? It either thrills you or it will leave you with a terrified feeling in the small of your bankbock—'cording to what your age is!

Yet never have I made that statement more sincerely, more earnestly and firmly! You just go get an accurate calendar and you and the kid of the house "count the days" and you'll see how reasonable it is to paste that National hymn up above! Surprised you, didn't it?

If the Banking Fraternity can start Christmas Saving Accounts during January, the month of headaches, pale, scared pocketbooks, new neckties, bedroom slippers and trick smoking equipment, why shouldn't we druggists take a 60 or a 90 days' jump on you all? Answer THAT!

Fifteen years ago the druggist did a stupendous business the days AFTER Christmas and New Years but nowadays his trade hops up mighty keen and snappy during the Holidays same as a department store. And EVERY shopper knows the mess they're in when they have a "long list", very little time and NEVER enuf money. (No one EVER had enuf MONEY.)

So we're going to TRY and get you to watch these ads. every week now, get you to "scout around" our counters NOWADAYS and TRY to get you to SELECT or to BUY or to LAY AWAY a whole raft of stuff, SUITABLE FOR CHRISTMAS PRESENTS.

No one should be peeved at this suggestion!

JOHN CARNAHAN.

Shorty Says:—

In case anybody takes Jack in earnest up above I'd appreciate it if you would put ME on your Christmas List and in order that there won't be any duplication of presents made to me, I will suggest the following items I'd like to have, so now you can choose up among you who will present them to me:

1..32x6 full Balloon Tire. I haven't a car yet but if I ever DO get one, these are the kind of tires I want on it,—

1 Small Airship suitable for one with a heavy beard.
1 Dress Suit, any size, as I never wear one anyhow.
3 "Whatnots" suitable for a dance hall or kitchen.
1 Large sized skillet which has no cracks in it.
3 Free lunch counters with old-fashioned equipment.
1 Corn Husker with pop-corn attachment.

With these Christmas presents, I feel certain I can worry thro another year with Jack.

Life gets awful dull at times being a celebrity like I am. Folks hold back from getting acquainted feeling that mebbe I might call 'em climbers.

PAGO PAGO MAKES IDEAL NAVAL BASE

Port in Heart of Extinct Volcano Crater.

Washington.—Pago Pago, visited by United States naval vessels, on their return from Australia and New Zealand, is the capital of American Samoa, which is the only bit of American soil that lies south of the equator, according to the bulletin from the Washington headquarters of the National Geographic society.

"Pago Pago practically fell into the lap of a none too willing America while various powers were seeking island territory in the Pacific," continues the bulletin; "but if the entire South seas had been combed, with all the other nations standing deferentially by, a better location for a naval base hardly could have been chosen. Most South Sea harbors are little more than crescent bays, protected by coral reefs, their safety largely dependent on the direction of the wind. At Pago Pago ships sail into the heart of a huge extinct volcano crater, only a narrow entrance open to the sea. Furthermore, there is a sharp turn inside, the whole harbor being shaped much like the ankle and foot of a stocking.

Beautiful as Well as Safe.

"The United States naval station is situated on the 'instep,' its back toward the sea, but with high mountains intervening. Pago Pago town lies at the 'toe.' Most of the anchorage is entirely out of sight of the sea, and the ships lie in deep placid water even when destructive gales are blowing outside.

"Giving Pago Pago the premier place among South Sea havens does not do it justice. Many famous harbors are more commodious; but it is hardly too much to say that Pago Pago is at once one of the safest and most beautiful harbors in the world. A narrow strip of level land rims the harbor. Immediately beyond this strip the sides rise up steeply to mountainous heights, the sloping walls covered with varying shades of green, tropical vegetation. In addition to the naval station and Pago Pago town, three or four villages nestle close to the water's edge around the harbor, their thatched huts half hidden by coconut palms.

"The harbor of Pago Pago almost cuts the island of Tutuila in two. This is the largest isle of American Samoa, 17 miles long and about five wide. The other American islands lie about sixty miles to the east. Only one, Tau, about five miles in diameter, is of importance, though two smaller isles are inhabited. Altogether the population of American Samoa is about 8,000, some 6,000 residing on Tutuila.

"American Samoa has been little spoiled by the civilization of the mother country, or that of other whites. Few whites reside in the islands besides the small group of missionaries and the officers, men and nurses at the naval station. Only one plantation is owned by a white man and only three or four whites have leaseholds. Practically the entire surface of the islands is owned in small tracts by individual natives. The United States even bought from individual landlords the 40 acres needed for its naval establishment.

"In the past the lava-lava, a sort of short skirt or kilt, was the only garment worn by both men and women. Now slight concessions are made. In Pago Pago or in the presence of whites the men add a sort of undershirt and the women a sort of jacket or smock. Among themselves, however, and in the outlying districts, the natives still let the lava-lava, tucked about the waist, serve in place of the white man's and white woman's more complex costume.

Natives Largely Self-Governing.

"In governmental matters, too, the United States has practiced laissez faire to an extent highly appreciated by the natives. The system employed so successfully by the Dutch in the East Indies has been adopted. An American naval officer stationed at the Pago Pago depot is appointed governor, but all officials under him actually exercising supervision over the natives are native hereditary chiefs. The islands are divided into three districts (ancient native divisions) with a native governor for each. Under the governors are chiefs of 'counties' (also ancient districts) and under the county chiefs are the village chiefs. The village chiefs have councils composed of the heads of families.

"The United States practices a certain measure of paternalism over its South Sea island wards. Copra, the dried meat of coconuts, is practically the only article of export. The government handles this crop for the natives, so assuring them a fair price. Free medical attention is furnished through naval medical officers, dentists, nurses and hospital corps men. The health of the Samoans is excellent and their numbers are increasing. During the 21 years of American control the population has grown 41 per cent."

SATURDAY'S GAMES MAY DETERMINE GRID TITLE

Interest Directed to Six Focal Points Throughout Country Where Leading Elevens Will be in Action; Dartmouth at Chicago Ranks as Outstanding Contest.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Between sun up and sunrise tomorrow, the collegiate football championship of America can and possibly will come down to a definite decision in all or any one of six points throughout the country. One of these is the well known city of Chicago. The boys will have something of a large time voting the unbeaten Green out of the national title. If Dartmouth does finish second—good night Tosti.

The Middle West then would be able to point with pride to the fact that the so-called eastern championship lost to Chicago, who lost to Illinois, which lost to Michigan, Iowa and Nebraska. The East couldn't laugh off a sour one like that with a mouth organ.

However, Dartmouth should beat Chicago, unless a straight line happens to be the longest distance between two given points, which the writer is pleased to doubt.

Another focal point is Berkeley, Cal., where Stanford and California will meet for the championship of the coast and, mayhap, the entire country. Each is unbeaten. The writer has been ill advised enough as to count the Olympic club's victory over California as a definite liability when, as a matter of fact, this means less than nothing. The team that wins this game will be the Coast champion and possibly the national title holder as well.

Alabama Should Win.

A third point of national interest is Montgomery, Ala., where Alabama and Florida will meet, and a fourth is Columbia, Mo., where Missouri and Oklahoma are coupled. Alabama should beat Florida if only for the fact that the latter lost to Georgia Tech, which finished second to Alabama. Missouri, however, has picked up a live one in Oklahoma, which lost to Nebraska by three points, which lost to Missouri by exactly the same total.

Both Missouri and Alabama have been unbeaten, to date. So have Syracuse and Colgate, which are to meet in their annual catch-as-can at Syracuse. Colgate generally is favored to win, if only for the fact of the Orange's rather depressing 3 to 3 tie with Ohio Wesleyan last Saturday.

The sixth unbeaten big team is Tulane, which is scheduled to go into action against Sewanee. This should be a "breather," in view of the fact that Alabama "took" Sewanee for 27 to 0 earlier in the season.

Another game that might have an effect on the ultimate standing is the Yale-Princeton affair at New Haven. Both have been beaten, but there isn't the slightest reason to believe that they do not rank with the best in the land right at this moment. Yale should win but you could count Princeton out only when the referee toils his fateful ten.

The Alabama Poly-Vanderbilt game seems like an even proposition when reckoned on comparatively scores. So does the Georgia Tech-Georgia contest. However, this line may be drawn through the equation: Vanderbilt smothered Tennessee, Tennessee beat Georgia, Tech beat Vanderbilt.

The Kansas Aggies-Nebraska game figures like another close one. Each lost to Missouri by three points, affording further proof of the fact that the man who framed the Nebraska schedule was not a man without ambitious ideas.

Then, of course, we have the weekly Big Ten conference difficulties, with Michigan and Iowa attempting to reinstate themselves. The Wolverines are due to play Ohio State and should win. The Hawkeyes are teamed up with Minnesota and also figure to survive the issue, if any. Another conference game will bring together Northwestern and Purdue. The former should win, particularly with Baker back in action.

The Pennsylvania-Pittsburgh affair should be closer than a split-second with no logical choice in view. Neither is there much choice between Penn State and West Virginia. However, Brown should beat Harvard for the fourth straight time, Columbia should finish second to the Army and New Hampshire should beat Maine.

By the same token, the three intersectional games on the list should run according to schedule, with Washington and Jefferson scoring over Detroit, Georgetown beating Centre, which has been taking it on the chin from all comers, and Notre Dame prevailing over Carnegie Tech in a close game.

THISTLES HERE IN LEAGUE TILT

Laughlins to Throw Full Strength Against Visitors.

The Homer Laughlin Soccer club will tackle the strong Glencoe Thistles, of Gove City, one of the top division teams of the Press Northwestern circuit, tomorrow afternoon at Newell.

Manager Shaw intends to take no chances on the outcome of the game that might endanger the standing of the locals which, at the present time, is at the top of the league alongside the Ellwood City Shelbys, and so the full strength of the club will be thrown into the battle with the Pennsylvanians.

The Thistles are a strong, aggressive outfit. They have lost but a single contest during the season. The majority of their players hail from Braddock and East Pittsburgh where soccer booms at all times.

The kickoff tomorrow will be made at 3 o'clock.

Probable lineup:

Grove City		Laughlins
Harris	Goal	Beech
Brown	R.B.	Bain
McKay	L.B.	Scarry
Price	R.H.	Mortenson

'BRING BACK BALL' WOOSTER SLOGAN

WOOSTER, Nov. 13.—"Bring back that ball" is the slogan at Wooster college this week-end as the Wooster team preps for the game at Akron Saturday. There is a custom, in college football, that the winning team takes the ball.

From the beginning of the 1917 season until October 11,1924, not one of Wooster's opponents were able to take a ball away from Wooster. Then, when Wooster dedicated the new $50,000 football bleachers, Akron won from Wooster 7 to 6 and took the ball.

Wooster must have the ball this season to atone, in a measure, for the one lost last year. Students are reminded of it by placards on the campus, players are reminded by placards in the gymnasium.

Wooster's team is in good shape for the game. With no game on the card last week, Coach Boles' men were able to rest from the bruises of the game with State.

Wooster's 1925 season will end with the Big Red of Akron playing here November 21.

A. A. U. PLANS RULE CHANGES

Open Three-day Session Saturday in Pittsburgh.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13. — Numerous changes in the rules will be proposed when the Amateur Athletic Union opens its three-day annual meeting in Pittsburgh on Sunday, it became known today. One of them will deal with eligibility in noctive track and field events, providing that all athletes may compete as novices until they win a prize in a meet open to two or more clubs or colleges. Heretofore, school boys were barred from novice events after they won prizes in scholastic meets.

Another proposed amendment would require an athlete transferring from his club to a college at the beginning of a school term to transfer back to the same club at the end of the term or compete unattached for one year. A third would make the distances between the hurdles in the 440-yard event conform with the Olympic 400-metre hurdle standard.

FUGAZY LEASES EBBETS FIELD

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—It was announced today that Humber J. Fugazy, who successfully promoted the Greb-Walker and Willis-Weinert bouts for the benefit of the Italian hospital, had taken a lease on Ebbets field, Brooklyn, for next year for the purpose of promoting boxing and professional football. A franchise in the National Football league for 1926 was one of Fugazy's aims, it was said.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13. — A lightweight championship bout between Jimmy Goodrich, of Buffalo, the recognized champion, and Luis Vicentini, of Chili, was discussed today as a possibility for the feature attraction at the annual Christmas fund show, Dec. 23. In the event that the bout is closed, Sammy Mandell and Sid Terris, two of the leading contenders for the title, would meet in the semi-final bout.

HAWLEY'S TEAM IN CHICAGO

Rest Before Clash Tomorrow With Stagg Eleven.

CHICAGO, Nov. 13.—Weary but otherwise fit for the morrow's ordeal, Dartmouth's big green team arrived here early today in quest of a national football title.

Then men were all in a jubilant mood when they alighted from their Pullmans to bask in the warmth of a typical Indian summer morning. The sudden change in weather was more than welcome since the easterners had held Thursday's practice on a rain driven gridiron at Flint, Mich.

"We are here to win any kind of a football game," said Coach Jesse Hawley to the band of alumni as his team gathered on the platform.

"After Chicago's showing at Illinois, we hardly expect anything but our hardest game of the season."

He intimated he would start the same team that kicked off to Cornell last week.

Hawley was assured the field would be in the best possible condition, straw having been scattered over the gridiron for the last week.

Stagg concluded preparations Thursday with a long scrimmage. "Five Yards" McCarty, fullback, injured in the Illinois game, was in uniform.

The clubs are expected to play before 35,000 fans.

OHIO SCHOOL SPORT GROWING

"Athletics Clean," Opinion of Commissioner Townsend.

COLUMBUS, Nov. 13.—High school athletics in Ohio are booming as never before.

This is the opinion of H. R. Townsend, commissioner of athletics of the state's high schools. Mr. Townsend took over his duties September 1, when the job was created, and he has spent a busy two months.

He believes that if the growing interest continues in high school football, every city of any size in Ohio will have stadia for the game within 10 years.

While Mr. Townsend's principal duties so far have been investigating claims of ineligibility of football players, he nevertheless declared that high school athletics in the state are "99 per cent clean."

"You won't find any high school football team using a player that does not belong," he said. "They don't run in ringers such as college players and the like.

He told of an incident in northern Ohio. The principal of a high school there found out that one of the football players had engaged in professional baseball this summer.

He personally reported the incident to Commissioner Townsend, and asked that the last five games in which the player had participated be declared void. This virtually wiped out his team's record for the season.

"The officials of a high school team are sometimes a little careless about their players, but there is never any intention to violate the spirit of fair play," Townsend declared.

Mr. Townsend plans to make a tour of the state's high schools as soon as the rush of football duties ends. He probably will start out the first of the year.

A football player himself in his college days, and later a coach of high school teams, the new commissioner is intensely fond of the sport. Before taking up his duties here, he was principal of a Hamilton high school for nine years.

BOONE WILL INSPECT EAST END LOT TODAY

BULLETIN

The East Liverpool-Toronto football game here tomorrow afternoon will be played at Columbian park, instead of at Patterson Field.

This was the announcement by Coach O. V. Boone following an inspection before noon of the two playing grounds. The East End field, the grid mentor pointed out, will afford conveniences for both players and spectators.

The game will start at 2:30 o'clock. Gross, of New Philadelphia, will referee; Pat Brannan, Warren, will umpire, and Reid, of this city, will be head linesman.

SCHOOL officials here today were considering the advisability of transfering Saturday afternoon's football game with Toronto high from Patterson Field, which this morning gave all the appearance of the proverbiel sea of mud, to the grassier confines of Columbian park in the East End.

Coach O. V. Boone, and other school authorities, this morning were scheduled to go to East End for an inspection of the lot there. Prior to their departure it was the local coach's opinion that in any event Columbian park undoubtedly would prove more usable than Patterson Field.

Practically all season, East Liverpool high, as well as a great many other teams throughout the country, for that matter, has been forced to perform in almost ankle deep mud, and players, as well as spectators, are finding the weekly occurrence of a monotonous nature. No small part of the brilliancy and natural attractiveness of the sport has been robbed this fall by incessant rains.

Should the contest be transferred to the East End lot, the change will be of benefit, undoubtedly, to both players and spectators alike. A decision on the matter was expected at noon today.

Toronto high gridders this season have won two games, lost four and tied one, but the fact that the Jefferson countians have played no handpicked schedule is to be taken into consideration.

They dropped their opener to New Philadelphia, 9 to 0 and on the following week trimmed Chester, 7-0. They then invaded Steubenville and took the count to the tune of 39 to 0. They lost, next, to Follansbee, the team that plays at Chester tomorrow, 13 to 6.

In their appearance the week following they gained a 16 0 decision over Mingo Junction and then turned around and lost to Weirton, 6-0. In last week's clash, they battled to a scoreless tie at New Cumberland.

Probable lineup:

Toronto		East Liverpool
Blackburn	L.E.	Perry
Schultz	L.T.	Hanes
Sutton	L.G.	Banks
Maag	C.	Larkins
White	R.G.	Irwin
Snyder	R.T.	Bough

Mr. Townsend plans to make a tour of the state's high schools as soon as the rush of football duties ends. He probably will start out the first of the year.

A football player himself in his college days, and later a coach of high school teams, the new commissioner is intensely fond of the sport. Before taking up his duties here, he was principal of a Hamilton high school for nine years.

BOONE WILL INSPECT EAST END LOT TODAY

BULLETIN

The East Liverpool- Toronto football game here tomorrow afternoon will be played at Columbian park, instead of at Patterson Field.

This was the announcement by Coach O. V. Boone following an inspection before noon of the two playing grounds. The East End field, the grid mentor pointed out, will afford conveniences for both players and spectators.

The game will start at 2:30 o'clock. Gross, of New Philadelphia, will referee; Pat Brannan, Warren, will umpire, and Reid, of this city, will be head linesman.

SCHOOL officials here today were considering the advisability of transfering Saturday afternoon's football game with Toronto high from Patterson Field, which this morning gave all the appearance of the proverbiel sea of mud, to the grassier confines of Columbian park in the East End.

Coach O. V. Boone, and other school authorities, this morning were scheduled to go to East End for an inspection of the lot there. Prior to their departure it was the local coach's opinion that in any event Columbian park undoubtedly would prove more usable than Patterson Field.

Practically all season, East Liverpool high, as well as a great many other teams throughout the country, for that matter, has been forced to perform in almost ankle deep mud, and players, as well as spectators, are finding the weekly occurrence of a monotonous nature. No small part of the brilliancy and natural attractiveness of the sport has been robbed this fall by incessant rains.

Should the contest be transferred to the East End lot, the change will be of benefit, undoubtedly, to both players and spectators alike. A decision on the matter was expected at noon today.

Toronto high gridders this season have won two games, lost four and tied one, but the fact that the Jefferson countians have played no hand-picked schedule is to be taken into consideration.

They dropped their opener to New Philadelphia, 9 to 0 and on the following week trimmed Chester, 7-0. They then invaded Steubenville and took the count to the tune of 39 to 0. They lost, next, to Follansbee, the team that plays at Chester tomorrow, 13 to 6.

In their appearance the week following they gained a 16 0 decision over Mingo Junction and then turned around and lost to Weirton, 6-0. In last week's clash, they battled to a scoreless tie at New Cumberland.

Probable lineup:

Toronto		East Liverpool
Blackburn	L.E.	Perry
Schultz	L.T.	Hanes
Sutton	L.G.	Banks
Maag	C.	Larkins
White	R.G.	Irwin
Snyder	R.T.	Bough
Chaney	R.E.	E. English
Hinkle	Q.	Heddleston
McCarty	L.H.	Allison
Tulencik	R.H.	Reible
Smith	F.	P. English

"SHOW-OFF" IS CERAMIC HIT

Great American Comedy Delights Large Audience.

George Kelly's inimitable offering, "The Show-Off," which scored a sensational success in New York and Chicago, added to its list of admirers last night, when this great American comedy was presented at the Ceramic theatre.

An audience that taxed the capacity of the playhouse spent an evening in which mirth shared with pathos as the well balanced cast presented an amusing study of a typical American family. And in the characters on the stage were seen doubles of many friends of those in the parquet and balcony seats.

"The Show-Off" depicts the ridiculous conceit of some American youths who have an exaggerated opinion of their own importance and a general tendency to marry without the slightest regard for the economic consideration incident to the establishment and maintenance of a home.

Amy Fisher, daughter of an everyday family, is keeping company with Aubrey Piper, a flashy $32 a week clerk in the Pennsylvania freight office and in defiance of the counsel of her mother, brother and elder sister, who come into some knowledge of Aubrey Piper's matrimonial eligibility, Amy marries him. The cold economical fact which the enraptured lovers are obliged to contemplate after their marriage and the efforts of Amy's family to spare her the tragedy of her husband's incompetence and inability to support her makes a transcript of life in America today as irresistibly amusing as it is mercilessly faithful.

The offering scored even a bigger hit than "Applesauce," which won the plaudits of a large audience at the Ceramic several weeks ago.

Many Attend Euchre.

Large crowd attended the euchre held last evening in the hall over the First National bank, Third street and Carolina avenue, under the auspices of the women of the Sacred Heart Catholic church.

Actions of Demented Ant Described by Scientist

Zurich.—The story of a demented ant is recorded in the Swiss Archive for Neurology and Psychiatry with all due scientific seriousness by Dr. Rudolph Brun, widely known nerve specialist.

The ant was discovered in one of the artificially constructed nests for scientific observation. The insect ran about incessantly while others remained quietly in the corners of the nest, apparently shunning the demented one. The momentum of the wildly rushing ant was such that it was unable to stop when anything in its path was encountered.

After six days the ant was dissected and, under a microscope, it was found to have a tumor in the left lobe of the brain, which had destroyed several of the most important centers.

PUBLISHERS' MEET COMES TO CLOSE

With a unanimous vote to repeat the convention next year, probably in the middle west, the first annual fall meeting of the American Newspaper Publishers' association ended its three-day session yesterday at White Sulphur Springs. Lafayette Young, publisher of the Des Moines Capital, made the suggestion that some middle western city be chosen for next year's meeting, and it was taken under advisement by the board of directors.

"Better Advertising' was the keynote of the final business meeting. It was urged by speakers that publishers take more care in aiding local mercants to prepare effective and typographically pleasing advertising copy.

"SHOW-OFF" IS CERAMIC HIT

Great American Comedy Delights Large Audience.

George Kelly's inimitable offering, "The Show-Off," which scored a sensational success in New York and Chicago, added to its list of admirers last night, when this great American comedy was presented at the Ceramic theatre.

An audience that taxed the capacity of the playhouse spent an evening in which mirth shared with pathos as the well balanced cast presented an amusing study of a typical American family. And in the characters on the stage were seen doubles of many friends of those in the parquet and balcony seats.

"The Show-Off" depicts the ridiculous conceit of some American youths who have an exaggerated opinion of their own importance and a general tendency to marry without the slightest regard for the economic consideration incident to the establishment and maintenance of a home.

Amy Fisher, daughter of an everyday family, is keeping company with Aubrey Piper, a flashy $32 a week clerk in the Pennsylvania freight office and in defiance of the counsel of her mother, brother and elder sister, who come into some knowledge of Aubrey Piper's matrimonial eligibility, Amy marries him. The cold economical fact which the enraptured lovers are obliged to contemplate after their marriage and the efforts of Amy's family to spare her the tragedy of her husband's incompetence and inability to support her makes a transcript of life in America today as irresistibly amusing as it is mercilessly faithful.

The offering scored even a bigger hit than "Applesauce," which won the plaudits of a large audience at the Ceramic several weeks ago.

Many Attend Euchre.

Large crowd attended the euchre held last evening in the hall over the First National bank, Third street and Carolina avenue, under the auspices of the women of the Sacred Heart Catholic church.

Revival Meets Continue.

Evangelistic services at the First Christian church are being largely attended this week. The sermons are being given by Rev. William Mart Miller, of Newport, Ky. Special music is being featured.

Bible Class Meets.

Bible Searchers class of the First Methodist Episcopal church met last night in the tabernacle. Following the business session a social was held during which refreshments were served.

Chorus Choir to Practice.

Chorus choir of the First Methodist Episcopal church will hold a rehearsal this evening for "Mary, the Doubter's Daughter," an evangelistic song story, which will be presented in the church in the near future.

Condition Unchanged.

Little change was reported yesterday in the condition of James Paisley, Jr., 13-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. James Paisley, Florida avenue, who is confined in the East Liverpool City hospital as a result of a fractured skull received in an auto accident here Tuesday.

Notice.

I will be at the city hall Saturday afternoon and evening for the purpose of collecting city taxes.

City Sergeant.

Actions of Demented Ant Described by Scientist

Zurich.—The story of a demented ant is recorded in the Swiss Archive for Neurology and Psychiatry with all due scientific seriousness by Dr. Rudolph Brun, widely known nerve specialist.

The ant was discovered in one of the artificially constructed nests for scientific observation. The insect ran about incessantly while others remained quietly in the corners of the nest, apparently shunning the demented one. The momentum of the wildly rushing ant was such that it was unable to stop when anything in its path was encountered.

After six days the ant was dissected and, under a microscope, it was found to have a tumor in the left lobe of the brain, which had destroyed several of the most important centers.

Shades of Light Now Used In Treatment of Many Ills

All Colors of Spectrum Are Suggested for Different Complaints by Briton.

LONDON—Remarkable possibilities in the treatment of all kind of illness by the use of different shades of light were outlined by Lord Clifford of Chudleigh, who for many years has been studying the action of colored light upon the growth of vegetation, in an interview here.

According to his Lordship, all the colors of the spectrum may be utilized for different complaints, and in future doctors may describe their patients by their color rather than by their symptoms.

"One shade of red is the most effectual in all cases of blood poisoning," said his lordship. "Ultra-violet produces a fermentation in the body which reduces hardness of tissue and also builds up tissues.

Violet Aids Bone

"A particular shade of violet causes the growth of bone; an indigo produces hydro carbonates and body tissues; a shade of blue produces muscular generation and strength; a shade of green increases the vitality and general energy of the system and also the growth of fat; yellow restores the nerves.

"It is as well to remember, however, that the greatest care must be taken that only the right shade of each color is used, or opposite results may be obtained.

"The treatment would also benefit most people suffering from premature old age and mental worry produced by past illnesses.

"I do not claim that this light treatment can make people of sixty feel like thirty-five," warned his lordship, "but it certainly can restore them to the state of activity and fitness they enjoyed a dozen years before.

"I also have strong hopes that the new method will eventually lead to a cure for consumption."

Rome's Mayor

Through action of Mussolini cabinet in giving Rome a separate state government, S. Cremonesi becomes governor of "Eternal City." He has been royal commissioner of Rome for some time.

Lord Clifford has had an adventurous career, during which he has farmed in New Zealand and Tasmania, where he owns about eight thousand acres of land.

Construction of a railroad, nearly 40 miles long, from the Transcontinental Line of the Canadian National Railways to the Rourn mining district, will cost nearly $3,000,000.

Q. How many women go in for scientific pursuits? J. T. McL.

A. Though the proportion of women in higher professions is still small, the number is increasing rapidly. In 1920 there were estimated to be 1714 women chemists and metallurgists, and 9048 women physicians, surgeons and dentists.

Q. How many is meant by a "few?" E. N. A.

A. The word "few" has never been authoritatively interpreted to mean a definite number. The word is necessarily indefinite and implies a small number, not many. In general, the number is above two. The word is relative in respect to the number to which it is compared. If a thousand were expected, an attendance of a hundred would be a few, while if a hundred were a maximum, ten or twenty would seem a few.

Q. How should an aluminum griddle be cured before using? W. E. R.

A. The Bureau of Home Economics says that it is not necessary to cure an aluminum griddle. It is only iron utensils that should be cured. When an aluminum griddle is used add an extra teaspoon of butter to the recipe in order to prevent the cakes from sticking.

Q. How much water flows over Niagara Falls? W. L. R.

A. The normal flow of water over the Falls is 500,000 tons a minute.

Q. Why were the old type wooden bridges covered? E. J. S.

A. The covered bridge is a survival of an ancient custom. A great many of these bridges were built before the Revolutionary war and their builders followed the methods used by the old European bridge builders. The object of covering the roadway of the bridge was for the purpose of protection against the weather, against possible riots and primitive weapons.

Q. What were the colored battalions in the Canadian Army during the World war? J. W. K.

A. The department of National Defense of the Dominion of Canada says there were no negro battalions with the Canadian army during the late war. While it is true that some negroes served with the Canadian forces most of them were employed with railway construction troops or labor battalions.

Q. What comprised the stock of a grocery store at the time of the Civil war? J. T.

A. A day book of a retail grocer located in a mid-western town shows the entire list of imported articles sold by him in 1862 as follows: Coffee, tea, figs, mustard, pepper, cloves, allspice, nutmeg, ginger, cinnamon, lemons, oranges, sage, prunes, raisins, almonds. Other foods handled by him were: Eggs, molasses, dried apples, dried peaches, cranberries, potatoes, sugar, vinegar, saleratus, butter, cheese, crackers, lard, smoked halibut, whitefish, dried herring, rice, syrup, salt, cream of tartar, beans, rye, coffee, peanuts, beef, veal, pork, lemon extract, onions, cabbage, turnips, native nuts. If this storekeeper had other foods they were not indicated on his charge account for two years.

Q. What was the price of admission to the London theatres in Shakespeare's day? J. C. D.

A. The price of admission to the theatre in the time of Shakespeare varied. In 1579 admission could be obtained for one penny and two pennies. In 1596 there was apparently a regular scale applicable to all entertainments. One penny was paid at the gate, another at the entrance to the building, and a third for quiet standing. From this time the prices began to rise rapidly, and by 1604 there were both six penny and twelve penny seats.

The world is growing more fond of canned salmon, and as a result Canadian fisheries, which will produce 1,000,000 cases of the finney food this year, are smiling over prosperity.

Switzerland's international exhibition of inland navigation and utilization of hydraulic power will be open from July 1 to September 15, next year.

Shades of Light Now Used In Treatment of Many Ills

All Colors of Spectrum Are Suggested for Different Complaints by Briton.

LONDON—Remarkable possibilities in the treatment of all kind of illness by the use of different shades of light were outlined by Lord Clifford of Chudleigh, who for many years has been studying the action of colored light upon the growth of vegetation, in an interview here.

According to his Lordship, all the colors of the spectrum may be utilized for different complaints, and in future doctors may describe their patients by their color rather than by their symptoms.

"One shade of red is the most effectual in all cases of blood poisoning," said his lordship. "Ultra-violet produces a fermentation in the body which reduces hardness of tissue and also builds up tissues.

Violet Aids Bone

"A particular shade of violet causes the growth of bone; an indigo produces hydro carbonates and body tissues; a shade of blue produces muscular generation and strength; a shade of green increases the vitality and general energy of the system and also the growth of fat; yellow restores the nerves.

"It is as well to remember, however, that the greatest care must be taken that only the right shade of each color is used, or opposite results may be obtained.

"The treatment would also benefit most people suffering from premature old age and mental worry produced by past illnesses.

"I do not claim that this light treatment can make people of sixty feel like thirty-five," warned his lordship, "but it certainly can restore them to the state of activity and fitness they enjoyed a dozen years before.

"I also have strong hopes that the new method will eventually lead to a cure for consumption."

Rome's Mayor

Through action of Mussolini cabinet in giving Rome a separate state government, S. Cremonesi becomes governor of "Eternal City." He has been royal commissioner of Rome for some time.

Lord Clifford has had an adventurous career, during which he has farmed in New Zealand and Tasmania, where he owns about eight thousand acres of land.

Construction of a railroad, nearly 40 miles long, from the Transcontinental Line of the Canadian National Railways to the Rourn mining district, will cost nearly $3,000,000.

Q. How many women go in for scientific pursuits? J. T. McL.

A. Though the proportion of women in higher professions is still small, the number is increasing rapidly. In 1920 there were estimated to be 1714 women chemists and metallurgists, and 9048 women physicians, surgeons and dentists.

Q. How many is meant by a "few?" E. N. A.

A. The word "few' has never been authoritatively interpreted to mean a definite number. The word is necessarily indefinite and implies a small number, not many. In general, the number is above two. The word is relative in respect to the number to which it is compared. If a thousand were expected, an attendance of a hundred would be a few, while if a hundred were a maximum, ten or twenty would seem a few.

Q. How should an aluminum griddle be cured before using? W. E. R.

A. The Bureau of Home Economics says that it is not necessary to cure an aluminum griddle. It is only iron utensils that should be cured. When an aluminum griddle is used add an extra teaspoon of butter to the recipe in order to prevent the cakes from sticking.

Q. How much water flows over Niagara Falls? W. L. R.

A. The normal flow of water over the Falls is 500,000 tons a minute.

Q. Why were the old type wooden bridges covered? E. J. S.

A. The covered bridge is a survival of an ancient custom. A great many of these bridges were built before the Revolutionary war and their builders followed the methods used by the old European bridge builders. The object of covering the roadway of the bridge was for the purpose of protection against the weather, against possible riots and primitive weapons.

Q. What were the colored battalions in the Canadian Army during the World war? J. W. K.

A. The department of National Defense of the Dominion of Canada says there were no negro battalions with the Canadian army during the late war. While it is true that some negroes served with the Canadian forces most of them were employed with railway construction troops or labor battalions.

Q. What comprised the stock of a grocery store at the time of the Civil war? J. T.

A. A day book of a retail grocer located in a mid-western town shows the entire list of imported articles sold by him in 1862 as follows: Coffee, tea, figs, mustard, pepper, cloves, allspice, nutmeg, ginger, cinnamon, lemons, oranges, sage, prunes, raisins, almonds. Other foods handled by him were: Eggs, molasses, dried apples, dried peaches, cranberries, potatoes, sugar, vinegar, saleratus, butter, cheese, crackers, lard, smoked halibut, whitefish, dried herring, rice, syrup, salt, cream of tartar, beans, rye, coffee, peanuts, beef, veal, pork, lemon extract, onions, cabbage, turnips, native nuts. If this storekeeper had other foods they were not indicated on his charge account for two years.

Q. What was the price of admission to the London theatres in Shakespeare's day? J. C. D.

A. The price of admission to the theatre in the time of Shakespeare varied. In 1579 admission could be obtained for one penny and two pennies. In 1596 there was apparently a regular scale applicable to all entertainments. One penny was paid at the gate, another at the entrance to the building, and a third for quiet standing. From this time the prices began to rise repidly, and by 1604 there were both six penny and twelve penny seats.

HEIRESS BRIDE OF BROADWAY'S POPULAR SON

REVEAL ROMANCE

Restaurateur's Son Marries Hettie Green's Granddaughter.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Mary Stafford Green, heiress to a fortune of $100,000,000, the charming and educated 28-year-old granddaughter of the former "Hettie" Green, one-time richest woman in the world, has become the bride of "Willie" Moore, 27, one of the most popular figures on Broadway and the son of "Dinty" Moore, New York's famous restaurateur.

The happy young couple are today occupying a sumptuous honeymoon suite, strewn with yellow peonies, at the Waldorf-Astoria.

They slipped away to Greenwich, Conn., on October 16, it became known today, and were married before Justice of the Peace Meade.

The romance has surprised and delighted Broadway, where "Willie" is a favorite. He was well-known as a champion ballroom dancer and had received several offers for vaudeville engagements. He turned them down, however, to act as manager of his father's place—"Dinty" Moore's, famous for 15 years as the resort of New York's theatrical and sporting element. "Dinty" Moore's "ham and cabbage" has been the delight of the visiting "big butter and egg men from the west" and other patrons for years. There was a time when "Dinty's" beer was the best.

The bride is the adopted daughter of "Col." Edward H. R. Green, the only son of the late "Hettie" Green. Hetty Green made her fortune in real estate and banking in New York. She lived frugally in a hall room bedroom, saved her money and amassed an enormous fortune.

Mary Stafford was adopted by "Col." Green when she was a child after her parents died. Both of her parents were warm friends of Green. Mary was educated at the finest schools in the United States. At his estate at Round Hills, Mass., one of the private show places of the world, Mary had every advantage money could bring—servants, tutors, cars, clothes and friends. She took many trips to various parts of the world.

After "Willie" and Mary slipped away to Greenwich and were married they went to Round Hills and were well received when they broke the news to the "colonel," who is described as "the millionaire radio bug." He turned over his mansion to his heir and her young husband. He gave the bride a wedding present said to be $1,000,000 in a lump sum and a beautiful string of pearls.

Why Starve Yourself Trying To Reduce?

"SILPH" REDUCING CHEWING GUM—a Wonderful New Discovery Will SAFELY—EASILY Take Off Several Pounds a Week!

All you have to do is to "CHEW SILPH AND BE SYLPH-LIKE"

No longer need you suffer from excess fat—No longer need you be humiliated by sarcastic looks or remarks—No longer need you starve yourself to distraction or tire yourself out with exercises. With Silph Reducing Chewing Gum, the latest and most wonderful discovery ever made, every man, woman and child can today safely, quickly and easily reduce. Silph Reducing Gum is the result of years of scientific study and experiments—it is different from anything ever advised to take off FAT. It is simple, safe, cheap and easy. Silph Reducing Gum is not a drug or a laxative; it contains juice extract of sea plants and herbs known for years to possess wonderful reducing properties. When mixed with the gastric juices through the flow of saliva it eliminates fat forming elements in the system—at the same time it is great for stomach or intestinal trouble.

Silph sells for 50 cents a box, enough for one week, at all drug stores. Remember that to "CHEW SILPH IS TO BE SYLPH-LIKE," that's New York's latest slogan.

In case your druggist is out of Silph you can get from the Silph Medical Co., 9 W. 60th St., N. Y. City. Silph sells for 50c. per box or two full week's supply, $1.00.

U. S. CENSURED FOR USE OF LOCAL PRISONS

'Abominable Conditions' Blamed on Practice of Crowding.

DR. HART REPORTS

Investigation Reveals Many County Jails Unsanitary.

JACKSON, Miss.—The United States government is using one-third of all the city and county jails in the country without paying any rent, and is boarding out more than 7,000 prisoners—including many who are merely awaiting trial—to local jails over which the federal government has no control and many of which are desperately over-crowded, reeking of physical and moral filth.

Seeks Reform.

This, briefly, is the substance of a report submitted to the 55th annual congress of the American Prison association here by Dr. Hastings H. Hart, chairman of the association's committee on jails, formerly president of the association, now consultant in delinquency and penology at the Russell Sage Foundation in New York City. The committee during the last year has studied conditions in the 893 city and county jails and workhouses in which federal prisoners are kept.

Dr. Hart, who has been a member of the Prison association for more than forty years and is one of the world leaders in the movement for prison reform, declared in submitting the report that his study of the treatment of federal prisoners in county jails has revealed "such abominable conditions" that he expects to devote the remainder of his life to seeking a correction of these conditions, and that the Russell Sage Foundation will pursue its studies in this direction with a view to correcting these abuses.

The committee's report reveals that many of the county jails in which United States prisoners are confined, especially along the Canadian and Mexican frontiers and in large cities, are desperately overcrowded. In the Cook county jail at Chicago, for example, it has been customary to keep five prisoners in cells intended for one. Similar conditions have existed in Detroit, Cleveland, New York, and other cities where the criminal population has been multiplied while jail facilities have not been increased.

Many of the county jails are unsanitary; and a very large percentage infested with vermin. Most of them have an adequate staff of employes, who have had no special training and are politically appointed, selected without reference to their special qualifications for the job.

Results In Hardship.

The report says, "These conditions result in hardship, not only to the United States prisoners, but also to the local prisoners who are subject to the same conditions." It must be remembered that a large part of these prisoners are unconvicted and a considerable portion are subsequently legally proven innocent; that the law requires that persons accused of crime shall be treated as innocent until proven to be guilty; and that a large part of the prisoners serving sentence are held for non-payment of a fine, simply because they owe the government $10, $25 or $100.

"If they can pay the fine they go scot free; if not, they remain subject to punishment far more severe than that which is given to felons in the United States penitentiaries, while the United States authorities who commit them have nothing whatever to say as to the treatment, which they shall receive.

"Not only does the present system inflict hardship upon federal and county prisoners, but it inflicts great injustice upon the taxpayers in the counties where such prisoners are confined. The United States boards of its prisoners in the various county jails and pays for their board at so much per day. The government tries to get as cheap a rate as possible. These rates range all the way from 20 cents per day in five jails in Porto Rico to 3 per day in three jails in Alaska. The average payment is 69 cents per day, but in 442 jails the payment is less than 69 cents.

"In fixing rates the government barters with the county officials in exactly the same way as a man would barter with a boarding house. One of the duties of the federal inspector of prisons is to make new rates as new institutions are used, and to attempt to keep rates at existing levels where jailers or other county officials interested demand more money.

"The government too often has been more interested in receiving a cheap rate than in securing good jails. The federal prison officials are necessarily following a practice imposed upon them by years of custom, and by the fact that appropriations are limited."

Brazil nuts, so popular in this country that more than half Brazil's crop comes here, are now comparatively scarce, only 7,000 tons being raised this year, leaving a shortage of 11,000 tons.

In the Cook county jail at Chicago, for example, it has been customary to keep five prisoners in cells intended for one. Similar conditions have existed in Detroit, Cleveland, New York, and other cities where the criminal population has been multiplied while jail facilities have not been increased.

Many of the county jails are unsanitary; and a very large percentage infested with vermin. Most of them have an adequate staff of employes, who have had no special training and are politically appointed, selected without reference to their special qualifications for the job.

Results In Hardship.

The report says, "These conditions result in hardship, not only to the United States prisoners, but also to the local prisoners who are subject to the same conditions." It must be remembered that a large part of these prisoners are unconvicted and a considerable portion are subsequently legally proven innocent; that the law requires that persons accused of crime shall be treated as innocent until proven to be guilty; and that a large part of the prisoners serving sentence are held for non-payment of a fine, simply because they owe the government $10, $25 or $100.

"If they can pay the fine they go scot free; if not, they remain subject to punishment far more severe than that which is given to felons in the United States penitentiaries, while the United States authorities who commit them have nothing whatever to say as to the treatment, which they shall receive.

"Not only does the present system inflict hardship upon federal and county prisoners, but it inflicts great injustice upon the taxpayers in the counties where such prisoners are confined. The United States boards its prisoners in the various county jails and pays for their board at so much per day. The government tries to get as cheap a rate as possible. These rates range all the way from 20 cents per day in five jails in Porto Rico to 3 per day in three jails in Alaska. The average payment is 69 cents per day, but in 442 jails the payment is less than 69 cents.

"In fixing rates the government barters with the county officials in exactly the same way as a man would barter with a boarding house. One of the duties of the federal inspector of prisons is to make new rates as new institutions are used, and to attempt to keep rates at existing levels where jailers or other county officials interested demand more money.

"The government too often has been more interested in receiving a cheap rate than in securing good jails. The federal prison officials are necessarily following a practice imposed upon them by years of custom, and by the fact that appropriations are limited."

Brazil nuts, so popular in this country that more than half Brazil's crop comes here, are now comparatively scarce, only 7,000 tons being raised this year, leaving a shortage of 11,000 tons.

WALL STREET WORLD TYRANT, BERLIN SAYS

German Nationalist Warns Against Asking Loans.

REVIEWS MARKET

Claims Domestic Crisis Would Doom Economic Structure.

BERLIN.—"No tyrant of ancient times ever had such an unrestricted power over man like the financial magnates of Wall Street. While those tyrants decided on life or death of a restricted number of subjects, these Americans decide the fate of the whole civilized world," says a leader of the ultra-Nationalist Deutsche Zeitung, reviewing the investment market of the world.

Warning the German industrials of raising further loans in America, the leader continues:

"Two American experts have stated that American investments abroad amounted to about ten billion dollars. Increasing by one billion annually, these investments would amount to thirty billions in 1935, and to fifty billions in 1950. The entire economic structure of the world is bound to crash in the event of a domestic crisis in the United States.

Cites Case of Britain.

"We ask therefore, whether there is anything less considerate than erecting the structure of world's economy on such a shaky ground. Already now, proud Albion is dancing to the tune of Wall Street. When during the last month of Federal Reserve Board had to decide the question whether to heighten the bank rate the board decided not to do so because it did not like to disturb engagements at the New York Stock Exchange. Thus, England twice lowered the discount rate of the Bank of England. This lowering of the British rate meant a new influx of gold into the safes of American banks.

"It is erroneous to believe that American money will assist the European countries in their efforts to rebuild their industries. So far American credits have not essentially improved conditions in Germany. They only stimulated the desire for more credits. In their effect on Germany they are like cocaine, refreshing in the first moment, but compelling cocainists to take more and more of the poison.

"Secondly, American credits have no productive value. We should remember that the entire world is getting American credits. These credits will cause artificial fluctuations, and on these artificial fluctuations we are going to base our business. Even if of temporary value for German industries, the productive value of American credits will always be measured according to fluctuations on the world market. Within measurable time there will be a general inflation on the American investment market which will result in a disastrous crash of the entire European money market."

22 EXAMINED AT CLINIC HERE

Twenty-two persons were examined at the tuberculosis clinic held here Wednesday at the office of Dr. E. V. McEldowney in the Aaron building.

Dr. Henry G. Wildman, specialist in diagnosis of pulmonary diseases, was assisted by Dr. John B. Ahouse, county health physician; Dr. E. V. McEldowney, Miss Carolyn Brown, county health nurse; Mrs. J. M. Wells and Mrs. J. A. Todd, chairman of the Hancock County Tuberculosis league.

The test revealed only several active cases of tuberculosis.

Dr. Wildman conducted a clinic yesterday at New Cumberland, while two are scheduled for today and tomorrow at Weirton.

CHILDREN'S NIGHT COUGHS STOPPED AT ONCE

Children very frequently have spells of night coughing due to bronchial irritation, or while suffering from colds. These coughing spells, if not quickly checked, are very injurious to the child's health, to say nothing of the annoyance to others.

Now at last these night coughing spells can be quickly and safely checked at once with one swallow of a new prescription called Thoxine. Unlike mere cough mixtures, Thoxine gets at the cause. Coughing stops almost like magic. Also guaranteed to end sore throat within 15 minutes, or money refunded. No chloroform or other harmful drugs. Try Thoxine tonight. 35c., 60c. and $1.00 at all good druggists.

COLLEGE CAMPUS FREE OF AUTOS

Announcement was made to the Bethany college students yesterday that from now on automobiles of any size, shape or form driven by students would not be allowed on the college campus. In addition the faculty has decreed that all "gasoline driven vehicles" owned by students must be registered at the college office. This action was taken in order to put a stop to the reckless and dangerous driving done by students on the college drives and also to do away with the unsightly appearance of "Skeleton" or highly decorated "tin lizzies" parked about the college buildings. The faculty action does not banish student automobiles from the village but only from the college campus.

22 EXAMINED AT CLINIC HERE

Twenty-two persons were examined at the tuberculosis clinic held here Wednesday at the office of Dr. E. V. McEldowney in the Aaron building.

Dr. Henry G. Wildman, specialist in diagnosis of pulmonary diseases, was assisted by Dr. John B. Ahouse, county health physician; Dr. E. V. McEldowney, Miss Carolyn Brown, county health nurse; Mrs. J. M. Wells and Mrs. J. A. Todd, chairman of the Hancock County Tuberculosis league.

CHILDREN'S NIGHT COUGHS STOPPED AT ONCE

Children very frequently have spells of night coughing due to bronchial irritation, or while suffering from colds. These coughing spells, if not quickly checked, are very injurious to the child's health, to say nothing of the annoyance to others.

Now at last these night coughing spells can be quickly and safely checked at once with one swallow of a new prescription called Thoxine. Unlike mere cough mixtures, Thoxine gets at the cause. Coughing stops almost like magic. Also guaranteed to end sore throat within 15 minutes, or money refunded. No chloroform or other harmful drugs. Try Thoxine tonight. 35c., 60c. and $1.00 at all good druggists.

At Mathews Cut Rate Medicine Store and all other good Drug Stores.

The test revealed only several active cases of tuberculosis.

Dr. Wildman conducted a clinic yesterday at New Cumberland, while two are scheduled for today and tomorrow at Weirton.

COLLEGE CAMPUS FREE OF AUTOS

Announcement was made to the Bethany college students yesterday that from now on automobiles of any size, shape or form driven by students would not be allowed on the college campus. In addition the faculty has decreed that all "gasoline driven vehicles" owned by students must be registered at the college office. This action was taken in order to put a stop to the reckless and dangerous driving done by students on the college drives and also to do away with the unsightly appearance of "Skeleton" or highly decorated "tin lizzies" parked about the college buildings. The faculty action does not banish student automobiles from the village but only from the college campus.

CITY SCHOOL JANITOR UNDER CIVIL SERVICE

Must Take Exam, State Inspector Rules.

SUBMITS REPORT

Total of 81 Findings Made by Miss Vivian Dowds.

Janitors in the East Liverpool district schools must undergo a civil service examination and be regularly appointed from eligibility lists, according to a report by Miss Vivian Dowds, state examiner with the bureau of Inspection and Supervision of Public Offices, which has just been received by County Auditor Hamilton and Prosecuting Attorney Brookes.

The examiner says that janitors in the East Liverpool district schools are "irregularly employed" inasmuch as they have not undergone a civil service examination, conducted by the local civil service commission. Citing section 486-8 of the general code, the report states that "the clerk has been instructed that all janitors be required to pass a civil service examination, given by the civil service commission of the city, and can be em-

Was a Good Judge of Liquor

"Since a young man I had a liking for liquor and was considered a pretty good judge of it at one time, but constant drinking gave me stomach trouble, which became chronic. My stomach would have been a valuable addition to a gas factory. Doctors did not seem to relieve me. One day my druggist got me to try Mayr's Wonderful Remedy, and I am now as good as new." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Company, Atlanta, Ga. (adv.)

"Tiger Woman," Slayer of Mate, Kills Self, Unable to Live Without Him

"The tiger woman died because of her great love for the man she killed." Thus do New Orleans authorities explain the death of Mrs. Eleanor Fontana, 28, who committed suicide when she was released on bail after slaying her husband. She had been cruelly beaten and tortured for years, say physicians who examined scores of wounds upon her body.

Eskimos Prosper in Farming of Foxes

Nome, Alaska.—Frank Du Fresne, in charge of the Stewart peninsula for the United States biological survey, reports that Eskimos are taking a full part in developing the farming of foxes and the marketing of their pelts.

The south side of the peninsula is on Bering sea and the north on the Arctic ocean. On the north coast line, white men destroyed the Eskimo livelihood by annihilating the whales and burning the driftwood.

The Eskimos have taken to white foxes and some families are making incomes of $2,000 annually. From catching wild foxes and selling the furs, the natives have gone on to developing simple ranches.

The women do most of the work—it's the aboriginal way—but, Du Fresne pointed out, families threatened with extinction are beginning to thrive, though father sits around the cabin that has replaced the igloo.

There would never be any other feed but Tuxedo Chop around your barn. If you doubt that, just put Tuxedo Chop in one feed box and straight oats or corn in another. You'll soon see which they like best. And why not? Tuxedo Chop is made of high-grade crushed grains, rolled oats and alfalfa, with just a dash of molasses to make it tasty. Tuxedo Chop will increase the strength of the average horse or mule 10% to 20% in 60 days and there's no waste.

YOUR HEALTH

What "Sinusitis" Is and How You Can Avoid It

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.,
United States Senator from New York,
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

WE are in the season when colds and influenza may be expected. In and of themselves they are bad enough, but these miserable ailments are not satisfied to worry us in the conventional way.

If any one of the so-called respiratory diseases was produced by a single variety of germ, I suppose all the cases would be alike. But these diseases are associated with what we call "mixed infections." That is, there are two or more varieties of germs at work at the same time.

If properly lodged and nourished some germs live and thrive in the open, where air is free. Others seek dark, airless, hidden places to do their work.

The kind of trouble you are going to have depends on two things—the sort of germ to which you are exposed and your own resistance or susceptibility to its effects.

The bones of the face are hollow having a lot of spaces which open into the nasal cavities. These spaces are called the nasal sinuses. They are lined with the same kind of delicate mucous membrane which lines the nose.

You can readily imagine that there are lots of deep dark pockets, almost shut off from the open spaces. In these the air-hating germs can find a suitable place for rapid growth.

From time to time we have epidemics of colds which have involvement of the sinuses as a complication in a remarkably large percentage of cases. Inflammation of the sinuses—"sinusitis," as it is called—is a painful and trying affliction.

The opening or passageways into the sinuses may be narrow. A little swelling of the mucous membrane completely closes the opening. Then the secretion—mucus or pus, as the case may be—accumulates within the closed cavity. It is not long before the sensitive nerves are placed under such pressure that the pain becomes almost unbearable.

Because of the danger of sinusitis, every cold should be promptly and energetically treated. It is a mistake to disregard the ailment just because it is such a common thing in life.

I am telling you about this because the indications are that this year sinusitis may be a common disease. Avoid it by avoiding colds and by giving them immediate attention if they do come.

Fresh air, plenty of sleep in a well-ventilated room, simple food, and above all else, cleanliness of the hands and face will do much to prevent colds. The germs are carried by hands contaminated with the moist secretions of infected persons.

Knowing this much about sinusitis and its prevention, you should escape it.

Answers to Health Questions

L. C. R. Q.—Please advise me as to what would cause sneezing after a hearty meal?

A.—This is probably due to an irritation of some sort in the nasal passages. It might be wise to have your nose and throat examined, and in this way the proper treatment may be indicated to clear up the trouble.

• • •

S. S. S. Q.—I am a girl of 15, 5 feet 6 inches tall. What should I weigh?

2.—Should I use cold cream every night to have a fresh, clear complexion?

3.—How can flat feet be corrected?

A.—You should weigh about 125 pounds.

2.—If you take plenty of exercise and are careful of your diet it should not be necessary to resort to other means of gaining a clear complexion at 15 years of age.

3.—The proper shoes and arch supports will correct this condition. Consult an orthopedist and he will suggest the most suitable ones for your particular case.

P. O. Q.—Will you kindly advise me what to do for kidney trouble? Also what kinds of food are advisable for this condition?

A.—Since there are several different kinds of kidney trouble, it would be wise to consult a competent physician for a personal examination and have him prescribe for your particular case. He will also suggest a suitable diet when he has diagnosed your condition.

C. F. J. Q.—What are the causes of loss of weight?

A.—This condition may come from any of the following causes: A generally rundown condition, nervousness, which naturally affects the entire system more or less. It may come from anemia, or, in some instances, loss of weight is caused by the presence of a tapeworm. For further particulars, kindly send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

WORRIED. Q.—I am a married woman, 42 years of age, and have a weak heart. Does this indicate chronic heart trouble or can it be cured?

A.—A weak heart does not necessarily mean that one has chronic heart trouble. This condition may be much improved by the proper treatment. I would suggest that you consult your doctor and have him prescribe for you after he has made a thorough examination.

J. E. G. Q.—I am on my feet all day on a cement floor and my legs are tired all the time. I have suffered from this tiredness for about five years and it now seems to be getting worse. What should I do?

A.—You should have your doctor give you a careful examination to determine the precise cause of your trouble. He will be able then to suggest the way to secure relief.

Brass Buttons to Shine Again in German Court

Berlin.—The lackeys and flunkies at the executive mansion, the chancellor's palace, the official residence of the foreign minister, minister of the interior and other members of the cabinet are wearing happy smiles these days in anticipation of bright uniforms recently ordered by the government to supplant the somber black swallowtails which have been worn since the revolution.

The new liveries will be much simpler than those of 1914, yet they will lend such festive color to state dinners, receptions and other official functions as is felt to be compatible with republican simplicity.

There will be two forms of livery—gala and a small service uniform. The gala uniform consists of blue full-dress coat with bright gilded buttons, adorned with the eagle emblem of the reich; also a golden tassel and cord over the left shoulder, white waistcoat, black silk knee breeches, white silk stockings and black low shoes with bright buckles.

The small service livery consists of a black coat with eagle-adorned gilt buttons, yellow waistcoats and black trousers.

Plane Is Destroyed by Furious Bull

Soignies, Belgium.—An infuriated bull vented its ire upon a disabled airplane recently and when the animal concluded that its job had been done the machine was beyond repair. The airplane carrying eight passengers from Paris to Brussels was forced down by a defective motor and landed in a pasture 15 miles from Brussels.

The bull, aroused by the chugging of the motor, made straight for it, while the pilot and passengers jumped out and made their escape in a mad rush across the field. The animal charged the machine again and again and kept at his work of destruction until the passengers got out of the danger zone.

Wives' Clothes Must Match Husband's Latest

London.—It is the fashion for husbands and wives, particularly those who pass a good deal of their time in the country, to have clothes which match. The duke and duchess of York on several occasions recently have appeared in tailored blue suits, the cloth apparently having been cut from the same roll.

A prominent Saville row tailor recently had a client who chose a suit of clothes from a smart pattern. He was told that there was just enough of the goods to make his suit.

"Is that all?" asked the customer. "Then I am afraid it won't do. My wife wants a coat and skirt off the same roll from which my suit comes."

Woman's Secret of Beauty

Beauty lies in the care a woman bestows upon herself and in keeping at bay those dread ailments peculiar to her sex, which drag her down and leave telltale traces upon her countenance. Sparkling eyes, the elastic step and a clear complexion never accompany organic troubles. Distressed expressions, a sallow complexion, dark circles under the eyes, lassitude, headaches and mental depression are the telltale symptoms of women's ailments. Women so troubled should not lose a day in taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, the most successful remedy known to overcome woman's ills and restore health and beauty.

NOW LOBSTERS ARE BEING HANDLED BY BOOTLEGGERS

"Shorts," Crustaceans Less Than Four Inches, Smuggled In Along Jersey Coast.

Highlands, N. J.—Lobster bootleggers are active off the New Jersey coast. Lying outside the three-mile limit of state jurisdiction, they buy "shorts" and smuggle their contraband ashore to resorts and even to the larger cities. A "short" is a lobster measuring less than four and one-eighth inches from butt of tail to tip of the horn at the head.

This traffic has reduced the average weight of the lobster caught in these waters from five pounds to one.

It is an icy day that keeps the lobster men ashore. Working usually two to a boat, 25 feet 11½ inches over all, open, cabinless and unprotected from weather, the fishermen in their quest anywhere from three to ten miles out are lucky if they net an average of $10 a day.

Four lines each containing from twenty to thirty pots keep two men busy. The pot is a wooden frame covered with laths one inch apart and containing an opening through a knitted cord arrangement which narrows from the entrance.

Decaying menhaden, caught by the fishermen of Sandy Hook bay, are threaded to the inside of the pot with copper wire and among the inedible sea crabs and unpopular ling—a quick dying fish—is found an occasional crustacean. Sometimes it is a "short."

Occasionally a heavy lobster is brought up, one taken this year having weighed seven pounds. Sometimes the pots yield a "shedder" in his annual round of casting off the old shell and putting on a new one. A prime delicacy, the latter die quickly and are of little commercial value to the lobster men.

NOW LOBSTERS ARE BEING HANDLED BY BOOTLEGGERS

"Shorts," Crustaceans Less Than Four Inches, Smuggled In Along Jersey Coast.

Highlands, N. J.—Lobster bootleggers are active off the New Jersey coast. Lying outside the three-mile limit of state jurisdiction, they buy "shorts" and smuggle their contraband ashore to resorts and even to the larger cities. A "short" is a lobster measuring less than four and one-eighth inches from butt of tail to tip of the horn at the head.

This traffic has reduced the average weight of the lobster caught in these waters from five pounds to one.

It is an icy day that keeps the lobster men ashore. Working usually two to a boat, 25 feet 11½ inches over all, open, cabinless and unprotected from weather, the fishermen in their quest anywhere from three to ten miles out are lucky if they net an average of $10 a day.

Four lines each containing from twenty to thirty pots keep two men busy. The pot is a wooden frame covered with laths one inch apart and containing an opening through a knitted cord arrangement which narrows from the entrance.

Decaying menhaden, caught by the fishermen of Sandy Hook bay, are threaded to the inside of the pot with copper wire and among the inedible sea crabs and unpopular ling—a quick dying fish—is found an occasional crustacean. Sometimes it is a "short."

Occasionally a heavy lobster is brought up, one taken this year having weighed seven pounds. Sometimes the pots yield a "shedder" in his anual round of casting off the old shell and putting on a new one. A prime delicacy, the latter die quickly and are of little commercial value to the lobster men.
